TRANSFER CONTROL OF TEXTILE MILLS

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 18.—Transfer of control of the Shadwick-Hoskins group of textile mills in North Carolina and Virginia to a syndicate composed of North and South Carolina bankers and manufacturers, was announced here today. Control was secured, the statement said, through purchase of the stock held by the Guaranty Trust company, and Liberty National bank of New York city.

The new syndicate is headed by Benjamin B. Gossett of Anderson, S. C., who has been elected president of the company.

Spencer Turner of New York, retired as president of the Chadwick-Hoskins company, but is retained on the directorate, and E. C. Dwyer, of Charlotte, will remain secretary-treasurer. A. J. Draper, also a member of the syndicate, was formerly president of the company and president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' association.

MRS. MARK HANNA PASSES AWAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Although arrangements for the funeral of Mrs. Mark Hanna, widow of the former senator, who died at her residence here last night, had not been announced early today, it was understood that interment would take place at Cleveland. Mrs. Hanna's death was due to heart disease and followed an acute illness of a week.

A Famous Invention

That Makes the Brunswick a Super-Phonograph

THE ULTONA

NO one feature of the Brunswick Method of Reproduction has done so much to revolutionize people's ideas of the difference between phonographs as the Ultona. It is exclusive to the Brunswick.

At a turn of the hand it plays all makes of records—not an attachment, but a part of the designs. The Ultona obtains better playing results.

But this is not the only advantage. It is counter-balanced—the only scientific reproducer that cushions the path of the needle by proper suspension.

This means an end to "scratching" noises. It means bringing out the hidden beauties of the record. It means a longer lasting record, one that retains its newness.

There are many other exclusive features. We want to point them out to you, so that you can make intelligent comparisons.

BUILDING OPERATIONS

Increase Shown in Several Massachusetts Cities—Lowell Shows Reduction

(Special in The Sun)
BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Much satisfaction is found by the state department of labor and industries in the fact that building operations in this state showed a remarkable increase in October over the previous month.

Of thirty cities reporting to the department, 19 reported increased building operations, and the net increase for all cities amounted to 30.7 per cent over the September figure, the respective amounts being $5,055,657 for October and $3,835,316 for September. The October figure is also 80.9 per cent higher than that for October, 1920.

The greatest increase was in Springfield, where permits for structures costing $1,000,775 were issued in October, as compared with a total of $222,795 in September. Other cities showing large increases were Lawrence, Leominster, Malden and Somerville.

Boston and Fall River showed the largest losses, and other cities which reported reduced building operations were Attleboro, Fitchburg, Holyoke, Lowell, Medford, Newburyport, Northampton, Quincy and Worcester.

For the principal cities the comparative figures are:

	October	September
Boston	$2,310,536	$2,169,911
Cambridge	211,390	110,000
Chelsea	136,775	105,205
Fall River	180,700	282,540
Holyoke	62,230	100,855

VAUDEVILLE AT GREENHALGE SCHOOL

An excellent vaudeville show, introducing both children and grownups in musical numbers, dances, readings and original comedy numbers, was given at the Greenhalge school last night under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher association. It turned out to be one of the best affairs of its kind ever presented in the city.

Well known local entertainers assisted not a little in the affair's success, and the pupils of the school executed their roles in capital style. Those responsible for the show's direction are entitled to a great deal of credit for the results obtained. The program follows:

Pantomime by the children of the primary school.

Violin solo by R. L. Gendreau.

A reading by David Connors.

Song by Frank Connors.

Costume dancing, "The Frolic," by girls of the grammar school under the direction of Antoinette Major.

"The Paradox" by George Michael.

Telephone selections by John Dore and Harris Milliken.

Reading, Nora Duddy.

Slide show from the Mammoth Circus.

Pupils of the school as the Barker, the Last of the Mohicans, Antony and Cleopatra, the Smallest Policeman in the World, the Wild Man from Bridge street, the Duke of Broadway.

Songs, the Crescent Hill Trio, John Hagley, James Manning and Ferdinand Dierout, and Mrs. H. A. Archambault.

The magician from Lolo, Allan Dumas and Alice Chase.

Kittie troupe, Eleanor Mae Pitts.

James E. Donnelly and Harry Thompson.

BOYS! DON'T LOOK AT THIS!

Keep Away From My NOTORIOUS CROOKS Husband! HELD IN MONTREAL

They have their own way of solving the "eternal triangle" out in Oklahoma, where Judge Thompson has placed the seal of his judicial approval on the way Mrs. Thomas lured the "other woman" into the woods and gave her a horsewhipping she will remember the rest of her life. The finding of the court is that "a married woman has the right to protect her home, the right to light to retain the love of her husband." Read this significant story, and the interesting pictures, in the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

MONTREAL, Nov. 18.—Thirty men, among whom the police declared they recognized several notorious international criminals, were arrested here yesterday in a series of raids on underworld resorts.

Nathan Katz, alias "the Turk," said to be a pickpocket, with records on both sides of the Atlantic, was one victim of the roundup. William F. Dodson, alias "Washington Bill," wanted by Boston authorities, and Joe Carey, wanted in Providence, R. I., were among Americans who fell into the net.

WILL SAVE CABBAGE FROM BLIGHT

RACINE, Wis., Nov. 18.—Those persons who like to have just a few barrels of sauerkraut in the house in case of sickness or to whom corned beef and cabbage is a necessity and cabbage salad a luxury, owe an inestimable debt to Dr. L. R. Jones, plant pathologist of the University of Wisconsin and to the persistence of a group of Wisconsin cabbage growers along the west shores of Lake Michigan.

In the face of a blight which invariably followed continuous planting of cabbage and which practically threatened the extermination of the commercial growth of the plant, experiments conducted by Dr. Jones have saved the industry. The story is told by a writer in the Wisconsin Agriculturist.

It is a story of a ten years' fight by scientific men using the weapon of selection and elimination against a disease known as cabbage yellows and which science finally has won. Today there are miles of cabbage fields in the truck section of Wisconsin and Illinois where a few years ago scarcely a trace of a crop would reward the best of the farmers.

A LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPION

The "Bristol Jupiter" air engine can be carried by four men, but it has completed a test equivalent to carrying eight persons 10,000 miles at 100 miles an hour. It is the world's lightest high-powered engine. The tests were made for the British air ministry.

Cabbage grows almost everywhere in the United States, but it was an unsatisfactory crop because after a few years of production, land would invariably become infected with yellows and henceforth for all time would refuse to grow cabbage.

The principle upon which Dr. Jones operated was this. A field infected with yellows would produce maybe a dozen, maybe not more than one or two heads per acre. For some reason these heads would have a natural immunity to yellows. The theory was that the progeny of these individual heads would continue to develop the immunity to a larger degree and this has worked out in fact.

In 1910 when the Wisconsin cabbage growers were disheartened and about to abandon the industry, Dr. Jones selected a single head from a ten acre field owned by W. J. Hanche of Kenosha, Wis. Cabbage is a biennial and it took two years for the seed to develop, but the ultimate seeds from this single head also proved to have immunity to the yellows.

They were planted and carefully conserved and studied and from this single head was developed the Wisconsin Hollander cabbage, a strain that grows luxuriantly in the worst yellows and diseased land.

A. J. Piper, Brosch Brothers, Walker Brothers and a few other lake shore truck growers were also conducting similar experiments and establishing the principle that by selection and elimination immunity could be developed. Up to this year, almost no seed of the disease resistant strain was sent out to the state, although cabbage growers everywhere who had watched the experiments clamored for it. There was not enough seed yet to supply Wisconsin nor in fact any more than use for further growth of seed cabbage. This year the seed is being distributed by the College of Agriculture of the university to other experiment stations and colleges where it will be used by them in overcoming their yellows infected cabbage land.

KILLED PARENTS AND SET FIRE TO HOUSE

SAGINAW, Mich., Nov. 18.—Prosecuting Attorney Crane planned today to take Richard Champlain into circuit court to plead to a charge of murder in connection with the death of his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Champlain. Young Champlain was said to have agreed to plead guilty, following his confession last night.

A desire to obtain possession of his father's estate, valued at more than $100,000 so that he might marry Miss Clara A. Humpert, a school teacher of Reese, Mich., and to overcome objections by his parents to his attentions to Miss Humpert, was the motive for the slaying, Champlain said in his confession.

It was Miss Humpert who prevailed upon Champlain to confess. His statement that he shot his parents Monday afternoon and set fire to the house that night, to hide the crime, followed.

LOWELL MAN ADMITS HE HAS TWO WIVES

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 18.—Urban A. Homer, 29, arrested in Lowell, Mass., pleaded guilty in the district court yesterday to a charge of bigamy and was held in $1000 for the grand jury.

Homer for a time lived with Margaret Sullivan, 23, of Lowell, after having gone through a marriage ceremony, which he claims was performed by Rev. H. B. Carpenter, this city, June 15. Later the woman returned to Lowell.

Oct. 7 Homer was arrested here and taken to Lowell on a non-support charge. Then Margaret M. Denver, 22, of Lowell, claimed she was Homer's first wife, being married Sept. 23, 1912, in Lowell. With his second wife Homer went to Los Angeles, where he lived for two years.

March 21, this year, he applied for divorce in California and secured a decree, to become final next March. In applying for a marriage license here Homer said he had not been married because he did not want his children to know about it.

Why Rich Girls Leave Home

Why do young women of excellent family, good social position and wealth leave the luxuries of home to wander out into the world—sometimes never to return? Medical science explains some recent remarkable instances of socially prominent millionaires' daughters who suddenly and unaccountably have left home for no apparent reason. MUST REPEAL ADAMSON LAW

Former U. S. Sen. Beveridge

Also Declares R. R. Wages

Supreme Need and Duty of the Hour is to Strengthen
Business, He Says

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The supreme need and duty of the hour is to strengthen business; for upon active and wholesome business depends the well being of all the people, former United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana told the New York state chamber of commerce at its annual banquet last night.

"The present depression is not a transient economic phase due to an unhappy state of mind on the part of business men or the people generally; and is not to be improved by the methods of college cheer leaders at football games," Mr. Beveridge said.

"On the contrary, these inflationists of hope who tell us that prosperity is just around the corner when it is not there but far away, do not help but positively hurt business.

"They sow broadcast dragon's teeth of distrust. For when the people go around the corner and find that the promised prosperity, but are again told that it is around the next corner and again fall—when this process is repeated three or four times, the people lose confidence. Faith is killed by disappointment.

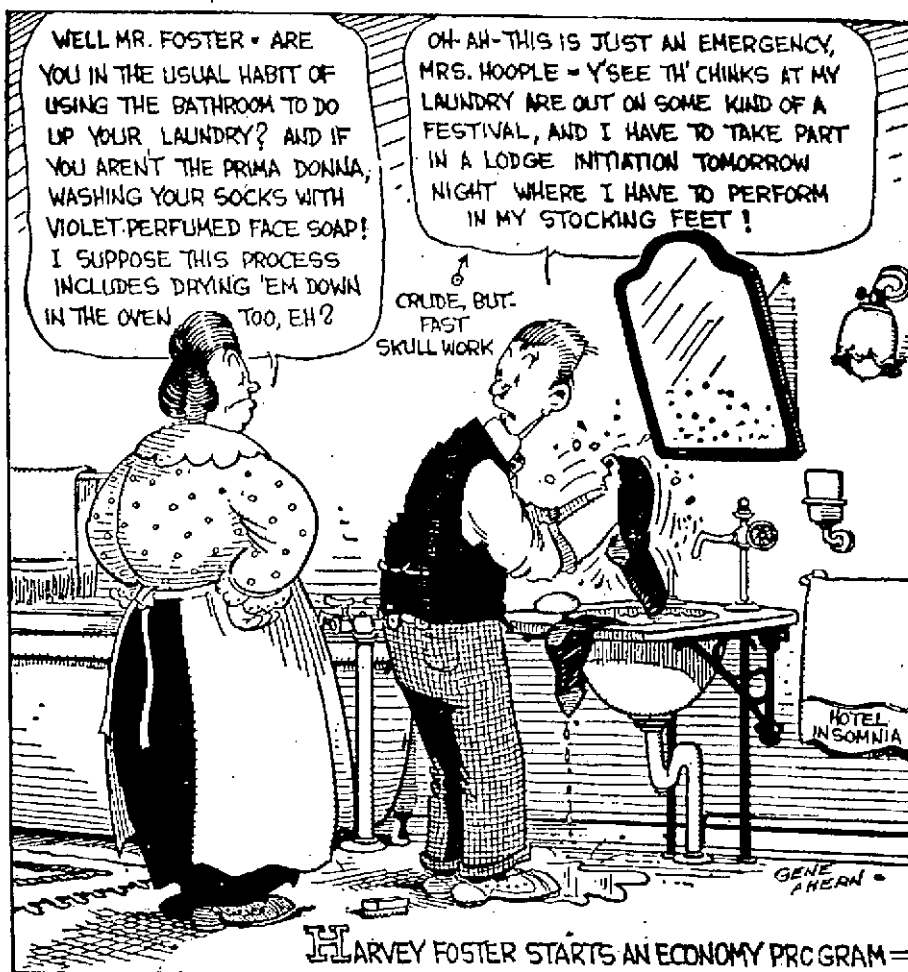

Fed Up on the Glad Hand

"Now is the time for plain speaking by men who have graduated from ambition. Let us frankly know the worst at once. We have been rather fed up on the 'glad hand'; we need, instead, a period of 'brass tacks.'

"One of the immediate causes of the creeping paralysis from which business is suffering is the plight of the railroads.

"Today railway rates are oppressive, railway facilities inadequate, railway employees dissatisfied and rebellious, railway equipment impaired, railway

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

HARVEY FOSTER STARTS AN ECONOMY PROGRAM

capital reduced and imperilled. Until these conditions are bettered, all forecasts of good times are the mere matter of politicians, the crafty wiles of men who have axes to grind, or the senseless incoherence of pipe dreamers.

"Almost ten years ago I denounced as the invisible government, the sway of those financial conspirators who sought to dominate the nation. The cabal of cunning and avarice has been overthrown. But another invisible empire has been established, as evil and dangerous as that of the de-throned autocracy of wealth. This new assailant of ordered liberty and American institutions is the close and closed corporation of those men who have made themselves masters of labor unions.

"Organized capital and organized labor alike can be made useful to all men and helpful to the republic; but neither shall be permitted to oppress any man, woman or child, or to govern the American people.

"The methods by which the Adamson law was forced on the statute books raised an issue as vital and basic as that which brought on the Civil war—indeed the Adamson law issue went to the very existence of government itself.

"When organizations, by threat to strangle the nation, can dictate laws for their own advantage at the expense of all the people, then regular government by all for the good of all is annihilated; and, in place of it is substituted the erratic despotism of particular groups for their special purposes to the injury of the country as a whole.

"At all cost, the Adamson-law issue should have been fought out to the finish the moment it appeared. Sooner or later it must be settled and every day's delay will make matters worse in the end. Differences over mere questions of policy can be compromised; usually they ought to be compromised. But differences over elemental principles cannot be compromised.

Government Yielded to Labor

"The ultimatum delivered to the government by labor despots was obeyed and the Adamson law enacted in the exact form ordered, and at the exact time ordered. It was the most shameful and humiliating event in the American history. From it have come many of the industrial plagues with which, since then, the nation has been and is afflicted.

"The next blow at the nation's transportation system was dealt by the government itself. We went to war shamefully unprepared, and in a storm of confusion, excitement and panic, the railways, gravely weakened financially but with operating forces still regimented although restless, were taken from their harassed and distracted owners and run by the national administration.

"Then followed that saturnalia of mismanagement which left those properties bound and gagged by agreements, regulations and working rules.

"Immediate action is vital. Most rates must come down, and especially and farthest those on basic necessities like fuel and foodstuffs; and, therefore, since wages and rates are inseparable, wages must also come down.

"Our whole economic system has been inflated to the bursting point and general deflation was and is indispensable. The farmers have deflated; business men have deflated; most other labor has deflated or is deflating; and railroad labor must undergo that common, universal and necessary process—indeed labor inflation in the production of the absolute necessities of human life such as coal, housing, food and transportation, is one of the principal elements in the high cost of living; and normal wages in such industries is indispensable to normal prices.

Abolish National Agreements

"The Adamson law must be repealed. The war-time labor classifications, regulations and so-called 'National Agreements' must be abolished. That curious contrivance of makeshifts, the so-called labor board, that tells the railway owners how much they must spend, must be connected with that other organ of our bureaucracy, the Interstate Commerce commission, which tells the railway owners how much they may receive. If railways are to continue to suffer straight-jacket regulation, at least let there be co-ordination between outlay and income.

The contract made by the government with the railway owners when the lines were taken by the administration must be carried out, the ineffectiveness of the roads to the government for improvements funded and that of the government to the roads paid—all is provided in the agreement.

Thus railway insolvency will be averted, hundreds of millions expended on equipment and betterments because of thousands of now idle workmen employed, and all industry vitalized.

"In short the railway bill passed by the house months ago, and held up in the senate, must be speedily enacted into law, without mutilation or fundamental change. Sound business requires and honors demands it.

"No need fear revival of railway autocracy; a new industrial factor, the automobile, will moderate railway earnings. Auto trucks and motor buses are already making heavy reductions in short haul freight and passenger railway revenue.

"If business is to revive, investing capital must be freed as far as possible. The excess profits tax must be repealed—it ought to have been abolished when the pretext for it disappeared.

Destructive War Expedients

"In place of these intricate, involved and destructive war expedients which weaken and destroy business, give us a plain, simple, easily understood revenue system, based on business principles, which will, at once, work less hardship on all the people and permit business to get into action.

"In the end we must put a tax on expenditures as a non-cumulative tax on sales—while all, alike and equally, must pay in exact proportion to purchases. That would be a genuine and honest tax on wealth.

"A sales tax is open, above board, and in plain sight of day. It is fixed, certain and cannot be multiplied at the expense of the consumer by underground manipulation.

"If the genius and energy which our best minds are devoting to the disarmament conference shall, after the brilliant success which we know will crown their efforts in that historic parley, be employed in devising and executing ways and means to increase American trade in these regions allotted us by nature, we might possibly secure desperately needed markets for our surplus. If so, more idle laborers would be given work than were provided with jobs by the unemployment conference.

"But even the highest statescraft is not, alone, sufficient; it must be supported by the sense and sentiment of a staunch, patient, level-headed, high-minded people. The situation will apply the supreme test to American character and to American institutions.

"But never doubt that we shall prevail. American statesmanship will be equal to the demand; American character will stand the test; American institutions will prove adequate, and vindicate, once more, the wisdom of the founders of the republic.

SOLVING PROBLEM OF DOMESTIC SCIENCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—New York is employing business methods to solve its problem of domestic science. The long vacant place of the old-fashioned servant is being taken by the "home assistant"—working a 48-hour week and going and coming to work each day as a stenographer or factory worker. She also buys her own meals and expects her employers to address her as "Mrs." or "Miss."

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once

Common garden sage, brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss. While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, no one can tell. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant, and you appear years younger.—Adv.

because of the long hours of labor, lack of definition of their tasks, uncertainty of their hours of recreation, and the feeling that a certain social stigma was attached to their positions. The result of the investigation was a determination to put housework on a business basis and make it as dignified an occupation as office or factory. The women who have been attracted to housework on the home assistant basis receive $18 a week for a 48-hour week. They get Sundays and holidays or their equivalent time off and a vacation of two weeks with pay at the end of a year's work. They are paid overtime at a specified rate.

A weekly schedule of household tasks in the employer's home is arranged that will keep the worker busy every hour she is scheduled to work. She quits at noon and goes out for her lunch. When the day's work is ended she leaves for her own home. The domestic servant has become a business woman with the same freedom and independence as the rest of her sisters in the business world. The success of the new venture led the investigators to organize the Bureau of Household Occupations which acts as a clearing house for the home assistants and a place where both the workers and their employers can have difficulties adjusted as they may arise. Mrs. Richard Boardman, Mrs. George D. Pratt, Mrs. Henry S. Patterson and Mrs. Robert M. Walker are among the women who are actively engaged in the work.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR FREE EDUCATION

Henry H. Harris, principal of the high school, will deliver an address Sunday afternoon, Nov. 27, at 2 o'clock before the Plato Club in Association Hall. His subject will be "Opportunities for Free Education in the State of Massachusetts." The public is invited to the lecture. In addition to the speaker, an entertainment will go towards making up an attractive program. Constantine H. Dukakis, vice president of the club and a student at Lowell Textile school, will discuss the relation of education to civic prosperity. This meeting will be the second held by the club since its organization last August. The club has 30 members and includes all local students of Greek parentage in the city.

BOSTON MAN AMazes FRIENDS BY ASTONISHING RECOVERY AFTER 40 YEARS OF RHEUMATISM

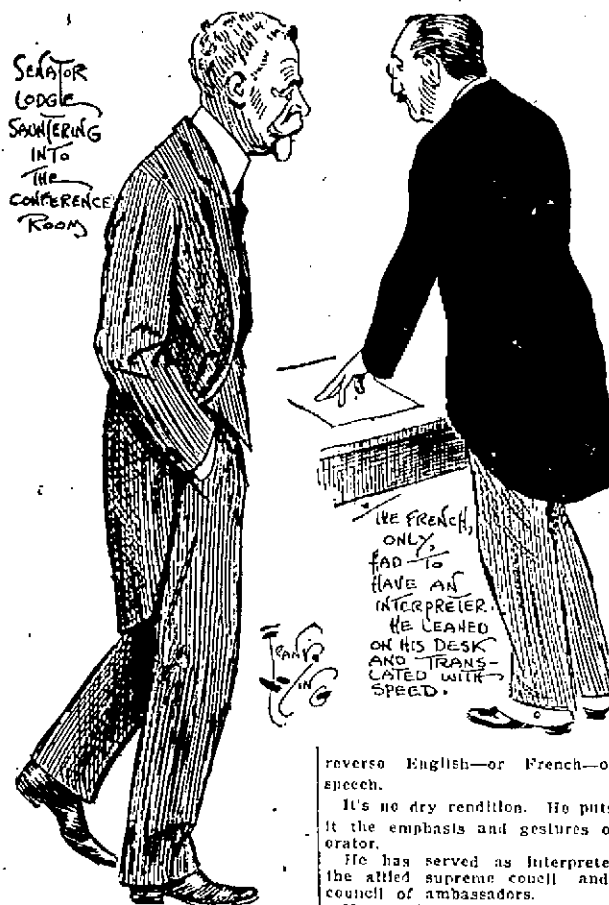

"Tanlac has helped me so much that I want to praise it to every man, woman and child in Boston," was the enthusiastic statement made a few days ago, by J. L. Damon, a well known resident of 520 Shawmut ave. "I have suffered with rheumatism for 40 years and I don't think there was a bone or muscle in my body but what was affected. Often I was so crippled up that someone had to lift me out of bed. There were times I could not walk a step, and when I did get out I had to use crutches. My legs and feet ached and pained so I could not walk on a hard pavement, and my arms hurt so bad I was all I could do to feel myself."

My stomach was all out of order, too, and my appetite had gone back on me. I suffered with pains and bloating and would get so weak I could not stand up without holding onto something. My nerves were all undone. I could not sleep, and felt so miserable I could hardly endure life.

"I was in an awful fix and kept getting worse until I got Tanlac, and I can say for a fact, this medicine helped me from the day I began taking it. That rheumatism, which came near ending my life, has vanished as if by magic. I have thrown my crutches away and can walk with ease, two and three miles every day, and I can now say, with all gratitude to Tanlac, I haven't an ache or a pain in any part of my body. My nerves and stomach are in fine condition and I am like a new man. I sleep good and sound and feel strong and well. I will gladly verify this statement to anyone."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug Store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

"PARLEY-VOOING" FOR PARLEY, HIS JOB

By HARRY HUNT

Sketches by Frank Wing
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—A wizard in words. That is Professor G. J. Camerlynck, official interpreter for the conference on limitation of armaments.

Both English and French are used in conference debates. When a speech is made in English, it must be done over in French for those who speak no English. And vice versa for those who do not "parlez vous."

Seated on the inside of the big horseshoe table, facing the delegates, Camerlynck makes notes of any extended address. No sooner is the speaker seated than he is putting the reverse English—or French—on the speech.

It's no dry rendition. He puts into it the emphasis and gestures of the orator.

He has served as interpreter for the attitudinal supreme council and the council of ambassadors.

Henry Cabot Lodge, who turned over the League of Nations apple cart in the senate because the senate had no look-in at the drafting of the covenant, can raise no such objections to the present conference.

Lodge, himself one of the conferees, saw to it that members of the house and senate were admitted to the galleries for the opening session.

Excepting Elihu Root, Lodge is the oldest delegate at the conference. He is 71. Root 78. But in appearance he is older than Root. His grizzled beard and slight, stooped form add to the appearance of age.

A touch of the military is given the interior of the conference by Charles A. Court Repington—the "Colonel Repington" of military journalism. Repington affects the up-turned mustache made popular in military circles by the ex-kaiser.

As a military writer, Repington came to the conference frankly skeptical. The frank way in which Secretary Hughes laid down the American proposal startled him. It was so utterly unimilitary, doncher know?

Minister Fao, spokesman for China, had a bad case of stage fright in addressing the conference for the first time. Though his voice was level and controlled, the hand that held the paper trembled violently. He finally cured his "huck ague" by pressing both hands tightly on the table.

Jules Jusserand, dean of the Washington diplomatic corps, having represented France here since 1902, listens lots and says little. He occupies a seat with the French delegation, but has not caused the interpreter a moment's bother.

STOLE GOLD FROM TEETH "PATIENTS"

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Gold teeth are increasingly prevalent in central Europe, the people evidently believing the mouth to be the safest place for what little gold they have left, but at least one thief has found a way to circumvent even this precaution. A young man who recently opened a cut-rate dental surgery in Tennessee var, Hungary, has been arrested charged with extracting gold weighing more than a pound from his patients' teeth, says the Lancet, English medical journal. His method was to remove the gold, after telling the patient it was badly fitted, take a wax mould for the replacement work, and then instruct his victim to return in two weeks. Before the fortnight was up he had disappeared. Upon his arrest he was found to be a grocer's clerk.

When it comes to a disarmament policy, the Big Guns should take lessons from me. There's no conferences, dilly-dallying or time-wasting investigations in my methods—nothing but straight from the shoulder action.

Some weeks ago, while others were beating around the bush, I launched my disarmament plan and I'll just about disarm 'em all with the plain and simple facts stated in this announcement.

These goods should have been on my tables three weeks ago. I only had a few styles from an early shipment, owing to the present day overcoat demand on the mills. I just received the balance, 14 pieces, about 500 yards, and I am going to sell them at the above mentioned price.

Ready-to-Wear Overcoats

Made in my own shop during the dull months of August and September. There are times in a tailor shop when coat makers get caught up—as they call it—and it is a case of lay him off or give him something to do. I don't want to lay off my men, neither can I afford to pay them for idle hours. The making of READY-TO-WEAR Overcoats solves the problem. The plan enables me to quote lower prices for made-to-measure and to sell ready-to-wear for less than actual cost. All these garments are Hand Tailored, some are all lined, others are one-half satin lined. I have them in one-half belts, whole belts with patch and bellows pockets, ulsterette, plain and raglan effects. From what I have seen in store windows, the lowest grade of these coats would retail around $30 to $35.

If I have your size, I have a number of styles, special for Overcoat Week, as low as

Commission on Necessaries
of Life Report on Restaurants—Large Profits

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Nov. 18.—That some of the restaurants in this state are making annual sales amounting to forty times their invested capital is disclosed today in a special report made by the commission on necessities of life. These, according to the commission, are mainly the establishments which are operated without connection with other restaurants. In the smaller "cafes," the commission finds, the annual sales average about six times the invested capital, and in the larger chains the average is only twice the invested capital. But even these figures are misleading, the commission reports, because in many instances it is found that "good will" is included in the alleged investment. In certain cases running as high as 70 per cent of the total claimed investment. In order to make an accurate estimate of the actual value of restaurants doing business in this state, the commission would be necessary. "The large profits of these already in the lunch room business," the commission says, "are attracting new and efficient competitors. Many employers are assisting their employees to combat the high restaurant prices by providing wholesome and nourishing food at a reasonable cost and by furnishing facilities which enable their employees to bring their lunches from home. While competition in this industry is not yet keen, there is no existing monopoly." Since the commission began its inquiry, several weeks ago, portions served in many of the restaurants have been made larger, but the report does not indicate that there has been any appreciable reduction in prices. HOYT.

be taken by Arthur McQuaid, a member of the junior class. Two other members of the junior class, Paul Hagley and John Stack, will portray the roles of Herman and Verman. Herman and Verman are two colored boys who take a very active part in the frolics of Penrod and Sam. These four furnish the comedy of the play. The rehearsals of the play have already started, and headway is being made under the expert direction of Miss Joyce. The names of the other members of the cast are as follows: James Doherty, '23; Esther Quinn, '23; Margaret Kelly, '22; David Connors, '22; Harry O'Neill, '24; Charles Wood, '23; James Howe, '21; Helen Sawyer, '21; Meyer Lipshitz, '21; Alice Hardy, '23; Thomas Sullivan, '24; Myer Arlinsky, '21; Elcanor Midwood, '23, and Elton Suk, '22. There was no mass meeting and the robin failed to round out.

TAX REVISION BILL

House Accepts 50 P. C.
Maximum Income Surtax
Rate Amendment

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The house having settled the big issue in the tax revision bill by accepting by a vote of 201 to 173 the senate 50 per cent maximum income surtax rate amendment, senate and house conferees resumed their negotiations today with a view to reaching an agreement on the bill by tomorrow night.

The margin by which the house approved the senate surtax rate—23 votes—was even larger than had been six democrats, 34 republicans and one senate amendment. One hundred and 34 democrats, 34 republicans and one socialist member voted for the 50 per cent rate, while 110 republicans and three democrats opposed it.

The vote was taken late yesterday after the house had heard read a letter from President Harding to Chairman Fordney, of the ways and means committee, suggesting a compromise at a 40 per cent rate.

The more important issues in the bill now awaiting settlement are the corporation income tax rate, fixed by the house at 12½ per cent and by the senate at 15 per cent, and the senate proposal to tax gifts of property by persons, the purpose being to prevent evasion of taxes by the wealthy.

Other items in the bill still in controversy include the repeal of the $2000 exemption for corporations except in the case of corporations having a capital stock of $25,000 or less; increased inheritance taxes, and the treatment of insurance companies other than life.

PATUCKETVILLE SOCIAL CLUB
The regular meeting of the Pawtucketville Social club was held in the rooms of the organization in Stoody street last evening with President Joseph Payette in the chair. There was a large attendance and considerable business was transacted, among which was the appointment of the following committee to make arrangements for a smoke talk to be held in the club rooms on Thanksgiving Eve: Lorenzo Brassard, Alphonse Bolduc and Joseph Payette. Rev. J. A. Fortier, O.M.I., former lieutenant-colonel in the Canadian army and chaplain general of the Canadian forces in France during the world war, who is now connected with the clergy of St. Joseph's, was unanimously elected an active member of the club. At the close of the business session a rally was held and the speakers were Dr. Rodrigue Mignault, Arthur Genest, M. Landry and Fred P. Drouin. Entertainment numbers were also given.

SAYS HARDING DREW SPIRIT OF CAUTION HAS PLAN TO SCRAP NAVIES DEVELOPED IN JAPAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—By the Associated Press. Who formulated and executed the call for the armament conference? Who evolved the American proposals for naval limitation? The country has been asking these questions for the last week and has been hearing a variety of answers. The best "inside story" in Washington yesterday has all the earmarks of being the correct answer.

President Harding, on one of his week-end cruises down the Potomac early this autumn, so the story runs, locked himself in his stateroom one evening and left word that he did not wish to be disturbed because he was writing. A little later the president, called to his room, one by one, some of the close friends in public life who had accompanied him and laid before them sheets of paper on which he had written with lead pencil, and with frequent corrections and interlinations, something which they all read with amazement and greatest interest.

It was the invitation to the Nations to the Arms conference. After some conference among the party, it was decided to forward the text to Secretary Hughes, and the Mayflower, laid up for the night in the still waters of a secluded cove in the reaches of the river, buzzed off from her wireless that night to the state department the words which later were to ring around the world.

Of course, the preliminary diplomatic feeler was transmitted to the nations concerned, but it is said that the text of the final and formal invitation as it later went out was substantially the same as President Harding had conceived it that night while resting on the yacht Mayflower down the river.

The evolution of the concrete American proposals for naval limitation—Secretary Hughes' bombshell—also heard around the world at the first session, is still another story.

Some admirers have ascribed them to Secretary Hughes alone, while some other persons have declared they were the composite effort of the four American delegates, of whom Mr. Hughes is one. Everybody seems to agree that they were not drafted by naval officials, and almost everybody had left out President Harding, until today's "inside story" began to circulate.

The great secret, to whom Arthur J. Balfour referred so artistically in his address of Tuesday, must indeed have been well kept, because between noon and 10 men knew it. That number includes the four American delegates and President Harding. The others worked on various phases of the proposal. It is known, of course, that it was based on memoranda called from the navy department, and it was carried into execution by the American Big Four which Secretary Hughes heads, but the "big men" on which the plan is built, the "inside story" says, came from President Harding.

CAST SELECTED FOR HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

The part of Penrod in the high school play of that name has been given to James Geary, a senior class member. Miss Mary C. Joyce announced today. Penrod was the play selected this year to be presented by the high school students and will be shown in the Opera house, January 30 and 31. The play is one that is especially adapted for the high school talent as it is one that deals with youth. The cast will contain eighteen members and with these Miss Joyce is expected to turn out as successful a play this year as the plays in the past.

Geary is not new to amateur theatricals as two years ago in the high school play, "The Girl and the Penitent," he carried off a minor part in excellent style. The part of Penrod's friend and staunch ally, Sammy, will

HERO HUGHES

Crowds acclaim Secretary of State Hughes wherever he goes since his naval holiday proposal. He's wearing out his silk topper by dodging it so much! Here, he is snipped as admirers cheered him, leaving a session in Washington.

the approval of everybody here, but unless these three countries can come to an understanding as well with regard to the far east, a naval holiday will prove in the end a criminal waste of time and money.

Failure to agree on a common policy in the Orient can mean but one thing, namely, that America, Britain and Nippon are irreconcilably at odds there and that force will ultimately be resorted to. Far-sighted statesmen here consider it an absurd paradox to conceive of the conference winding up in agreement with regard to scrapping of navies but in full discord over the Pacific.

Half-Way Danger

Should this absurdity happen, however, it could only result later on in a stupendous spending of public treasure on hurry-up orders of war materials supplied by profiteering contractors demanding pante prices for their wares.

The nation's proud savings, with billions raised by war levies sticking to them, would be swallowed up in a flit.

While Secretary of State Hughes' dramatic offer struck the popular fancy, observers acquainted with the powder-keg conditions in the Orient are loathe to construe him as meaning that the arms question can be disposed of independently of far eastern problems.

They contend the unconditional scrapping of battleships and a naval holiday without first removing the causes of war is but a mirage and offers no real guarantee of peace.

Real Problem

With Japan's ambitions in Asia remaining what they are; with the American policy of the open door in China still being flouted; with a new scramble for portions of a disrupted China impending; and with the Japanese, American and British policies in the far east clashing in a dozen other ways, they feel the conference has a tougher job on its hands than agreeing on naval tonnage, however important that may be and is.

Then there is the Anglo-Japanese alliance—as much in force today as ever, and will continue until denounced by either Britain or Japan. As it stands now, it menaces only the United States, whatever British or Japanese statesmen may say to the contrary.

If the Orient is left unsettled, Japan's position in that part of the world will be strengthened in direct ratio to the measure to which the nations disarm. Total disarmament would be tantamount to making Japan a present of Asia for a handful of her troops, already on the spot, could dominate the Asiatic continent and all Britain and America combined couldn't prevent it—without a navy.

Under Secretary Hughes' plan, partial disarmament coupled with the "A-J" alliance, would give Japan more than a 2 to 1 advantage in far eastern waters while even on paper the chances would be 8 to 5.

Secretary Hughes has done a historic thing, students of far eastern affairs observe. They express the hope he will tackle Pacific problems in a similar way.

Not a mere vacation for a few months or a few years, this to be followed by a break-neck, spend-thrift effort to make up for lost time while a superior enemy pounds away at American ports, but a really sound peace is what the United States demands.

The only possible foundation for that is:

1. Cancellation of the "A-J" pact.
2. An understanding with regard to the far east; and
3. A downing of arms.

ELECT THREE MEMBERS OF "IMMORTAL FIFTY"

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The flower of America's men of art and letters gathered here last night for a two-day celebration of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, during which three more illustrious figures will be elevated to the ranks of the "Immortal Fifty."

The three to be selected will take the seats left vacant by John Burroughs, Abbott Wendell Thayer and Barrett Wendell, who have died since the last annual meeting of the academy.

The selections will be made today by the remaining 47 members of the academy, from a list of nominees picked because of their influence in poetry and the drama, fiction and history, painting and sculpture, architecture and music, from the 256 members of the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

On Saturday, Marshall Pech will relegate to the background for the only time during his stay in America the role of soldier, and will appear in the roles of the French academicien to lay the cornerstone of the American academy's new home. Distinguished authors, artists and spokesmen of two hemispheres are expected to attend this ceremony.

Prof. Brander Matthews of Columbia university, chancellor of the academy, has told of the academy's beginnings with Howells, Twain, Steadman and others as a nucleus.

"About 20 years ago," said Professor Matthews, "the Social Science association increased its numbers and then designated one hundred of its members—poets and prose writers, painters and sculptors, architects and composers—to found a National Institute of Arts and Letters. Shortly the institute enlarged its membership to 256, and then it chose some of its members, Howells, Steadman, Mark Twain and John U. L. LaFarge and St. Gaudens, and Edward Macdowell, and laid upon them the duty of establishing an American Academy of Arts and Letters to consist of 50 of the leaders in poetry and the drama, fiction and history, painting and sculpture, architecture and music."

"When this academy was thus organized it elected Howells as its president and then William Milligan Sloane as its chancellor. After the death of Howells last year he was succeeded in the presidency by Mr. Sloane. No one

Former Member of The Philadelphia Health Department Strongly Endorses Wincarnis

Says: "It would be hard to write a better prescription"

"For persons who are weak, anemic, nervous and run-down, it would be hard to write a better prescription than Wincarnis," said Dr. George M. Lipinski recently. Dr. Lipinski is an ex-member of the Philadelphia Department of Health and is well known in Philadelphia where he has practiced his profession for many years.

"It is an established medical fact," said the doctor in discussing the subject, "that in almost every case of weakness, anemia, nervousness and run-down vitality, there is a shortage in the body of several mineral elements which are absolutely necessary in the depletion of vital power, to make the blood rich and red—to maintain strong, steady nerves—and to promote a continuous supply of bodily strength and endurance."

"The mineral elements required by the body to create vital power are, particularly iron, calcium, potassium, sodium and phosphorus. When there is a shortage of these elements the body is deprived of the means of renewing the vital energy which is expended daily, with the result that the strength of the body diminishes—the blood becomes impoverished, the nerves become shaky and the vitality becomes run-down."

"It cannot be too strongly emphasized that it is absolutely impossible for weak, anemic, nervous and run-down persons to regain health, vigor and endurance unless they supply to the body sufficient of those mineral elements that are necessary to create vital energy to make the blood rich and red, to strengthen the nerves, and to prompt renewed vigor, vitality and endurance."

"Wincarnis contains these vitally necessary mineral elements in remarkably suitable proportions and in an agreeable form, and that is why I maintain that it would be hard to write a better prescription than Wincarnis for persons who are weak, anemic, nervous and run-down."

Dr. Lipinski is not the only physician who has acknowledged that it would be hard to write a better prescription than Wincarnis. And one other important point that many physicians recognize is that no drug could readily put up such a prescription as Wincarnis. The reason is that he would not have on hand and it would be extremely difficult for him to procure all of the ingredients used in making up Wincarnis.

Wincarnis is put up in two sizes—$1.10 and $1.95. It is sold in Lowell by all first class druggists. Write for free, instructive booklet, "Hundred Per Cent. Health. How to Obtain It," to Edward Lawrence, Inc., Dept. J., 400 West 33d st., New York, U. S. Agents for Wincarnis.—Adv.

is eligible to the Academy who is not a member of the institute. No member of either the institute or the academy had voted for himself; they have all been elected by their fellow craftsmen in the several arts.

"The purpose of the academy is to bring together the leaders in the allied arts, to enable them to know one another more intimately, and to encourage them to take such action for the advancement of their several arts as may seem to them wise. To this end both the institute and the academy have received national charters from the congress of the United States. Election to the institute is an encouragement to the younger artists and men of letters; and election to the academy is a simpler recognition for the more mature, men whose early promise has been followed by performance. The institute awards its gold medal every year to a leader in one of the arts; and the academy has also its medal, which has as yet been awarded only once."

AUTO INDUSTRY IS COMING BACK

BY ALBERT APPLE

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 18.—The auto industry is now manufacturing more than three times as many cars as last January.

The general belief among auto makers is that their industry is safely out of the depths of depression, and well on its way upward to normal.

Thirty-one cars were shipped from all American auto factories in October, for every 36 cars shipped in May, 1920—which, however, was the peak month, with production greatly inflated, just before hard times exploded.

Ford is producing "as usual"—at a rate of about 1,100,000 cars a year. Exports of autos, expressed in dollars, are now more than twice as high as in 1913. This indicates an export business at a better financial footing than in normal pre-war times.

Officials say Coates had poisoned himself and the entire family. He feared arrest, the police say, because export business at a better financial footing than in normal pre-war times knew the family might perish if his support were withdrawn.

per cent. during the war. The actual number of passenger autos exported in the last few months has been "most identically the same" as in 1913.

The auto trade, anticipating much better business in 1922 than at present is looking ahead to keen competition and outliving its sales campaigns accordingly.

Not counting Ford, the eight leading auto companies have a productive capacity of more than 1,900,000 cars a year. This will be increased at least 300,000 cars a year by new companies now preparing to enter the auto field.

WEAR-EVER ALUMINUM TRADE MARK MADE IN U.S.A.

A most useful utensil for YOUR kitchen

You KNOW the all-around usefulness of a double boiler. You KNOW its value in preparing cereals, sauces, puddings and a host of other dishes. But what we want you to know is the DIFFERENCE between "Wear-Ever" utensils and the ordinary thin, flimsy aluminum utensils that have little more than a bright finish to commend them. That is the reason behind our offer of this

"Wear-Ever" two-quart Double Boiler at the special price of $1.98.

Get one of these most useful, "Wear-Ever" Double Boilers TODAY. Let it show you how "Wear-Ever" utensils keep food flavor IN and fuel costs DOWN. Let it show you also, in the years and years of daily service it will give you, that it pays to replace utensils that wear out with utensils that "Wear-Ever."

If a "Wear-Ever" utensil that costs $1.00 were made only slightly less thick and of metal a very little softer—a difference so hard to tell by looking at the utensil or by feeling it—that $1.00 "Wear-Ever" utensil could be sold to you for less than 70c—a fact worth remembering if you are tempted to buy aluminum utensils simply because they are cheap.

THE ALUMINUM COOKING UTENSIL CO., New Kensington, Pa.

If your store does not have the "Wear-Ever" Double Boiler, send $3.35 to The Aluminum Cooking Utensil Co., New Kensington, Pa., and complete utensil will be sent to you post-paid.

WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED

Campaign to Help the Unemployed Receives New Impetus Here

War veterans out of work and others in need of steady jobs, here may be glad news for you if you want to take a civil service examination.

The campaign to help the unemployed in Massachusetts received new impetus in Lowell and vicinity today with the posting of large white circulars all over the city, announcing many desirable government jobs open to eligible applicants. Civil Service Representative, James H. Carmichael, of Central Street, announced this morning that a number of the positions to be filled are well worth seeking, and that there are eight near Lowell, in fact more than one good job may

The names of war veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in chapter 156 of the general acts of 1918.

Among the positions for which examinations are to be made of candidates Dec. 9, are those for foreman of water, sewer and highways in the service of the state and numerous cities and towns classified under civil service. Among the vacancies existing for foreman service are the following:

Foreman in care of grass and general cemetery work, Worcester cemetery department, salary $39 a week; inspector with knowledge of granite building construction, New Bedford street department, salary $6.25 a day; foreman of quarry, Worcester sewer department, salary $6.85 a day; foreman Revere forestry department, salary $30 a week; foreman at city farm, Lawrence department of health and charities, salary $35 a week.

Examinations are scheduled Dec. 2 for stationary engineers and firemen and marine engineers. Examinations for fire service in all cities and towns outside of the Boston metropolitan district will be held Dec. 16. Applicants for these service positions are required to be not less than 22 nor over 35 years of age.

Nov. 25 there will be an examination for a female clinic physician appointment, with a salary of $2340. This position will require a woman physician of a great deal of experience in conducting health meetings, clinics for children of all ages and their mothers, and one who can make surveys of conditions in the state as regards child hygiene, to conduct conferences with various workers in the field of child hygiene and to lecture on hygienic subjects to professional and lay audiences.

An examination for janitors will be held in all cities and such towns of the state as are classified under civil service, on November 25. The subjects of examination in their respective weights will be as follows: Experience 5, special questions on the duties of the position 5. Applicants are required to obtain a mark of at least 50 per cent. in practical questions. Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

The campaign to help the unemployed on the part of the state authorities was never so extensive as just now. Never before have so many civil service announcements been spread around in such broadcast fashion. Telephone poles all over Lowell bear the announcements tacked on the sides close to curbs. Dozens of the big posters can be seen out in the textile school neighborhood and Chestnut street where Belvidere also has its quota, and Centralville posts were displaying them today. They are attracting attention and are being widely read by many looking for steady and remunerative work.

DEHNEY'S SALE DRAWS CROWDS
Hundreds of people visited the store of Dehney Company, 255 Middlesex street, yesterday and today, in response to the advertisement appearing in Wednesday's Sun relative to a great sale to be held at this popular bargain store for the next 15 days. Mr. Dehney has been forced to discontinue several of his fine lines of merchandise and consequently this sale offers the public some extraordinary bargains in wearables for men, women and children. Mr. Dehney has not considered costs, he has simply marked the goods at prices that are hard to duplicate, thus giving the people of Lowell some of the best values they have had in years. The sale continues tomorrow and next week, as advertised in The Sun.

No ad in The Sun classified section is ever purposely misclassified.

Juveniles Arraigned

with threatening. Both cases were continued to December 2, the court fixing bail in the former case at $1000, while Mitchell was allowed to go on the same surety furnished when arrested.

It was stated that the woman is in serious condition at a local hospital and it will be a few weeks before she will be able to appear in court. According to the story told the police, Mrs. Kunzki ordered the youths off her property in Dracut where they are said to have been skunk-hunting. The boys resented the command and when the woman chased them with a stick one of them discharged his gun wounding her severely in the abdomen, chest and arms.

There were 15 juvenile cases before the court today. These youths were committed to the Lyman school, but sentence was suspended, being placed in charge of the probation officer for a year. Norman Dalgic and George Lehto, delinquency; Joseph Cherus, Anthony Costa and John Rafferty, larceny; Joseph S. Carrigan and Wilfred J. Giguere, breaking and entering. Charges of neglect against four others were continued to Dec. 2 and a young girl was committed to the industrial school at Lancaster for unbecoming conduct.

Many Phones Burned Out

ner M. Macartney, Beacon street. Mr. Macartney, of the firm of R. J. Macartney company, Merrimack street, was at home with his family, entertaining several friends. When the telephone cable caught fire on Beacon street, opposite the Macartney residence, the telephone bell began ringing loudly.

Mr. Macartney moved to the telephone to take down the receiver. As he did so, a shower of small flames and sparks greeted him. He dropped the receiver quickly, then grabbed it again and tore it from the burning connection and threw it into the fireplace. The telephone was practically wrecked by the fire that resulted from the crossed wires and burning cable outside the house. Friends of Mr. Macartney say his experience was a dangerous one indeed and they are congratulating him today on his lucky escape from serious injury.

The flames at Eleventh street lasted nearly 15 minutes, burning as it fed by gasoline. Simultaneously with the burning of the big cables on Beacon street and down on Sixth avenue, the entire phone service on Christian Hill and nearby precincts went totally out of business and phone users were still without service this afternoon.

Telephone officials, in a statement issued this noon, said that one of the main high voltage wires of the street car line system fouled the telephone cable running through the Centralville territory. They said it would "take some time" to find all of the burned-out connections, and feared that it would be many hours before repairs were completed.

Linemen at work today said the chances were that some sort of telephone service would soon be given to those hit by last night's trouble, perhaps this evening. Most of the linemen ordered out to make repairs have been working all night and all this morning without sleep.

The cable systems underground are complicated, and the men cannot work fast in the holes under the pavements. At Sixth street this afternoon two men were untwisting a mass of cable lines and trying to make connections, after removing wires that had burned out.

The job is said by linemen to be about the toughest thing they have had to perform for a long time.

Call Letter an Outrage

of Stewart C. Gulline, which will appear on the ballot in only three wards, having been corrected in the other six, the ballot seems perfect.

Regarding the size of the ballot and the printing of the names of candidates for councillor at large in two columns, they say that George Pearson, who has been the ballot box authority at city hall for years, experimented with the boxes for the purpose of ascertaining the greatest possible length allowable in designing the ballot. Mr. Pearson learned that a ballot of greater length than 15 inches would not register. This made the division of names in this instance necessary. In splitting the names, great care was taken to treat every candidate fairly, and the two columns are at practically the same length, with a space allowed at the bottom of the second column of names for writing in six names, if the voter so desires.

In printing the name of Mr. Gulline incorrectly the blame does not rest entirely on the printer. The typographical error was present in the proof submitted to the election commission but was not discovered by them and the proof was O. K'd. When the mistake was discovered three lots of ballots had been printed, but correction was made in the remaining six wards. The same applies to the case of Richard Brabrook Walsh. Three wards had been provided for when he called at the commission's office, where it was found that he was actually registered under the name Richard B. Walsh. He was allowed to change the registration, and in the remaining six wards his full name will appear on the ballot.

Another angle of the situation was touched upon today, when the election commission asserted that the ballot as printed would make it possible for the precinct officers to use the Currier system in counting the votes, thus getting quicker returns.

Several Battles Fied

Several large rallies were held last night by mayoralty candidates. An enthusiastic rally was held in the Central theatre in the interest of the candidacy of Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, with several hundred partisans present. Mr. O'Sullivan was unable to speak on account of hoarseness but several of his supporters addressed the crowd in his behalf. The Mayor Roy Four were heard in several precinct numbers. After the candidate's speakers had concluded their remarks the platform was thrown open to other candidates.

Mayor Thompson held a well attended rally at the Lyons street school. He spoke in defense of his administration and asked for the continued support of the electorate. Many other candidates also spoke at this rally.

A number of outdoor rallies were held by the other candidates, and large crowds turned out to hear them despite the threatening weather.

Wednesday Night Rally

At the close of the business meeting of Club Citizens-Americans Wednesday night, an open rally was held for all the candidates for mayor and six of them addressed the gathering. This was perhaps the first time since the opening of the campaign that so many of the mayoralty candidates gathered at the same meeting. The rally was presided over by the club president, Narcisse Foucher. Several candidates for councillor-at-large and for school committee also addressed the gathering.

GES TREATY TO PREVENT WARS

ry Would Negotiate in Conjunction With Move to Limit Navies

Belittles Suggestion That Arms Limitation Would Hit Steel Makers

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Negotiation of a treaty to prevent future wars in conjunction with an agreement to limit navies, was urged today by Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the U. S. Steel corporation. In an address before the American Iron & Steel Institute, of which he is president, he belittled the suggestion that arms limitation would reduce the manufacture of steel, saying that thought was unworthy of even passing notice. Business was improving, he said, but there must be further adjustments.

"With an agreement for the limitation of capital ships," he said, "it would not seem to be practical to stop with less than a final treaty which will prevent future wars. In addition to what is contemplated by the limitation of arms, there should, with other things, be an understanding that if any international differences arise, no resort to military force should be permitted until after there has been a conference and full discussion by all nations now participating in the deliberations at Washington. He asserted that the international arrangement to be concluded must cover every kind of armament heretofore or hereafter discovered.

responsible for it would be repudiated and everlastingly condemned. He briefly dismissed the suggestion that less steel would be manufactured as a result of armament limitation. "In the first place," he said, "the amount of decrease if any, which is doubtful would be small and even though they might be large, no sane and right spirited person would consider pecuniary interest as of any importance when discussing national or international welfare.

Mr. Gary said it seemed to be generally conceded that business conditions throughout the country for the last six months had been steadily, if slowly, growing better. The volume of business in the steel industry had more than doubled in the last 30 days, he said, though profits had been little or nothing due to high costs and low prices. Of the country's business outlook, he declared: "The delay is complete restoration of a sound and satisfactory economic development and activity in this country is largely due to high costs of production and transportation and high costs of owning and earning money or its equivalent."

Manufacture of steel from iron ore by the "direct process" which would involve the use of atomized fuel or powdered coal, was described before the institute by A. E. Bourgeois, a New York engineer, who has been conducting exhaustive tests for some time.

It was pointed out by the speaker that the "direct process" would open up possibilities for the development of a steel industry in regions where blast furnace operations are almost impossible because of the cost of supplying coal to plants.

AN EXCELLENT ENTERTAINMENT

Bishop Delany Assembly, Fourth Degree, K. of C. Holds Stag Party

Oldest Fourth Degree Lowell Knight and Several Charter Members Present

The much heralded "stag party" of Bishop Delany Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, was held in K. of C. rooms last night and members' expectations of an evening of first-class entertainment were fully realized.

At 6:20 o'clock the first event on the evening's program, an old-fashioned beefsteak pie supper, was announced and all present, to the number of 150 or more, showed their appreciation by doing ample justice to the spread. Thomas J. O'Donnell, past faithful navigator, proved a splendid toastmaster. During the supper Mr. O'Donnell led the assembly in singing "John Brown's Body," with the entire gathering taking up the choruses. "A Long, Long Trail," "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," "My Wild Irish Rose" and other popular numbers were also sung with a gusto.

Rev. Francis Mullin, William Gallagher, P.N., and Andrew Molloy were among the principal speakers of the evening.

Sir Knight Andrew Molloy, P.N., the oldest living Fourth Degree knight in Lowell—although he allows he is still a young man—spoke appreciatively of the brilliant setting before him and said it was a proud night for him. He was thankful to the members for the honors bestowed on him and hoped everyone would join in the festivities. Several of the charter members of the council sat at the head table, among them Edward Cawley, Dr. Hugh Walker and Hugh C. McCosker, and the gathering embraced many professional and business men prominent in the community. The exercises closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and cheers for the committee and for the officers. Great credit is due the committee for many novel features.

During the evening the following program of entertainment was carried out:

Song, Thomas J. Tobin; song, Commissioner James R. Donnelly; sketch, "Mental Telepathy," Edward Slattery and Eugene Mullen; song and dance, John F. McArdle; song, John Keefe; piano selections, George Flynn, Martin Clough, Thomas Dowd and Thomas Burns; selections on the French horn, John Moran; recitations, William F. Thornton, John H. McNabb and Thomas J. Deane; songs, Daniel Powers, Patrick Nevins and Charles H. Burns.

The committee in charge of the "stag" and "ret-together" was as follows: Sir Knights Thomas J. O'Donnell, John O'Connor, Thomas Delany, Edward F. Saunders and Thomas J. Fitzgerald.

OFFICER DOESN'T WANT THE HORSE

Who owns the horse abandoned in a lot near 350 Riverside street last Sunday? That's what Officer Lemay of the local police would like to know. The officer found the animal last Sunday night and, unable to find its owner, took it to his barn near the above address. He has tried every means to find who owns the horse, but so far his efforts have proved unsuccessful. Now Officer Lemay says he is unwilling to house and support the horse any longer and would like to find its rightful owner.

FOCH'S TOUR TOO MUCH FOR WILDCAT

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The baby wildcat presented to Marshal Foch during his western tour and dubbed by his New York keepers "The Little Marshal" because of his size and his drooping military mustache, eventually is to become a naturalized Parisian, with a residence in the famous Jardin Des Plantes.

The most fated cat in the world, as Curator Raymond L. Ditmars of the New York Zoological park describes him, has not been dropped by his her master as it was reported when Marshal Foch sent him to the zoo here on his return from the west. He is merely being kept in retirement for fear too much reflected glory would go to his head.

"The cheers, the bustle and the excitement that accompany Marshal Foch everywhere were spoiling the kitten's disposition, and the petting and indulgent feeding he was getting from admirers on the Marshal's special train were endangering his health," Curator Ditmars said. "So Marshal Foch asked us to take care of him until he sails for France in December."

"The Marshal is extremely interested in the little fellow, and desires to have him exhibited to the French people in the Jardin Des Plantes. In the meantime he is being exhibited here and is attracting a great deal of attention."

Has Clogged Blood and Should Take Gude's Pepto-Mangan

The man who walks with a slouch usually has a heavy, dull expression on his face. The eyelids droop in a lazy, languid way and he goes about feeling dead tired most of the time. Bad blood, all clogged up with poisons from the system, makes a man feel that way.

That man with bad blood has let himself get in a rundown condition. He has overdone somehow, either physically, by straining, trying to do too much, or mentally, by worrying, doing without sufficient sleep. He needs new blood. Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken in regular doses every day is just the right blood builder. It drives off all the poisons. It makes blood, rich and red. When the blood gets back to normal, the color improves and the eyes brighten. It braces a man up. Druggists sell it in liquid or convenient tablet form. The full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on each package.—Adv.

Men Take Yeast Vitamon Tablets to Clear the Skin

Build Firm Flesh, Strengthen the Nerves and Increase Energy

Easy and Economical—Results Quick

Of what use are fine features with an ugly, mottled skin, flabby flesh, sunken cheeks, pouches under the eyes, or a careworn, sickly looking face?

If you want to quickly clear your skin and complexion, put some firm, healthy flesh on your bones, increase your nerve force and power and look and feel 100 per cent better, simply try taking two of Martin's tiny yeast VITAMON Tablets with each meal and watch the results. Martin's VITAMON Tablets contain highly concentrated yeast-vitamins, as well as the two other still more important vitamins (Fat Soluble A and Water Soluble C) and are now being used by thousands. They positively will not upset the stomach or cause gas; but, on the contrary, are a great aid to digestion, to overcome constipation and as a general conditioner of the whole system. Pimples, boils and skin eruptions seem to vanish like magic under their purifying influence; the complexion becomes fresh and clear, the cheeks glow with ruddy health, the flesh becomes firm instead of flabby, the eyes bright instead of dull. Martin's VITAMON Tablets are positively guaranteed to give you new health, energy and vitality and improve your appearance, whether you are young or old, or the trial costs you nothing. Make the test yourself and see. Be sure to remember the name—Martin's VITAMON—the original and genuine yeast-vitamin tablet. There is nothing else like it, so do not accept imitations or substitutes. You can get Martin's VITAMON Tablets at all good druggists, such as Dows Store, F. H. Butler & Co., P. N. Brunelle, Greens Drug Store.

Johnny Buff is one of the few boxers who is the holder of two titles. Buff is not only the bantam champion, but the flyweight champion. He is the only man in the world who has won the flyweight title when he met Pete Herman and won the bantam crown.

The fact that Buff is 21 years old makes a lot of people doubtful as to his ability to retain the bantam crown any great length of time. It is figured that his years will make him easy prey for some of the younger bantams. These who see disaster ahead for Buff fail to take into consideration the manner of life which he leads. The gay white way has no appeal for the new champion. He much prefers his own friends. Buff is married and the father of three children.

It is customary for most fighters to travel in a most forcible manner after winning a title. Not so with Buff. It is a rather amusing fact that he celebrated his victory over Herman by rowing from the Jersey shore the night to a spot near the Statue of Liberty where he spent the day fishing for crabs.

Those who are predicting trouble for Buff should remember that Johnny Buff at 21 is still the class of the featherweight division, and that Jack Britton at 26 has no trouble holding his title against the rest of the welterweights.—H. E.

MURPHY KAYOS THOMAS TILDEN GREATEST NET STAR OF ALL TIME

Lowell Youth Too Much for Local Veteran—Other Bouts End Via K. O. Route

Knockout blows figured strongly in the boxing show of the Moody J.A.C. last night, after punches to the jaw ending each of the four bouts before the finish of the scheduled number of rounds.

Billy Murphy, "pride of the Aere," played with Kid Thomas of Lawrence for four rounds in the main bout and finally in the fifth sent across a wallop that lulled Thomas to sleep. Both in the third and fourth frames, the bell was all that saved the Lawrence boy. Murphy in each instance sent a series of blows to Thomas' body and jaw that made it appear the latter was about ready to take the count. The bout was a fairly active one, but the local youth completely outclassed his opponent from the start. The Kid was game for three rounds but at the end of this frame a wicked left to the jaw dampened his enthusiasm. Murphy assumed his vicious attack in the fourth, showering the Lawrence man with a fusillade of rights and lefts to the face and body. Three times in this round Billy sent his opponent to the floor, twice by means of a blow to the knees until the count of nine. Murphy had just delivered an uppercut to the jaw when the bell tolled and Thomas staggered to his corner.

With the sound of the bell for the fifth frame Billy went at the Kid with grim determination and after flooring him twice measured him for the right to the jaw that ended hostilities.

Referee Scotty McChes was starting the count over Thomas when the sponge was tossed into the ring.

More disaster went to the Lawrence contingent in the other 10-round main event. It was announced that owing to a certain young Cilly had sustained in the afternoon he would be unable to go on. An examination by the club physician showed the boxer could not fight. It was stated that Texas McComick, at the last minute, was picked up at the last minute to face Benny Nelson of Lowell. This bout for two rounds appeared to be a big job. McCarthy seemed unwilling to box and during the two frames did not land or even make effort to land, once. With the crowd shouting "take him out" and "make him fight," the Lawrence man was at the end of the second round threatened to forfeit the bout if he did not show signs of life. The result was that Texas came back in the third round to the ring as a tiger, rushed around the ring at his opponent and, although he generally swung wildly, he landed several blows on the outman. But Nelson was not to be outmaneuvered and held his own during the Lawrence boy's onrush and towards the end of the round pushed McCarthy severely. The fourth frame saw the Lowell boxer connect repeatedly with Texas jaw and just as he landed one that sent McCarthy reeling the sponge appeared in the ring.

There was plenty of action in the six-round and Joe Delmont of Lawrence. The former was too clever for the Lawrence boy and in the final round sent a wicked right to the jaw that dropped Delmont to the floor. McCarthy, a strapping chap, won the favor of the crowd with his liveliness which he uncorked right from the start of the mill. He wielded a mean right and seemed to bother McCarthy. Although Jack showed signs of weakness in the fourth and fifth rounds he came back like a whirlwind in the sixth and gave McCarthy a hard time. McCarthy was especially clever at dodging and covering up and what body blows Delmont landed did not seem to hurt him.

Billy Nelson of Lowell, however, was a different matter. He was a defenseless fighter at the outset in the opening six-round, the former finally delivering the knockout wallop in the second round.

HIGH SCHOOL SQUAD WORKS IN ANNEX

The high school football practice took place at the high school annex yesterday afternoon instead of at Spaulding park, the weather compelling the practice to be held indoors. A long signal drill followed by an equally long blackboard talk featured the workout. In the signal drill the high school team went through the plays with a smoothness and accuracy that was commendable. The team is now in great shape for the Lawrence game and is anxious to hear the sound of the opening whistle in the annual tilt. The talk of the Lowell-Lawrence battle was Spaulding park. Thanksgiving Day morning is going the rounds and the high school team is expected to have a good deal of attention. One of the largest crowds that ever attended a high school football game in Lowell is expected to be in the stands to support the high school team. The support is expected to be in the stands to support the high school team. The support is expected to be in the stands to support the high school team.

KID LEWIS DEFEATS BOY MCCORMICK

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Tod "Kid" Lewis, the English middleweight champion, last night defeated Roy McCormick in the 11th round of a 20-round bout. The referee stopped the fight in order to save McCormick from further punishment.

McCormick was knocked out by a cut over one of his eyes during the final round, and was greatly hampered in his work. In the 14th round, Lewis drove a hard right to McCormick's mouth knocking out one of his teeth. At the close of this round, the referee made an examination of McCormick's injured eye and then declared Lewis the winner of the bout.

Lewis, who is 21 years old, is a powerful, well-built man. He is expected to compete McCormick for his inferiority in the future.

The bout was held in Albert Hall, London. Lewis was the aggressor from the start. It was a hard fought contest, in which there was much action. It was in the sixth round that Lewis, with a hard right, split McCormick's eyebrow, bringing the blood in the ring. McCormick was then home two straight hits, but in attempting another left hit, he was turned met with a couple of straight rights to the chin. In the 13th round, McCormick was knocked out by a hard right to the jaw. Lewis was the winner of the bout.

Billy Evans Tells Why Managers May Come and Go, But Mack Goes On Forever

FROM THE CRADLE TO THE GRAVE—THAT'S THE ROUTE THEY TAKE WHEN CONNIE MACK GRABS 'EM.

Managing a big league ball club is a precarious job. You must constantly deliver the goods, or random starts yelling for your head. Club owners pay considerable attention to the attitude of the fans, for they pay the freight. That is why the life of the average major league manager is of short duration. The moment he fails to get results, the club owner starts to look around for his successor.

Connie Mack stands out as the only exception to this rule in the history of major league baseball.

Managers come and managers go, but Connie Mack never even thinks of leaving. For seven years Mack's clubs have held undisputed possession of first place. Such a record would be enough to cause the ordinary manager to be banished to one of the leagues under the west. Connie Mack, however, continues to lead his cellar champs. There is no insistent demand on the part of the Philadelphia fans for his removal. Seven years of reverses has not dimmed the lustre of his managerial record in the least. He is still regarded as one of the wise men of the game. Connie Mack is truly the "mystery man of baseball."

Mack retains the prestige he won as a maker of championship teams. Stranger yet his tall end teams are popular. It sounds like a wild statement, but the tallenders of 1921 made far more money for Mack than his pennant winners of 1914. That is the reason why Connie continues to smile, without any fear of indignation, without any lack of plenty of food for the world. However, I do know that Connie is perfectly at ease with his position. He is not a man who is afraid to lead. He is a man who is not afraid to lead.

Connie good naturedly explains his ability to retain his job, despite his long lead and his cellar status, by saying: "I must have been a very good controlling interest in the ball club. Knowing Public."

Getting serious, Mack retains his prestige and popularity because he knows the pulse of the public. When Philadelphia tired of his champions, he sent the stars of his club. Philly has since been interested in his efforts to rebuild another great team. Several times he has seemed to be on the way to his goal. To my way of thinking, Mack knows more baseball than any other man connected with the game. Mack is the only developer of players in the major leagues. Other managers buy stars; Mack makes them. When they are pennant winners or cellar champs, he gives them new faces. No matter how poorly his club has been playing for late years, Mack always seemed to have some phenom—real or alleged—in reserve.

If the fans don't like your line-up, change it. That has been Mack's slogan in success and failure, and it seems to work both ways. Of one thing Mack is certain, it gets the money at the gate.

HARVARD-YALE GAME TOMORROW

Food for Thought in Fact That Majority of Tigers Pick Harvard to Win

This Choice is Against All the Quoted Odds—Yale Big Favorite in Betting

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 18.—The football teams of Yale and Harvard and their gathering supporters alike, found food for thought today in the fact that a majority of the members of the Princeton team pick the Crimson to win the big game of the season at the Stadium tomorrow. The choice is against all the quoted odds, and notwithstanding this fact that the Tigers defeated Harvard and lost to Yale.

Members of the Princeton team developed that of the 15 players who took part in one of both games, 10 pick Harvard as winners tomorrow. Three of Yale's chances and two think there will be a tie. The Tigers will attend the game as guests of the Yale and Harvard teams.

From the recent test camps of Rine and Crismon—Yale at Belmont Springs Country club, Harvard at the Essex Country club—word went out today that the opening lineup for tomorrow in each instance would follow closely those that took the field against Princeton. Except that Owen and Fitts, respectively Harvard's running back and Princeton's fullback, were reported in good shape. Physically the Yale men were declared to be in top form.

Each from left camp for a time today, Yale to try out kicks and passes in the Stadium, and the Harvard men to attend classes.

STATE HAS RECORD

One state is known as the "Babe of the Big Ten" having been admitted as late as 1914. However, it is some cheerd. In 1915 State, playing its first season as a member of the Big Ten, proved that with proper nursing, it would soon develop into a husky ball.

Coach Jack Wilson had from a most capable nurse to State's hopes in 1916, 1917 and 1918. State won the western title. In 1919 Ohio left to finish in the last minute of play, when Bob Edwards' drop kick from 30 yards made the score 6 to 0. Prospects for the 1921 title are bright.

On the Other Hand—

BY ROY GROVE

Bill Dineen, American league umpire, says his favorite diversion during the winter is making pies for the family. During the summer months there are a lot of fans who yearn for some of the thick custard ones that Bill insists he makes during the winter.

The way Notre Dame trounced the Army, one would surmise that all the great fighters are not attending West Point.

A duck soars calmly over head, And he, in the blind, lay quiet as dead, Then, carefully aiming, pumped the lead— The duck still soared high over head.

In his vaudeville act, Babe Ruth does a mind reading stunt. Knowing Babe as we do, there is a catch somewhere in the stunt.

Western conference elevens like Michigan, Illinois and Chicago, refer to Ohio State as the "Lucky eleven," because of state's habit of coming from behind and winning. Success like that which state has enjoyed, has more than luck as its foundation.

Judge Landis is taking more time to reach a decision in the Ruth case than he did during the Standard Oil Co. The judge is getting a lot of money from the baseball magnates to render decisions, instead of keeping secrets.

These golf clubs ought to move the fairway over where the rough is, so's our fellows would have a chance to play on it once in a while.

It's a wise boxer who knows his own manager.

Nowadays when a fellow reaches for his hip pocket you can't tell whether he is going to shoot you or poison you.

Babe Ruth gets 50,000 dollars a year and the rest of the fellows get all the work.

Do you know that? Riding habits were very costly last season!

It doesn't make any difference what Man-of-War is worth; they just charge it up to his running expenses.

He rushed out from the side lines, To take another's place, The score was naught to nothing, The coach was playing his ace.

His hands stretched out to the center, The stands roared up in a mass, Then the cheering died completely, For details—see Snodgrass.

BOWLING

FOOTBALL NOTES

The Oakleaves and Indian Thirds will clash for the championship of the city in the 12-15 lb. class Sunday on the South common. Because of the records of these two teams a great game is expected. The game will start at 2:30 p. m. It will be the Oakleaves last game.

The Pony Seconds will play the Elmmeres of Kenwood next Sunday afternoon on the Lakeview avenue gridiron. As the two teams have gone through the season without having lost any game, a good game is expected.

The following Pony Second players are requested to report at the Pony clubrooms Friday night at 8 o'clock: Gardner, Golden, S. Gray, R. Gray, Curley, W. Mullarkey, Connell, Verney, Brady, Knight, Lynch, Cawley, Livingston, Martin, Crabtree, D. Mullarkey.

The Butler A.A. will play the Dorchester All Stars on the Fair grounds Sunday afternoon, the game to start promptly at 3 o'clock. The Dorchester team is composed of school stars, including Harry and Kelvin of B.A. Powers, Dalton and Bullock, our noted players in Greater Boston. The Butlers have signed up Herb Turner, star back of the Indian Seconds. The team is in fine condition and confident of victory. The Butlers also expect to play a game a week from Sunday.

The Trojan Seconds claim the championship of the 75-85-pound class teams in the city. They would like very much to arrange a game with the Butler Thirds for Saturday Nov. 19 at Fildes park. Butlers answer through this paper.

The Laffey All Stars are looking for games with the Trojan Seconds. Answer through this paper or get in touch with Captain Laffey.

The Pony Seconds will play the Elmmeres of Kenwood next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the Lakeview avenue gridiron. As each team has gone through the season without a defeat, a good game is expected. All the Ponies are requested to report for practice Friday night at West street at 7 o'clock.

The O.M.L. Cadets Thirds will play the Mohawks Sunday afternoon at Shedd park. The lineup is: Rourke, C. Brown, R. Price, R. Moriarty, R. King, K. Mullane, C. Cahill, L. Mahony, B. Cahill, H. Healey, L. Cassidy, R. B.

Not Alarmed Over Ulster

 ailing a better atmosphere for continuance of the peace negotiations in some form, although the possibility of the resignation of Premier Lloyd George or indeed, the entire coalition government, is not ignored. The morning newspapers, however, do not regard this contingency as either imminent or inevitable.
 The Ulstermen, while decisively rejecting the government's proposals, indicated willingness to engage in informal conversations.
 The Daily Chronicle which of all the London papers is probably the closest to the ministry, says editorially that it is needless to be unduly alarmed at the Ulster reply.

PARISH REUNION
GREAT SUCCESS

Mock Trial Scores Big Hit as New Feature at St. Margaret's Reunion

Parish Talent Gives Excellent Performance—Associate Hall Crowded

The ninth annual reunion of St. Margaret's parish, held last evening in Associate hall, proved one of the most successful in the history of the progressive parish. The attendance was of record size and the entertainment program one of the best of the season. A mock trial, replaced the concert of other years, and the innovation made a decided hit. The comedy was directed by Miss Anna Lee Maguire, and she and each and every member of the cast, 22 in number, deserve great praise for the expert presentation of the piece. The characters performed with marked ability and the entire act proceeded with the facility of a professional performance.

Not only were the leading characters excellently portrayed, but those of minor roles, were faithfully given, and the audience showed its approval of the fine work, by vigorous applause. Rev. Charles Galligan, pastor, and Rev. Stephen G. Murray, who had charge of the reunion preparations, were present, and were warmly greeted during the evening. Dr. Emma Y. Slaughter was general manager and she opened the evening's program with a neat speech of welcome.

After the entertainment which concluded with the jury ordering a verdict of reconciliation, "Mr. and Mrs. Peck" led an aviation march around the hall. This was followed by general dancing.

The cast of characters was as follows:
 Hon. Josephine Sitter, judge of court, Jennie T. Frawley
 Miss Fannie Notes, clerk of court, Mary E. Haggerty
 Mrs. Jane Hibrow, counsel for plaintiff, Elizabeth M. Harrigan
 Mr. Hiram Slinger, counsel for defendant, James Coughlin
 Mrs. Henry Peck, plaintiff, Kathryn H. Flahavan
 Henry Peck, defendant, William T. Carr

Mrs. Paul Pry, witness for plaintiff, E. Helen Cox
 Miss Howe Lovely, witness for plaintiff, Mary Rourke
 Paul Pry, witness for defendant, Harry McDermott Jacob Gobsky, witness for defendant, Charles B. Kirby

The jury:
 Mrs. Shuffe, of the Bridge club, Lillian M. Sullivan
 Mrs. Diamond, of the 500 club, Margaret Ryan
 Miss Olgerson, a Swede, Rose McCarthy
 Mrs. Stumps, a politician, Irene Le Clair

Miss Gummer, of the moving pictures, Louise F. Mahoney
 Miss Parsons, of the department store, Esther M. Conroy Miss Kalsamine, colored, Mary T. Dillon
 Miss Reader, literary, Helen E. Whelton
 Mrs. Freelinghiser, German, Evelyn M. Cox
 Miss Sour, of a certain age, Madeline Driscoll
 Mrs. Delaney, one of the 400, Irene O'Hair

Mrs. O'Bean, Irish, Elizabeth H. Flahavan
 Dr. Slaughter was assisted by James F. Hennessey as assistant general manager. Mrs. Daniel J. Foye was chairman of the tea cream committee and Mrs. Dennis J. Conroy was chairman of the ladies' reception committee. George M. Harrigan was chairman of the gentlemen's reception committee. Daniel J. Shanahan was floor director, with Joseph J. Slattery as chief aid.

The general committee was headed by Frank McCarthy as chairman. Other members were James J. Brown, Dr. Frank J. Brady, John Barrett, John H. Gordon, Hon. James B. Casey, John H. Farrell, Thomas Hennessey, J. Russell Harrington, James J. Morrison, Dr. James Gaffney, William H. Sullivan and John J. Roane.

IF BACKACHE OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat, Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast

Urge acid in meat excites the kidneys; they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush out the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Ad.

LEMON IN YOUR TEA?

A great many people prefer to drink tea with a slice of lemon in place of cream. Probably very few are aware of the origin of the custom.

In the fourth or fifth centuries, tea was a favorite beverage in China. The leaves were steamed, crushed in a mortar, made into a cake, and boiled together with rice, ginger, salt, orange peel, spices, milk and sometimes with lemon!

Whether you prefer your tea with or without either lemon or cream, you want the best tea obtainable. Say "LIPTON'S Yellow Label" to your grocer—and you'll get it.

LIPTON'S Yellow Label is not alone Lipton's Best, it is the finest tea the world produces—and costs no more than ordinary grades.

Ask your grocer for Lipton's Yellow Label Tea. If he does not sell it, send us his name and address and we will mail you a FREE sample and give you the name of a grocer who can supply you. Thomas J. Lipton, Inc., Hoboken, N. J.

Unemployed Caused Bombay Disturbance

BOMBAY, Nov. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The disturbance in the native quarter of the city, which broke out yesterday while a procession was escorting the Prince of Wales through the European section was caused by a mob of unemployed mill hands who wrecked and burned a number of tramcars at several points, it was learned today. The mob hurled stones and other missiles at European passersby. After several police had been killed and wounded in the scuffles which ensued the police fired upon the mob, inflicting a number of casualties. The tramway service was suspended, and the mob was still carrying on sporadic demonstrations today.

OF A GOOD HAT

DEPENDS ON WHERE YOU GO TO BUY IT

Some stores pay more for their merchandise than others pay for the same kinds. Some are burdened with larger overhead expenses. Some want big profits, while others are satisfied with small ones. All these things are kept down to a minimum at the Broadway.

The Broadway Wholesale Millinery Co. Stores are the leading and largest millinery organization in New England devoted exclusively to millinery selling, enabling us to buy for less money than others and sell for less as well.

Our percentage of overhead expense is the smallest known—and our margin of profit the narrowest ever in the millinery business. That's how you buy your hat here at nearer the actual manufacturing cost than any other store can offer.

You doubtless see plenty of prices lower than ours, but not on the same grade of hats.

We have combated the high price of millinery with every weapon at our command, but we will not lower our standard of quality. So if you want a hat of known high quality, millinery distinctive and correct, good in quality, good in style, good in value, good all through, here's where YOU CAN get it at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE.

ANONYMOUS COMMUNICATION AROUSES CANDIDATES

Letter Received by Election Commission Not Endorsed by Ward Five Councilor Candidates

Reflection on Mr. Angelo is Resented by Several Candidates

Commissioners Declare That New Ballot is All Right—
Many Rallies

The anonymous letter received by the election commission yesterday relative to the eligibility of James J. Angelo and his son, Paul J. Angelo, to serve as precinct officers in Ward 5 has brought forth a number of the candidates for ward councilor in that ward. Joseph C. Clark, one of the candidates, states that he has no objection to either Mr. Angelo or his son serving and counting ballots. He has known Mr. Angelo for 20 years, he says, and his character is above reproach. He did not sign the statement published by the election commission and thinks it an outrage.

John F. Gookin, another candidate in ward 5, communicated with the election commission this morning and said that he had no knowledge of the letter and that all the other candidates deny complicity in the matter. John P. O'Connell, also a candidate in this ward, wished the public to understand that he had absolutely no connection with this communication. The election commissioners state that Mr. Angelo, senior, is eligible to serve despite his son's candidacy, but the younger Mr. Angelo is of course disqualified as an election official, a position which he filled but temporarily at the last election.

The Ballot Question
The commissioners showed both this year's special ballot and that used at the primary ten years ago to the newspapermen today, in proof of their contention that the new ballot is a great improvement. The type is larger, making the task of the voter easier, and with the exception of one mistake in the spelling in the name

MILLIONAIRE WAS NASHUA MAN

Older Residents Declare Late
"J. K. Stewart" Was Terence O'Brien

Left 25 Years Ago—Quit Job Because He Could Not Whistle at Work

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The residents of this city were convinced today that John K. Stewart, late millionaire maker of speedometers, was Terence O'Brien, a youthful machine shop worker here a quarter of a century ago. Two brothers and a sister of the lad who quit his job and his home in a huff because he could not whistle at his work, are sure the millionaire and the mechanic were one and the same. They have no intention, however, they said, of seeking any part of the $7,000,000 estate left by Stewart to his later family, controversy over the administration of which opened the way to the identification that led here.

The brothers and sisters of Terence O'Brien, John H. O'Brien, David W. O'Brien and Catherine O'Brien, living modestly in the family home, say they do not know, and never heard before, of Mrs. Robert B. Honeyman, Jr., of New York, daughter of Stewart and principal beneficiary under his will. They had word from their brother Terence last year from London, 20 years ago, they said, saying he was married and had two daughters. He made no mention of a change of name, and a reply addressed to Terence O'Brien was returned, the letter marked unclaimed. The story of Terence O'Brien as placed together by his relatives and his friends follows closely that which came out of New York a few days ago in connection with the court proceedings, except that it was here he was born and lived for 21 years, instead of in Vermont.

Be Sentenced Nov. 28

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Thirty-three individuals and 25 corporations, members of the Marble Industry Employers' association, today pleaded guilty to violating the Donnelly anti-trust law. Supreme Court Justice McAvoy announced that on November 28, he would sentence the defendants, whose operations were revealed by the Lockwood committee's investigation of the building trust last year.

The pleas of guilty came unexpectedly at the end of a four day prosecution conducted by Deputy Attorney General William A. Delord. During the direct testimony of William K. Fertig, secretary of the association, counsel for the accused men and companies interrupted the proceedings with the announcement that it had been decided to abandon the defense.

CESSATION OF WARSHIP WORK

British Admiralty Orders Suppression of Work on Four Battleships of Hood Type

Work Halted Pending the Outcome of Washington Conference

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The admiralty announced today that it had ordered the cessation of all work on the four battleships of the Hood super-type. The shipbuilding firms were notified yesterday not to incur any further liabilities on new naval construction until further notice from the admiralty. These contracts were awarded only two weeks ago.

Officials explained that the practical effect of the admiralty's order would be absolute cessation of all warship work pending the outcome of the Washington conference.

Contracts Suspended
GLASGOW, Nov. 18.—It is officially stated that the contracts awarded the Clyde Shipyards for the construction of three warships of the super-Hood type have been suspended.

The steel works are also affected by the suspension. There were originally four ships of the Hood type, only one of which the Hood herself, was completed. Begun in 1916, she was launched late in 1913 and completed in 1920. The other three ships, all of a highly powerful battle cruiser type, were redesignated to meet the lessons of the battle of Jutland work on them having been stopped in March, 1917.

It appeared from London despatches in August last that four new battle cruisers were to be turned out as improvements over the Hood type. Their completion by 1925, was expected.

These ships were to have been probably the most heavily armed in the world, carrying ten to twelve 15-inch guns each in their main batteries. The Hood had a main battery of eight 15-inch guns, and her normal displacement is 41,200 tons.

lowed on Far East Problem

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—With the arms conference in adjournment, the various national groups further developed in consultations among themselves today, the policies they will follow with respect to the Far Eastern questions and the limitation of armaments.

The British, following the lead of the French, let it be known that as a cardinal principle of their attitude toward the Far Eastern situation, they stood ready to perpetuate the "open door" in China, give up extra territorial rights there as soon as China's development will warrant, and in general aid the Chinese people to assume a place of economic independence in the world. It was fully expected that Italy, whose interest is more remote, would take much the same position.

The Japanese who, having already declared willingness to accept the Chinese declaration of principles "as a basis of discussion," were at work framing a more detailed statement of their position after communication with Tokyo.

JUVENILES ARRAIGNED ON SERIOUS CHARGE

George Therrien and Mitchell Koppa, two Dracut boys of about 14 years of age, were arraigned before Judge Enright in the juvenile session of the district court today in connection with the alleged shooting of Mrs. Mary Kuruski, of Methuen road, Dracut, Tuesday afternoon. Therrien is charged with delinquency and Koppa

NOT ALARMED OVER ULSTER'S ACTION

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The Irish peace position is not deemed in authoritative circles to have been made actually worse by the Ulster's cabinet's determination to adhere to its previously declared position.

The overwhelming majority given in favor of the government's policy at Ulster's cabinet, yesterday, is looked upon as a triumph.

BIG CLOTHING PURCHASE BY LOWELL CONCERN

Three Big Clothing Manufacturers Sell Over $10,000 Worth of Overcoats to Lowell Store

Lowell is to have a real old-fashioned Overcoat Feast this week and the Merrimack Clothing company, across from City Hall, will be the host. This great store which has been the talk of the city all this season on account of its many bargains, opportunities, is to crown itself with glory Friday and Saturday this week when they will offer the public over $10,000 worth of Men's and Boys' fine all wool Winter Overcoats at a fraction of their former prices and any man or boy who needs an overcoat will be given the opportunity of a lifetime to purchase one at a tremendous saving. Samples of the goods are displayed in their Merrimack and Worthen street windows and a description of the garments with the prices will be found in the advertisement which appears on page 10 of this paper. The Merrimack says they believe this to be the greatest offering of overcoats in the United States today and no doubt Lowell men and boys will flock to this store Friday and Saturday.

TRANSFER CONTROL OF TEXTILE MILLS

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 18.—Transfer of control of the Shaw-Wick-Hoskins group of textile mills in North Carolina and Virginia to a syndicate composed of North and South Carolina bankers and manufacturers, was announced here today. Control was secured, the statement said, through purchase of the stock held by the Guaranty Trust company, and Liberty National bank of New York city.

The new syndicate is headed by Benjamin B. Gossett of Anderson, S. C., who has been elected president of the company.

Spencer Turner of New York, retired president of the Shaw-Wick-Hoskins

company, but is retained on the directorate, and E. C. Dwell, of Charlotte, will remain secretary-treasurer. A. J. Draper, also a member of the syndicate, was formerly president of the company and president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' association.

MRS. MARK HANNA PASSES AWAY

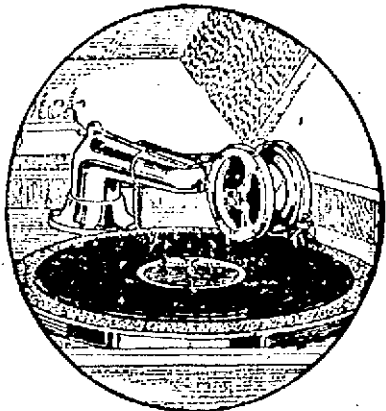

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Although arrangements for the funeral of Mrs. Mark Hanna, widow of the former senator, who died at her residence here last night, had not been announced early today, it was understood that interment would take place at Cleveland.

Mrs. Hanna's death was due to heart disease and followed an acute illness of a week.

A Famous Invention

THE ULTONA

NO one feature of the Brunswick Method of Reproduction has done so much to revolutionize people's ideas of the difference between phonographs as the Ultona. It is exclusive to the Brunswick.

At a turn of the hand it plays all makes of records—not an attachment, but a part of the designs. The Ultona obtains better playing results.

But this is not the only advantage. It is counter-balanced—the only scientific reproducer that cushions the path of the needle by proper suspension.

This means an end to "scratching" noises. It means bringing out the hidden beauties of the record. It means a longer lasting record, one that retains its newness.

There are many other exclusive features. We want to point them out to you, so that you can make intelligent comparisons.

BUILDING OPERATIONS

Increase Shown in Several Massachusetts Cities—Lowell Shows Reduction

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Much satisfaction is found by the state department of labor and industries in the fact that building operations in this state showed a remarkable increase in October over the previous month.

Of thirty cities reporting to the department, 19 reported increased building operations, and the net increase for all cities amounted to 39.7 per cent over the September figure, the respective amounts being $8,055,657 for October and $5,165,316 for September. The October figure is also 86.9 per cent higher than that for October, 1920.

The greatest increase was in Springfield, where permits for structures costing $1,000,775 were issued in October, as compared with a total of $222,795 in September. Other cities showing large increases were Lawrence, Leominster, Malden and Somerville.

Boston and Fall River showed the largest losses, and other cities which reported reduced building operations were Attleboro, Fitchburg, Holyoke, Lowell, Medford, Newburyport, Northampton, Quincy and Worcester.

For the principal cities the comparative figures are:

	October	September
Boston	$2,310,566	$2,459,911
Cambridge	211,390	110,099
Chicopee	136,775	105,205

An excellent vaudeville show, introducing both children and grownups in musical numbers, dances, readings and original comedy numbers, was given at the Greenhalge school last night under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher association. It turned out to be one of the best affairs of its kind ever presented in the city.

Well known local entertainers assisted not a little in the affair's success, and the pupils of the school executed their roles in capital style. Those responsible for the show's direction are entitled to a great deal of credit for the results obtained. The program follows:

Fantoms by the children of the primary school.
Violin solo by R. J. Gendreau.
A reading by David Coates.
Black face comedy by pupils of the grammar school.
Song by Frank Connors.
Costume dancing, "The Profile," by girls of the grammar school under the direction of Antoinette Major.
The Parrot, by George Michaud.
Xylophone selections by John Dare and Marie Miliken.
Reading, Nora Duddy.
Slide show from the Mammoth Circus.
Pupils of the school as the Barker, the Last of the Mohicans, Antony and Cleopatra, the Smallest Policeman in the World, the Wild Man from Bridge street, the Duke of Brerzlyland.
Songs, the Crescent Hill trio, John Bagley, James Manning and Ferdinand Decatur, and Mrs. B. A. Archambault.
The magician from Lola, Allan Dumas and Alice Chase.
Kittie troupe, Eleanor Mae Pitts, James E. Donnelly and Harry Thompson.

Keep Away From My Husband!

They have their own way of solving the "eternal triangle" out in Oklahoma, where Judge Thompson has placed the seal of his judicial approval on the way Mrs. Thomas lured the "other woman" into the woods and gave her a horsewhipping she will remember the rest of her life. The finding of the court is that "a married woman has the right to protect her home, the right to fight to retain the love of her husband." NOTORIOUS CROOKS HELD IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Nov. 18.—Thirty men, among whom the police declared they recognized several notorious international criminals, were arrested here yesterday in a series of raids on underworld resorts.

Nathan Katz, alias "the Turk," said to be a pickpocket, with records on both sides of the Atlantic, was one victim of the roundup. William F. Dodson, alias "Washington Bill," wanted by Boston authorities, and Joe Carey, wanted in Providence, R. I., were among Americans who fell into the net.

MOVEMENT TO CUT SHOE WORKERS' WAGES

LYNN, Nov. 18.—Interest in the movement to reduce shoe workers' wages in New England, was centered here today, with the opening of conferences between the Manufacturers' association and the Council of the United Shoe Workers of America. The association has proposed a 20 per cent reduction urging it as necessary to assure prosperity for the industry. The union, in accepting the invitation to a conference, agreed to hear the manufacturers' case with open minds and without interruption.

The manufacturers arranged to begin presentation of their arguments this afternoon through a committee of five. The full union council of 33 members was to take part in the proceedings, but with only one spokesman, Charles H. Chase of Washington, D. C., an accountant.

The conference was called under a provision of the existing agreement between the association and the union by which changes in wage and working conditions may be made only after discussion has shown that both sides are agreed that they are for the good of the industry.

WILL SAVE CABBAGE
FROM BLIGHT

RACINE, Wis., Nov. 18.—These persons who like to have just a few barrels of sauerkraut in the house in case of sickness or to whom corned beef and cabbage is a necessity and cabbage salad a luxury, owe an inestimable debt to Dr. L. B. Jones, plant pathologist of the University of Wisconsin and to the persistence of a group of Wisconsin cabbage growers along the west shores of Lake Michigan.

In the face of a blight which invariably followed continuous planting of cabbage and which practically threatened the extermination of the commercial growth of the plant, experiments conducted by Dr. Jones have saved the industry. The story is told by a writer in the Wisconsin Agriculturist.

It is a story of a ten years' fight by scientific men using the weapon of selection and elimination against a disease known as cabbage yellows and which science finally has won. Today there are miles of cabbage fields in the truck section of Wisconsin and Illinois where a few years ago scarcely a trace of a crop would reward the best of efforts of the farmers.

The "Bristol Jupiter" air engine can be carried by four men, but it has completed a test equivalent to carrying eight persons 10,000 miles at 100 miles an hour. It is the world's lightest high-powered engine. The tests were made for the British air ministry.

Cabbage grows almost everywhere in the United States, but it was an unsatisfactory crop because after a few years of production, land would invariably become infected with yellows and henceforth for all time would refuse to grow cabbage.

The principle upon which Dr. Jones operated was this. A field infected with yellows would produce maybe a dozen, maybe not more than one or two heads per acre. For some reason these heads would have a natural immunity to yellows. The theory was that the progeny of these individual heads would continue to develop the immunity to a larger degree and this has worked out in fact.

In 1910 when the Wisconsin cabbage growers were disheartened and about to abandon the industry, Dr. Jones selected a single head from a ten acre field owned by W. J. Hancher of Kenosha county. Cabbage is a biennial and it took two years for the seed to develop, but the ultimate seeds from this single head also proved to have immunity to the yellows.

They were planted and carefully covered and studied and from this single head was developed the Wisconsin Hollander cabbage, a strain that grows luxuriantly in the worst yellows and diseased land.

A. J. Piper, Hirsch Brothers, Walker Brothers and a few other late shore truck growers were also conducting similar experiments and establishing the principle that by selection and elimination immunity could be developed.

Up to this year, almost no seed of the disease resistant strain was sent out to the state, although cabbage growers everywhere who had watched the experiments clamored for it. There was not enough seed yet to supply Wisconsin nor in fact any more than use for further growth of seed cabbage. This year the seed is being distributed by the College of Agriculture of the university to other experiment stations and colleges where it will be used by them in overcoming their yellows infected cabbage land.

KILLED PARENTS AND SET FIRE TO HOUSE

SAGINAW, Mich., Nov. 18.—Prosecuting Attorney Crane planned today to take Richard Champlain into circuit court to plead to a charge of murder in connection with the death of his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Champlain. Young Champlain was said to have agreed to plead guilty, following his confession last night. A desire to obtain possession of his father's estate, valued at more than $100,000 so that he might marry Miss Clara A. Humpert, a school teacher of Reese, Mich., and to overcome objections by his parents to his attentions to Miss Humpert, was the motive for the slaying, Champlain said in his confession.

It was Miss Humpert who prevailed upon Champlain to confess. His statement that he shot his parents Monday afternoon and set fire to the house that night, to hide the crime, followed.

LOWELL MAN ADMITS HE HAS TWO WIVES

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 18.—Urban A. Homer, 29, arrested in Lowell, Mass., pleaded guilty in the district court yesterday to a charge of bigamy and was held in $1000 for the grand jury.

Homer for a time lived with Margaret Sullivan, 23, of Lowell, after having gone through a marriage ceremony, which he claims was performed by Rev. H. B. Carpenter, this city, June 15. Later the woman returned to Lowell.

Oct. 7 Homer was arrested here and taken to Lowell on a non-support charge. Then Margaret M. Denver, 22, of Lowell, claimed she was Homer's first wife, being married Sept. 23, 1912, in Lowell. With his second wife Homer went to Los Angeles, where he lived for two years.

March 21, this year, he applied for divorce in California and secured a decree, to become final next March. In applying for a marriage license here Homer said he had not been married because he did not want his children to know about it.

MUST REPEAL ADAMSON LAW

Former U. S. Sen. Beveridge
Also Declares R. R. Wages
Must Come Down

Supreme Need and Duty of the Hour is to Strengthen
Business, He Says

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The supreme need and duty of the hour is to strengthen business; for upon active and wholesome business depends the well being of all the people, former United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana told the New York state chamber of commerce at its annual banquet last night.

"The present depression is not a transient economic phase due to an unhappy state of mind on the part of business men or the people generally; and is not to be improved by the methods of college cheer leaders at football games," Mr. Beveridge said.

"On the contrary, these inflationists of hope who tell us that prosperity is just around the corner when it is not there but far away, do not help but positively hurt business.

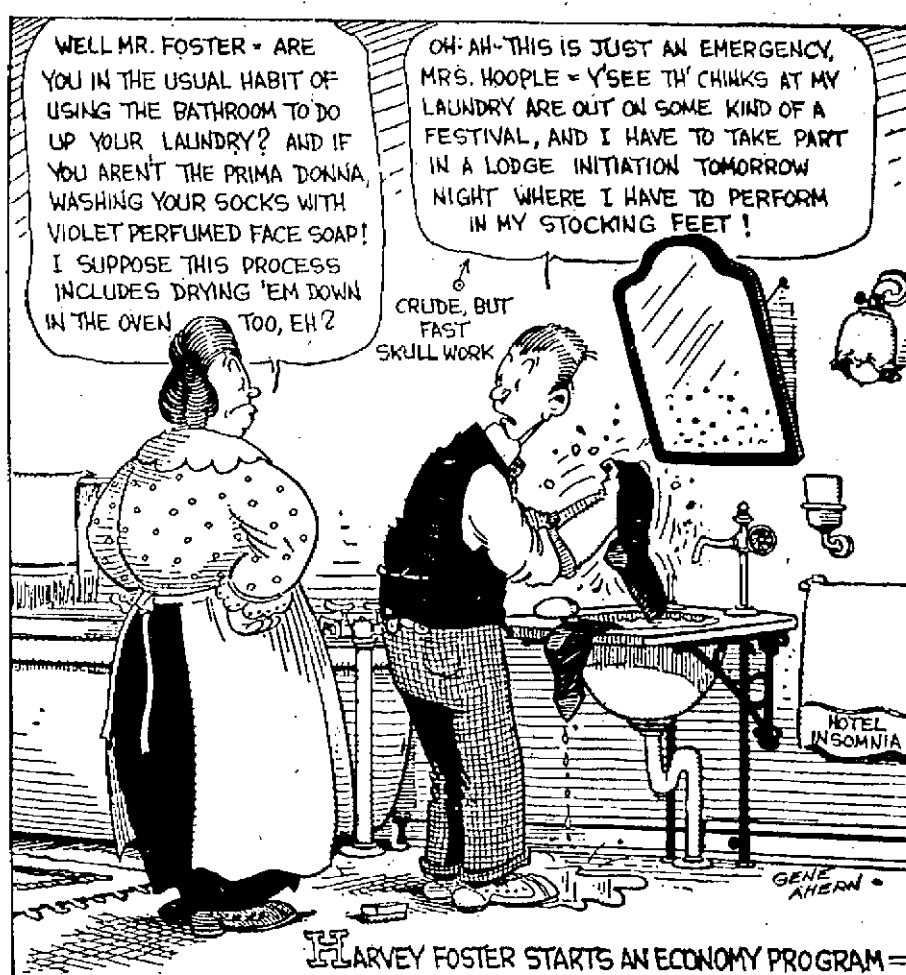

"They sow broadcast dragon's teeth of distrust. For when the people go around the corner and find to their disappointment that it is around the next corner and again fall—when this process is repeated three or four times, the people lose confidence. Faith is killed by disappointment.

Fed Up on the Glad Hand
"Now is the time for plain speaking by men who have graduated from ambition. Let us frankly know the worst at once. We have been rather fed up on the 'glad hand'; we need, instead, a period of 'brass tacks'."

"One of the immediate causes of the creeping paralysis from which business is suffering is the plight of the railroads.

"Today railway rates are oppressive, railway facilities inadequate, railway employees dissatisfied and rebellious, railway equipment impaired, railway

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

capital reduced and imperilled. Until these conditions are bettered, all forecasts of good times are the mere matter of politicians, the crafty wiles of men who have axes to grind, or the senseless incoherencies of pipe dreamers.

"Almost ten years ago I denounced as the invisible government, the sway of those financial conspirators who sought to dominate the nation. The cabal of cunning and avarice has been overthrown. But another invisible empire has been established, as evil and dangerous as that of the de-throned autocracy of wealth. This new assault of ordered liberty and American institutions is the close and closed corporation of those men who have made themselves masters of labor unions.

"Organized capital and organized labor alike can be made useful to all men and helpful to the republic; but neither shall be permitted to oppress any man, woman or child, or to govern the American people.

"The methods by which the Adamson law was forced on the statute books raised an issue as vital and basic as that which brought on the Civil war—indeed the Adamson law issue went to the very existence of government itself.

"When organizations, by threat to strangle the nation, can dictate laws for their own advantage at the expense of all the people, then regular government by all for the good of all is enfeebled; and, in place of it is substituted the erratic despotism of particular groups for their special purposes to the injury of the country as a whole.

"At all cost, the Adamson-law issue should have been fought out to the finish the moment it appeared. Sooner or later it must be settled and every day's delay will make matters worse in the end. Differences over mere questions of policy can be compromised; usually they ought to be compromised. But differences over elemental principles cannot be compromised.

Government Yielded to Labor
"The ultimatum delivered to the government by labor despots was obeyed and the Adamson law enacted in the exact form ordered and at the exact time ordered. It was the most shameful and humiliating event in the American history. From it have come many of the industrial plagues with which, since then, the nation has been and is afflicted.

"The next blow at the nation's transportation system was dealt by the government itself. We went to war shamefully unprepared, and in a storm of confusion, excitement and panic, the railways, gravely weakened financially but with operating forces still regimented although reactive, were taken from their harness and distracted owners and run by the national administration.

"Then followed that saturnalia of mismanagement which left those properties bound and gagged by agreements, regulations and working rules.

"Immediate action is vital. Most rates must come down, and especially and first those on basic necessities like fuel and foodstuffs; and, therefore, since wages and rates are inseparable, wages must also come down.

"Our whole economic system has been inflated to the bursting point and general deflation was and is indispensable. The farmers have deflated; business men have deflated; most other labor has deflated or is deflating; and railroad labor must undergo that common, universal and necessary process—indeed labor inflation in the production of the absolute necessities of human life such as coal, housing, food and transportation, is one of the principal elements in the high cost of living; and normal wages in such industries is indispensable to normal prices.

Abolish National Agreements
"The Adamson law must be repealed. The war-time labor classifications, regulations and so-called 'National Agreements' must be abolished. That curious contrivance of makeshifts, the so-called labor board, that tells the railway owners how much they must spend, must be connected with that other organ of our bureaucracy, the Interstate Commerce commission, which tells the railway owners how much they may receive. If railways are to continue to suffer straight-jacket regulation, at least let there be co-ordination between outlay and income.

The contract made by the government with the railway owners when the lines were taken by the administration must be carried out, the indebtedness of the roads to the government for improvements funded and that of the government to the roads paid—all is provided in the agreement.

Thus railway involuency will be averted, hundreds of millions expended on equipment and betterments, scores of thousands of new idle workmen employed, and all industry vitalized.

tration must be carried out, the indebtedness of the roads to the government for improvements funded and that of the government to the roads paid—all is provided in the agreement.

Thus railway involuency will be averted, hundreds of millions expended on equipment and betterments, scores of thousands of new idle workmen employed, and all industry vitalized.

"In short the railway bill passed by the house months ago, and held up in the senate, must be speedily enacted into law, without mutilation or fundamental change. Sound business requires and honors demands it.

"No need fear revival of railway autocracy; a new industrial factor, the automobile, will moderate railway earnings. Auto trucks and motor buses are already making heavy reductions in short haul freight and passenger railway revenue.

"If business is to revive, investing capital must be freed as far as possible. The excess profits tax must be repealed—it ought to have been abolished when the pretext for it disappeared.

Destructive War Expedients
"In place of these intricate, involved and destructive war expedients which weaken and destroy business, give us a plain, simple, easily understood revenue system, based on business principles, which will, at once, work less hardship on all the people and permit business to get into action.

"In the end we must put a tax on expenditures as a non-cumulative tax on sales—while all, alike and equally, must pay in exact proportion to purchases. That would be a genuine and honest tax on wealth.

"A sales tax is open, above board, and in plain light of day. It is fixed, certain and cannot be multiplied at the expense of the consumer by underground manipulation.

"If the genius and energy which our best minds are devoting to the disarmament contests which we know will crown their efforts in that historic parley, be employed in devising and executing ways and means to increase American trade in these regions allotted us by nature, we might possibly secure desperately needed markets for our surplus. If so, more idle laborers would be given work than were provided with jobs by the unemployment conference.

"But even the highest statescraft is not, alone, sufficient; it must be supported by the sense and sentiment of a staunch, patient, level-headed, high-minded people. The situation will apply the supreme test to American character and to American institutions.

"But never doubt that we shall prevail. American statesmanship will be equal to the demand; American character will stand the test; American institutions will prove adequate, and vindicate, once more, the wisdom of the founders of the republic.

Adventures of The Twins

A HOUSE OF PEARL

"OH, WE BEG YOUR PARDON!" THEY ENCLAINED, BACKING OUT IN A HURRY

Away went the twins to hunt for Mr. Hermit Crab. First they peeped into all the holes in the rocks, and nearly got into trouble when they discovered Mrs. Butterfish's eggs in one of them and Mr. Butterfish standing guard.

"Oh, we beg your pardon!" they exclaimed, backing out in a hurry. "We're only looking for Mr. Hermit Crab."

"Well, he isn't here," said Mr. Butterfish shortly. So they went on. They blundered into Mr. Stickleback's house in the coralline sea bush, and stumbled over Mr. Goby's house under the cockle-shell by the seaweed tangle, and went through the oyster bed, and they asked Lob Lobster and Tub Terrapin and Cuckoo Cotton-Spinner and Silvery Shrimp, and oh, everybody nearly under the water, but nobody knew where Mr. Hermit Crab was. There were loads of Whelk-shells around, but all of them were as empty as drums. Mr. Crab had been there and gone, and so, of course, had the dwellers of each shell gone with him. And then something happened. Suddenly the twins came upon a strange person, a queer Wigglefin person he was, and he was very busy. He was busy building, or rather remodeling, his home. And although he himself was most peculiar looking, having about a dozen arms and a pair of queer looking wings, his house was the most beautiful thing the twins had ever seen. It was made of mother of pearl and shone with all the colors of the rainbow. It was about as large and round as your porridge dish with spindles and curves like a great snail shell.

"Oh," cried Nancy, clapping her hands. "How beautiful!"

"Thanks!" answered the queer looking Wigglefin person with a bow. "I'll send you my photograph."

"Oh," said Nancy. "I meant your house."

Baby Saved From

Pneumonia by

Allen's Lung Healer

That our claim that Allen's Lung Healer will prevent pneumonia is based on facts the following letter from Mrs. Rogers will prove:

22 Grove St., W. Lynn.

We recently had occasion to use Allen's Lung Healer for our year-old baby with very gratifying results. For a week she had been suffering from a severe cold in the head and chest. Her nose and eyes were constantly running; her lungs were congested, her cough was deep, hard and croupy, and we feared she would develop pneumonia. The Lung Healer seemed to work like magic. She began to improve with the first few doses and in less than a week she was entirely cured, with all signs of cough or cold entirely dispelled.

"These are some of China's demands. The Peking delegation should have pressed these demands. They should have faced those vital issues but instead, they have contented themselves with the formulation of general principles—principles such as the open door with the integrity of China which have been affirmed and reaffirmed many times.

"Since the time of John Hay these principles have been accepted by every power claiming to have an interest in China and ostensibly have been the object of every treaty entered into between them for the last 15 years. They have been more honored in the breach than in the observance.

If the Peking delegation has no desire to insist upon this, then it should go home, and if the conference on Pacific and far eastern questions is unable to accomplish this then it may just as well break up. DAN R. HANNA DIED A CATHOLIC IN SPIRIT

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Dan R. Hanna, whose four divorces attracted much notoriety, died embracing the Roman Catholic faith. He had not been received formally into the church but on his death bed he clasped a rosary and died professing the tenets of Catholicism, including its doctrines on divorce and a future life.

This profession became known yesterday, and his friends say it was the reason why he attempted to blot from his will the clause declaring it his intention to take Miss June Avis Evans, actress, for his fifth wife.

Blotted marginal notes on the will, together with a line written in pencil that the clause providing for Miss Evans was stricken out, form the basis for a long legal battle for the Hanna millions. The groundwork for the fight has been laid by attorneys representing Miss Evans, who now resides at 157 West Fifty-seventh street. With her mother, Miss Evans spent the summer at the Hanna estate, the Croft, at Yorkville in Westchester.

Inasmuch as the Catholic church does not recognize divorce there was surprise when it became known that Mr. Hanna had accepted this faith.

TO START 2 YEAR TREK

200,000 Mennonites Prepare to Migrate From Canada to Mexico

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 15.—One of the largest migrations of Christian people of modern history is that of about 200,000 Mennonites, 50,000 families, from Canada to Mexico, which will begin in December. Their trek is expected to last two years.

The Mennonites for the past year have been looking for a new home, claiming unjust treatment in Canada during the world war. Eight nations have invited them. Land "sharpies," "hooners" and others have tried to influence.

After a dozen trips to Mexico, during which representatives conferred with President Alvaro Obregon and officials of the Mexican immigration service, the leaders almost decided to settle in Mexico. Then editorialists from various sources, save Mexican, declared the Mennonites were "making a mistake," that religious freedom which they have sought could not be guaranteed them under the Mexican constitution. Another trip was made to Mexico and state and national governments assured the Mennonites that they could worship God as they pleased, that they could hold all the tenets of their

NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmitin (double strength), and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catarrhal Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial—adv.

BY MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—At the beginning of the season the elaborate shoes fantasies took our breath away. But as shoes come and go, it seems there is no limit to their gorgeousness.

Not only the richest and most ornate of materials are used in shoes but the length to which ornamentation is carried reaches a fantastic mark. The model is still the most popular form with the low cut sides and the instep strap running up the center of the foot and joining the encircling strap or straps.

Brocades of metal cloth are especially in vogue and steel bead embroidery vies with the most elaborate gowns.

reigion and could enter that country and make their permanent home.

Canadian Mennonites hold the same belief as early members of the sect who settled in the United States—that of non-resistance. The Mennonites, in defending their belief, declared that they suffered less in the early days at the hands of the Indians than did others who waged warfare against the savages.

The Mennonites still refuse to enter any war. Another peculiar custom of these people is the washing of feet. They say that the command of Christ to the woman to wash His feet stands on the same spiritual level as His acts of distribution of food and drink to the hungry and thirsty. To the Mennonites the period shoes are popular and the high-tongued, square toes of the Louis XIV. period may be seen in cloth of gold with big paste buckles.

Fleets of contrasting colors and beads into which jewels are embedded, are extremely popular for evening wear.

The street shoe is also low—even unto the sandal point.

It looks as though it's going to be a bad winter for the high shoe.

Spats will completely eliminate the high shoe among smart dressers. In street shoes a particularly good model is the two-strapped pump with modified toe and low heel. For those who insist upon oxfords, a model of patent leather is good. The strapped shoes, however, even for sports wear, is the most popular.

story related by St. Luke is comparable to the ones other Christians regard, including the Sacrament and communion.

Communally property is another belief of some Mennonites, although it is not general. The members of the sect co-operate in building roads, school houses and churches.

The removal of the Mennonites to America came about when William Penn had been granted land for his Quaker followers. He was told of Mennonites who had fled from Germany to Holland and his Quakers came to their aid. The Quakers are credited with helping them financially and in colonizing parts of Ohio, Indiana, Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota. Later, colonies were established in Saskatchewan and other parts of Canada. During the past year a few of the sect have settled in Florida.

For years there were 14 independent bodies of Mennonites, but years ago the sect was reunited.

The Mennonites will settle in Chihuahua and Durango, principally in the former state. Options have been taken on land in both states and improvements are being made on one large tract, the Bustillos hacienda, or ranch, near Bustillos and Chihuahua City. The colonists have paid 25,000 pesos to hold this tract, the money being on deposit to the credit of the Zuloaga family, heirs of the large land owner, Carlos Zuloaga. The purchase price is 500,000 pesos.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres Own Press Agents
OPERA HOUSE
The great theme of mother love, so well and pleasingly exemplified by the Lowell players in "Over the Hills to the Poor House" at the Opera House this week, is winning unquestioned approval among the playgoers of the city and suburbs. Miss Minelli's interpretation of the role of the mother is wonderfully well done, while the remainder of the cast treat their respective roles particularly well. Order your tickets at once for the remaining performances. Next week George M. Cohan's great musical play, "45 Minutes From Broadway" will be presented. A big advance sale indicates big business.

IRISH CONCERT SUNDAY

The coming of Shaun O'Farrell and company of entertainers at the Opera House Sunday afternoon and evening should attract capacity audiences at both performances. Mr. O'Farrell is one of the newest Irish tenors to come across the sea, and assisting him will be Katherine Sullivan, known as the "song bird of Erin" and John O'Neil, the famous and popular Wicklow piper. They will provide all of the old and favorite melodies of Erin. Besides their numbers, there will be a series of motion pictures showing conditions in Ireland at the present time, including glimpses of the conference and other interesting phases of life in Ireland. Tickets are now selling for both performances. It is advisable to make reservations as early as possible.

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

If one would see good vaudeville on a plane which is devoid of slapstick comedy, for the greater part, then a trip to the Keith theatre, this week will amply reward you. It is a smoothly-moving show, with comedy in first place, but with music and dancing having good places on the bill. In "The Love Game," which Harry Hayden & Co. offer, there is worked out a splendid comedy theme. Hayden is one of the best juvenile actors seen here in a long time. Powers & Wallace in "Georgia on Broadway" brings the atmosphere of the southern states right to the footlights. They have novelty in their work, too. McLallen & Carson have a skating comedy act in which is the talk of the town, and Lipsett & Poulitkin in "The Bells" a snappy mixture of song, talk and dance. Other acts on the bill are: Madelon & Paula Miller, Raymond Wilbert, and Bing & Grill.

REALTY THEATRE

But two days more remain in which to see the super drama, "Man, Woman and Marriage," that has drawn such crowds to the Realty theatre all this week. It is a story of woman from the medieval ages to the present day and it weaves a story of self sacrifice from beginning to end. On the same program is Herbert Rawlinson in "The Wakefield Case," a Larry Semon comedy, "The Bell Hop," and the Kinograms.

"THE OLD NEST" AT THE STRAND
As a special feature at The Strand on Sunday the management will play a return showing of Rupert Hughes' wonder picture of mother love, "The Old Nest." Valentine Frederick in "The Sting of the Lash," Miss du Pont in "The Range of Paris" and Larry Semon in "The Bell Hop," is the triple-featured offering for today and tomorrow. See them all.

A very common cause of constipation

Poor appetite is now known to be an important factor in this condition

A RECOGNIZED authority on the subject of constipation maintains that "a poor appetite is a very common cause of constipation, especially in women." A certain quantity of food is necessary for the intestines to function normally.

The same authority also says: "Insufficient food leads directly to emaciation and physical weakness as well as to constipation; it causes the already depressed nervous system to deteriorate still further, and this reacts again on the digestion, so that the dyspepsia and constipation become more severe."

Under such conditions Fleischmann's Yeast has remarkable value as a laxative food and conditioner. It furnishes a large amount of the water-soluble vitamin which helps all the processes of digestion, and, in addition, because of its freshness (you get it fresh daily) it helps the intestines in their elimination of poisonous waste matter. Thousands are adding Fleischmann's Yeast to their daily diet, and by eating regularly from 2 to 3 cakes a day are restoring and maintaining normal action of the bowels.

Fleischmann's Yeast is a pure, fresh food assimilated like any other familiar food. Eat it daily—have it on the table at home. Have it at your office and eat it at your desk. Get it at your lunch place. You will like its fresh, distinctive flavor, and the clean, wholesome taste it leaves in your mouth. Only one precaution: if troubled with gas dissolve the yeast first in very hot water. This does not affect the efficacy of the yeast. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast.

Send 4 cents in stamps for the booklet, "The New Importance of Yeast in Diet." So many inquiries are coming in daily for this booklet that it is necessary to make this nominal charge to cover cost of handling and mailing. Address THE FLEISCHMANN COMPANY, 701 Washington Street, New York City.

The need for scientifically tested yeast

Fresh yeast has been proved by recent scientific tests to be a valuable food for correcting run-down condition, constipation, indigestion and certain skin disorders. These original tests were all made with Fleischmann's Yeast. Beware of untested yeast-vitamin preparations that contain drugs or other mixtures. Fleischmann's Yeast (fresh) is a pure food, rich in vitamins, in which it measures up to the high standards set by laboratories and hospitals. The familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label is the only form in which Fleischmann's Yeast for Health is sold.

SOLVING PROBLEM OF DOMESTIC SCIENCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—New York is employing business methods to solve its problem of domestic science. The long vacant place of the old-fashioned servant is being taken by the "home assistant"—working a 48-hour week and going and coming to work each day as a stenographer or factory worker. She also buys her own meals and expects her employers to address her as "Mrs." or "Miss."

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once

Common garden sage, brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, as large bottles, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss. While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant, and you appear years younger.—Adv.

The result of the investigation was a determination to put housework on a business basis and make it as dignified an occupation as office or factory. The women who have been attracted to housework on the home assistant basis receive $13 a week for a 48-hour week. They get Sundays and holidays or their equivalent time off and a vacation of two weeks with pay at the end of a year's work. They are paid overtime at a specified rate.

A weekly schedule of household tasks in the employer's home is arranged that will keep the worker busy every hour she is scheduled to work. She quits at noon and goes out for her lunch. When the day's work is ended she leaves for her own home. The domestic servant has become a business woman with the same freedom and independence as the rest of her sisters in the business world.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR FREE EDUCATION

Henry H. Harris, principal of the high school, will deliver an address Sunday afternoon, Nov. 27, at 2 o'clock before the Pledge Club in Associate Hall. His subject will be "Opportunities for Free Education in the State of Massachusetts." The public is invited to the lecture.

In addition to the speaker, an entertainment will go towards making an attractive program. Constantine S. Dukakis, vice president of the club and a student at Lowell Textile school, will discuss the relation of education to civic prosperity.

This meeting will be the second held by the club since its organization last August. The club has 30 members and includes all local students of Greek parentage in the city.

DAMON NOW WALKS AS WELL AS EVER

BOSTON MAN AMazes FRIENDS BY ASTONISHING RECOVERY AFTER 40 YEARS OF RHEUMATISM

"Tanlac has helped me so much that I want to praise it to every man, woman and child in Boston," was the enthusiastic statement made, a few days ago, by H. J. Damon, a well known resident of 320 Shawmut ave.

"I have suffered with rheumatism for 40 years and I don't think there was a bone or muscle in my body but what was affected. Often I was so crippled up that someone had to lift me out of bed. There were times I could not walk a step, and when I did get out I had to use crutches. My legs and feet ached and pained so I could not walk on a hard pavement, and my arms hurt so bad I was all I could do to feel myself."

"My stomach was all out of order, too, and my appetite had gone back on me. I suffered with pains and bloating and would get so weak I could not stand up without holding onto something. My nerves were all undone. I could not sleep, and felt so miserable I could hardly endure life."

"I was in an awful fix and kept getting worse until I got Tanlac, and I can say for a fact, this medicine helped me from the day I began taking it. That rheumatism, which came near ending my life, has vanished as if by magic. I have thrown my crutches away and can walk with ease, two and three miles every day, and I can now say, with all gratitude to Tanlac, I haven't an ache or a pain in my part of my body. My nerves and stomach are in fine condition and I am like a new man. I sleep good and sound and feel strong and well. I will gladly verify this statement to anyone."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Fails, Cheshamford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

"PARLEY-VOOING" FOR PARLEY, HIS JOB

reverse English—or French—on the speech.

It's no dry rendition. He puts into it the emphasis and gestures of the orator.

He has served as interpreter for the allied supreme council and the council of ambassadors.

Henry Cabot Lodge, who turned over the League of Nations apple cart in the senate because the senate had no look-in at the drafting of the covenant, can raise no such objections to the present conference.

Lodge, himself one of the conferees, saw to it that members of the house and senate were admitted to the galleries for the opening session.

Excepting Elihu Root, Lodge is the oldest delegate at the conference. He is 71, Root 76. But in appearance he is older than Root. His grizzled beard and slight, stooped form add to the appearance of age.

A touch of the military is given the anteroom of the conference by Charles A. Court Repington—the "Colonel Repington" of military journalism. Repington affects the up-turned mustache made popular in military circles by the ex-kaiser.

As a military writer, Repington came to the conference frankly skeptical. The frank way in which Secretary Hughes laid down the American proposal startled him. It was so utterly unarmylike, don't you know?

Minister Sze, spokesman for China, had a bad case of stage fright in addressing the conference for the first time. Though his voice was level and controlled, the hand that held the paper trembled violently. His naiveté cured his "chuck ague" by presenting both hands tightly on the table.

Julius Jusserand, dean of the Washington diplomatic corps, having represented France here since 1902, listens least and says little. He occupies a seat with the French delegation, but has not caused the interpreter a moment's bother.

STOLE GOLD FROM TEETH "PATIENTS"

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Gold teeth are increasingly prevalent in central Europe, the people evidently believing the mouth to be the safest place for what little gold they have left, but at least one thief has found a way to circumvent even this precaution.

A young man who recently opened a cut-rate dental surgery in Temes-

var, Hungary, has been arrested charged with extracting gold weighing more than a pound from his patients' teeth, says the Lancet, English medical journal. His method was to remove the gold, after telling the patient it was badly fitted, take a wax mould for the replacement work, and then instruct his victim to return in two weeks. Before the fortnight was up he had disappeared.

Upon his arrest he was found to be a grocer's clerk.

$35 OVERCOAT Made to Measure for $21.50

When it comes to a disarmament policy, the Big Guns should take lessons from me. There's no conferences, dilly-dallying or time-wasting investigations in my methods—nothing but straight from the shoulder action.

Some weeks ago, while others were beating around the bush, I launched my disarmament plan and I'll just about disarm 'em all with the plain and simple facts stated in this announcement.

THE TRUTH AND NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH

THE HARRISONIA HOTEL DEAL, involving over $100,000 (one hundred thousand dollars) put a crimp in my Bank Roll,—today I need Cash and need it badly. I have thousands of Dollars in Merchandise I want to turn into ready Cash to pay carpenters, plumbers, electricians, etc., who start work next Monday in my new home, which I expect will be ready for occupancy January 1, 1922.

THIS WEEK'S SPECIAL

Made to Your Measure

GILBERT FANCY OVERCOATINGS
Guaranteed All Wool

$21.50

These goods should have been on my tables three weeks ago. I only had a few styles from an early shipment, owing to the present day overcoat demand on the mills. I just received the balance, 14 pieces, about 500 yards, and I am going to sell them at the above mentioned price.

Ready-to-Wear Overcoats

Made in my own shop during the dull months of August and September. There are times in a tailor shop when coat makers get caught up—as they call it—and it is a case of lay him off or give him something to do. I don't want to lay off my men, neither can I afford to pay them for idle hours. The making of READY-TO-WEAR Overcoats solves the problem. The plan enables me to quote lower prices for made-to-measure and to sell ready-to-wear for less than actual cost. All these garments are Hand Tailored, some are all lined, others are one-half satin lined. I have them in one-half belts, whole belts with patch and bellows pockets, ulsterette, plain and raglan effects. From what I have seen in store windows, the lowest grade of these coats would retail around $30 to $35.

If I have your size, I have a number of styles, special for Overcoat Week, as low as

of Life Report on Restaurants—Large Profits

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Nov. 18.—That some of the restaurants in this state are making annual sales amounting to forty times their invested capital is disclosed today in a special report made by the commission on necessities of life.

These, according to the commission, are mainly the establishments which are operated without connection with other restaurants. In the smaller "chains," the commission finds, the annual sales average about six times the invested capital, and in the larger chains the average is only twice the invested capital.

But even these figures are misleading, the commission reports, because in many instances it is found that "good will" is included in the alleged investment. In certain cases running as high as 70 per cent of the total claimed investment. In order to make an accurate estimate of the actual value of restaurants doing business in this state, the commission finds, an actual appraisal of each one would be necessary.

"The large profits of these already in the lunch room business," the commission says, "are attracting new and efficient competitors. Many employers are assisting their employees to combating the high restaurant prices by providing wholesome and nourishing food at a reasonable cost and by furnishing facilities which enable their employees to bring their luncheons from home. While competition in this industry is not yet keen, there is no existing monopoly."

Since the commission began its inquiry, several weeks ago, portions served in many of the restaurants have been made larger, but the report does not indicate that there has been any appreciable reduction in prices.

to be taken by Arthur McQuaid, a member of the Junior class.

Two other members of the Junior class, Paul Hagley and John Slack, will portray the roles of Herman and Ver-
man. Herman and Verman are two colored boys who take a very active part in the frolics of Penrod and Sam.
These four furnish the comedy of the play. The rehearsals of the plot have already started, and headway is being made under the expert direction of Miss Joyce.

TAX REVISION BILL

House Accepts 50 P. C.
Maximum Income Surtax
Rate Amendment

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The house having settled the big issue in the tax revision bill by accepting by a vote of 201 to 173 the senate 50 per cent maximum income surtax rate amendment, senate and house conferees resumed their negotiations today with a view to reaching an agreement on the bill by tomorrow night.

The margin by which the house approved the senate surtax rate—28 votes—was even larger than had been six democrats, 34 republicans and one senate amendment. One hundred and 51 democrats, 34 republicans and one senate member voted for the 50 per cent rate, while 170 republicans and three democrats opposed it.

The vote was taken late yesterday after the house had heard read a letter from President Harding to Chairman Fordney, of the ways and means committee, suggesting a compromise at a 10 per cent rate.

The more important issues in the bill now awaiting settlement are the corporation income tax rate, fixed by the house at 12 1/2 per cent and by the senate at 15 per cent, and the senate proposal to tax gifts of property by persons, the purpose being to prevent evasion of taxes by the wealthy.

Other items in the bill still in controvery include the repeal of the $2000 exemption for corporations having a capital stock of $25,000 or less; increased inheritance taxes, and the treatment of insurance companies other than life.

the rooms of the organization in

Moody street last evening with President Joseph Payette in the chair.
There was a large attendance and considerable business was transacted, among which was the appointment of the following committee to make arrangements for a smoke talk to be held in the club rooms on "Thankgiving eve": Lorenzo Braseard, Alphonse Boudu and Joseph Payette. Rev. J.
A. Porter, O.M.I., former lieutenant-colonel in the Canadian army and chaplain general of the Canadian forces in France during the world war, who is now connected with the clergy of St. Joseph's, was unanimously elected an active member of the club. At the close of the business session a rally was held and the speakers were Dr. Rodriguez Mignault, Arthur Genest, St. Landry and Fred P. Drouin. Entertainment numbers were also given.

SAYS HARDING DREW

PLAN TO SCRAP NAVIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—By the Associated Press. Who formulated and executed the call for the armament conference? Who evolved the American proposals for naval limitation?

The country has been asking these questions for the last week and has been hearing a variety of answers. The best "inside story" in Washington yesterday has all the earmarks of being the correct answer.

President Harding, on one of his week-end cruises down the Potomac early this autumn, the stars were loose, his mind in his stomach one evening and left word that he did not wish to be disturbed because he was writing. A little later the president called to his room, one by one, some of the close friends in public life who had accompanied him and laid before them sheets of paper on which he had written with lead pencil, and with frequent corrections and interjections, something which they all read with amazement and greatest interest.

It was the invitation to the Nations to the Arms conference.

After some conference among the party, it was decided to forward the text to Secretary Hughes, and the Mayflower, laid up for the night in the still waters of a secluded cove in the reaches of the river, buzzed off from her wireless night to the states department the word which later were to ring around the world.

Of course, the preliminary diplomatic feeler was transmitted to the nations concerned, but it is said that the text of the final and formal invitation as it later went out was substantially the same as President Harding had conceived it that night while resting on the yacht Mayflower down the river.

The evolution of the concrete American proposals for naval limitation—Secretary Hughes' bombshell—also heard around the world at the first session, is still another story.

Some admirers have ascribed them to Secretary Hughes alone, while some other persons have declared they were the composite effort of the four American delegates, of whom Mr. Hughes is one. Everybody seems to agree that they were not drafted by naval officials, and almost everybody had left out President Harding, until today's "inside story" began to circulate.

The great secret, to whom Arthur J.
Balfour referred so artistically in his address of Tuesday, must indeed have been well kept, because between seven and 10 men knew it. That number includes the four American delegates and President Harding. The others worked on various phases of the proposal. It is known, of course, that it was based on memoranda called from the navy department, and it was carried into execution by the American Big Four which Secretary Hughes heads, but the "big idea" on which the plan is built, the "inside story" says, came from President Harding.

CAST SELECTED FOR HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

The part of Penrod in the high school play of that name has been given to James Geary, a senior class member. Miss Mary C. Joyce announced today. Penrod was the play selected this year to be presented by the high school students and will be shown in the Opera house, January 30 and 31.

The play is one that is especially adapted for the high school talent as it is one that deals with youth. The cast will contain eighteen members and with these Miss Joyce is expected to turn out as successful a play this year as the plays in the past.

Geary is not new to amateur theatricals as two years ago in the high school play, "The Girl and the Pennant," he carried off a minor part in excellent style. The part of Penrod's friend and staunch ally, Sammy, will be taken by Arthur McQuaid, a member of the Junior class.

Two other members of the Junior class, Paul Hagley and John Slack, will portray the roles of Herman and Ver-
man. Herman and Verman are two colored boys who take a very active part in the frolics of Penrod and Sam.
These four furnish the comedy of the

SPIRIT OF CAUTION HAS

DEVELOPED IN JAPAN

TOKIO, Nov. 17 (by the Associated Press.—With the fading of the first enthusiasm over the anticipated relief of armament burdens, a spirit of caution has developed in Japan, with the inclination to look for a possible advantage to the United States in its proposal for a 10-year naval holiday and limitation of navies.

Expressions favoring a more equal balance of power have become the conspicuous note in public expressions concerning the scheme, with the probable disturbance of labor conditions as a secondary consideration.

The sacrifice of warships aggregating 450,000 tons by Japan would be equal to the scrapping of 1,500,000 tons by the United States, Japanese analysts declare, on the ground that in an emergency the United States could replace her lost tonnage within a third or even a fifth of the time required by Japan with her limited facilities.

KATO SQUELCHES

ROUND ROBIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(By the Associated Press.) Japanese correspondents, of whom there is now a small army in Washington, had a plan for a mass meeting last night which was to have resulted in a round-robin to Admiral Kato, head of the Japanese delegation, expressing their opinion that Japan should subscribe to the American proposals for naval limitation without the reservations which have been forecast.

All proceeded serenely until Admiral Kato heard about it. Then the Japanese correspondents received a summons to appear at the Baron's headquarters.

No American reporters having been invited, and inasmuch as Admiral Kato spoke in Japanese anyhow, the version of what he said is necessarily a second-hand one. It is, however, that Admiral Kato told the journalists with some fluency and emphasis that the Japanese government rather than the newspapers would determine the course to be pursued, and he outlined with lucidity, characteristically, Oriental, how he would regard any such action as the correspondents proposed.

PLACING BOYS

WHERE THEY FIT

A movement was started last night in the Y.M.C.A. for the formation of an organization which would connect

Lowell boys with the work they are best suited for and to enable them to get in close touch with experts in the line of work they select. The following committee was appointed: Reuben White, Tremont & Suffolk, chairman; Herbert A. Bell, Lawrence Mfg. Co.; William Holwood, Abbott Woisted; W. N. Tucker, Lawrence Mfg. Co.; V. R. Sherburne, Lawrence Mfg. Co.; L. E. Conley, Lawrence Mfg. Co.; F. A. Brown, Talbot mills; William Ross, Bleachery; Lewis Marchand, Saco; Lowell: H. D. Manuelfan and John C.

Tomkins, Saco-Lowell, and D. S. Walton. The meeting was attended by many well known men connected with industrial manufacturing in the city. D. S. Walton of the Lamson Co. presided at the meeting. C. C. Robinson of New York, a Y.M.C.A. secretary, addressed the gathering on the best way to aid boys working in Lowell's industrial plants.

HOPPE TO DEFEND TITLE

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Willie Hoppe, world's champion billiard player and the only undefeated contestant in the world's championship 182 ball-line billiard tournament, will defend his position tonight against Ora Morningstar, of San Diego, who was defeated yesterday by Welker Cochran, of San Francisco, 406 to 317, in a game which went 16 innings. Morningstar has won a match and lost one.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Arthur R. Donahue and Miss Blanche O. Broadbent were married Nov. 16 at St. Patrick's church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Dr. James A. Supple. The best man was Mr. Frank Donahue, while the bridesmaid was Miss Catherine Broadbent, a sister of the bride. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, 781 Broadway. The couple will make their home in this city.

Simple—Erwin

The marriage of Mr. Andrew Simple and Miss Frances Erwin took place Nov. 16 at the home of the bride's parents, 5 Hamel place, off Ludlow street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. J. Field Speck. The best man was Mr. Gavin Holt, while the matron of honor was Mrs. M. E. Holt. After Nov. 21 the couple will be at home to their friends at 5 Hamel place.

Parker—Reardon

Mr. Clarence Arthur Parker, formerly of this city and Miss Mary Loreta Reardon, both of Lewiston, Me., were married Nov. 3 at the home of Rev. J. True Crosby in Auburn, Me. The couple will make their home at 14 Russell street, Lewiston, Me.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE: Wanda Hawley in "The Outside Woman," together with "Quo Vadis" and a Larry Simon comedy are the features today at the Merrimack Square theatre.

"THE OLD NEST" AT THE CROWN
Report Hughes, the most human writer for the screen, has written an unusual ending for "The Old Nest," a Remondal alder production for Goldwyn of one of his stories, which will be shown at the Crown theatre for two days, commencing today.

Save Mr. Hughes one of their sparkling photographs. This has not been much of a picture for plot or action or mystery, but if it should persuade you either to remember your mother plausibly, if she is dead, or if she lives, to send her a long love-letter or even a telegram saying "I am well, I think of you and love you." Or, above all, go again and see her, then this picture would give more real joy than any other picture ever made.

Then you'll know why thousands use CAMPHOROLE when ever you spread it on your sore, light chest or throat. You can feel it take hold and quickly break up a stubborn cough and cold in the throat and chest.

At once difficult breathing is relieved and the choked up air passages of the throat and lungs are penetrated by the powerful healing vapors which reach the very seat of the disease with each breath, loosening up phlegm, stopping nasty throat tickle, and healing the sore, irritated lining of the throat, chest and bronchial tubes, gently and easily. Special for croup, bronchitis, tonsillitis, asthma, catarrh and broncho-pneumonia. Mild in Atlantic City, N. J.

The Style Heritage of the Winter Coats

Dates back to the Middle Ages and the Romantic Old Coaching Days. Depicting flapbacks with rippling fullness at the hips—these coats remind us of the days when four and eight horsed stages with brass buttoned footmen were quite the vogue.

Coats that hang loosely and ripple charmingly from beneath embroidered yokes are exponents of the Middle Age vogue for wide sleeves. The Russian Blouse Coats are also here—

But these are only some of the models. Some are fur trimmed, some are plain. All the fashionable fabrics and colors are featured.

Heavy Wool Mixture Winter Coats, heather, blue, brown, deer and oxford. Priced at $18.50

Simms Says Reduction of Armament Alone Would Not Stop War

BY WM. PHILIP SIMMS
Written Expressly for the N.E.A.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Reduction of armament alone will not stop the war now brewing in the Pacific. An agreement between the United States, Great Britain and Japan as to the size of their navies meets with the approval of everybody here, but unless these three countries can come to an understanding as well with regard to the far east, a naval holiday will prove in the end a criminal waste of time and money.

HERO HUGHES

Crowds acclaim Secretary of State Hughes wherever he goes since his naval holiday proposal. He's wearing out his silk topper by toffing it so much! Here he is snapped as admirers cheered him, leaving a session in Washington.

Failure to agree on a common policy in the Orient can mean but one thing, namely, that America, Britain and Japan are irreconcilably at odds there and that force will ultimately be resorted to.

Far-sighted statesmen here consider it an absurd paradox to conceive of the conference winding up in agreement with regard to scrapping of navies but in full discord over the Pacific.

Half-Way Danger

Should this absurdity happen, however, it could only result later on in a stupendous spending of public treasure on hurry-up orders of war materials supplied by profiteering contractors demanding panic prices for their wares.

The nation's proud savings, with billions raised by war levies sticking to them, would be swallowed up in a jiffy.

While Secretary of State Hughes' dramatic offer struck the popular fancy, observers acquainted with the powder-keg conditions in the Orient are loath to construe him as meaning that the arms question can be disposed of independently of far eastern problems.

They contend the unconditional scrapping of battleships and a naval holiday without first removing the causes of war is but a mirage and offers no real guarantee of peace.

Real Problem

With Japan's ambitions in Asia remaining what they are; with the American policy of the open door in China still being flouted; with a new scramble for portions of a disrupted China impending; and with the Japanese, American and British policies in the far east clashing in a dozen other ways, they feel the conference has a tougher job on its hands than agreeing on naval tonnage, however important that may be and is.

Then there is the Anglo-Japanese alliance—as much in force today as ever, and will continue until denounced by either Britain or Japan. As it stands now, it menaces only the United States, whatever British or Japanese statesmen may say to the contrary.

If the Orient is left unsettled, Japan's position in that part of the world will be strengthened in direct ratio to the measure to which the nations disarm. Total disarmament would be tantamount to making Japan a present of Asia for a handful of her troops, already on the spot, could dominate the Asiatic continent and all Britain and America combined couldn't prevent it—without a navy.

Under Secretary Hughes' plan, partial disarmament coupled with the "A-J" alliance, would give Japan more than a 2 to 1 advantage in far eastern waters while even on paper the chances would be 5 to 5.

Secretary Hughes has done a historic thing, students of far eastern affairs observe. They express the hope he will tackle Pacific problems in a similar way.

Not a mere vacation for a few months or a few years, this to be followed by a break-neck, spend-thrift effort to make up for lost time while a superior enemy pounds away at American ports, but a really sound peace is what the United States demands.

The only possible foundation for that is:

1. Cancellation of the "A-J" pact.
2. An understanding with regard to the far east, and
3. A downing of arms.

Instead of asking your friends where there's a nice room to rent, read The Sun classified ads and find out for yourself.

ELECT THREE MEMBERS OF "IMMORTAL FIFTY"

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The flower of America's men of art and letters gathered here last night for a two day celebration of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, during which three more illustrious figures will be elevated to the ranks of the "Immortal Fifty."

The three to be selected will take the seats left vacant by John Burroughs, Abbott Henderson Thayer and Harriet Wendell, who have died since the last annual meeting of the academy.

The selections will be made today by the remaining 47 members of the academy, from a list of nominees picked because of their eminence in poetry and the drama, fiction and history, painting and sculpture, architecture and music, from the 250 members of the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

On Saturday, Marjorie Poch will preside over the ceremony for the only time during his stay in America, the role of soldier, and will appear in the roles of the French academician to lay the cornerstone of the American academy's new home. Distinguished authors, artists and statesmen of two hemispheres are expected to attend this ceremony.

Prof. Brandor Matthews of Columbia university, chancellor of the American academy, has told of the academy's beginnings with Howells, Twain, Steadman and others as a nucleus.

"About 20 years ago," said Professor Matthews, "the Social Science association increased its numbers and then designated one hundred of its members—poets and prose writers, painters and sculptors, architects and composers—to found a National Institute of Arts and Letters. Slowly the institute enlarged its membership to 250; and then it chose some of its members, Howells, Steadman, Mark Twain and John Hay, LaFarge and St. Gaudens, and Edward Blackwell, and laid upon them the duty of establishing an American Academy of Arts and Letters to consist of 50 of the leaders in poetry and the drama, fiction and history, painting and sculpture, architecture and music.

"When this academy was thus organized it elected Howells as its president and then William Milligan Sloane as its chancellor. After the death of Howells last year he was succeeded in the presidency by Mr. Sloane. No one

Former Member of The Philadelphia Health Department Strongly Endorses Wincarnis

Says: "It would be hard to write a better prescription"

"For persons who are weak, anemic, nervous and run-down, it would be hard to write a better prescription than Wincarnis," said Dr. George M. Lipinski recently. Dr. Lipinski is an ex-member of the Philadelphia Department of Health and is well known in Philadelphia where he has practiced his profession for many years.

"It is an established medical fact," said the doctor in discussing the subject, "that in almost every case of weakness, anæmia, nervousness and run-down vitality, there is a shortage in the body of several mineral elements which are absolutely necessary in the creation of vital power, to make the blood rich and red—to maintain strong, steady nerves—and to promote a continuous supply of bodily strength and endurance.

"The mineral elements required by the body to create vital power are, particularly iron, calcium, potassium, sodium and phosphorus. When there is a shortage of these elements the body is deprived of the means of renewing the vital energy which is expended daily, with the result that the strength of the body diminishes—the blood becomes impoverished, the nerves become shaky and the vitality becomes run-down."

"It cannot be too strongly emphasized that it is absolutely impossible for weak, anæmic, nervous and rundown persons to regain health, vigor and endurance unless they supply to the body sufficient of those mineral elements that are necessary to create vital energy to make the blood rich and red, to strengthen the nerves, and to promote renewed vigor, vitality and endurance."

Wincarnis is put up in two sizes—$1.10 and $1.95. It is sold in Lowell by all first class druggists. Write for free, instructive booklet, "Hundred Percent Health, How to Obtain It," to Edward Kassner, Inc., Dept. J., 400 West 23d st., New York, U. S. Agents for Wincarnis.—Adv.

AUTO INDUSTRY IS COMING BACK

BY ALBERT APPLE
DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 18.—The auto industry is now manufacturing more than three times as many cars as last January.

The general belief among auto makers is that their industry is safely out of the depths of depression and well on its way upward to normal. Thirty-one cars were shipped from all American auto factories in October, for every 96 cars shipped in May, 1920—which, however, was the peak month, with production greatly inflated, just before good times exploded.

Ford is producing "as usual"—at a rate of about 1,100,000 cars a year. Exports of autos, expressed in dollars, are now more than twice as big as in 1913. This indicates an export business at a better financial rate than in normal pre-war times, even though the productive capacity of the auto industry was increased 150 per cent. during the war. The actual number of passenger autos exported in the last few months has been almost identically the same as in 1913.

The auto trade, anticipating much better business in 1922 than at present, is looking ahead to keen competition and outlining its sales campaigns accordingly.
Not counting Ford, the eight leading auto companies have a productive capacity of more than 1,000,000 cars a year. This will be increased at least 300,000 cars a year by new companies now preparing to enter the auto field.

Campaign to Help the Unemployed Receives New Impetus Here

War veterans out of work and others in need of steady jobs, here may be good news for you if you want to take a civil service examination.

The campaign to help the unemployed in Massachusetts received new impetus in Lowell and vicinity today, with the posting of large white circulars all over the city, announcing many desirable, good-paying jobs open to eligible applicants. Civil Service Representative James H. Carmichael of 53 Central street announced this morning that a number of the positions to be filled are well worth seeking, and some of them are right near Lowell. In fact, more than one good job may

The names of war veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in chapter 150 of the general acts of 1919.

Among the positions for which examinations are to be made of candidates are those for foreman of water, sewer and highways in the service of the state and numerous cities and towns classified under civil service. Among the vacancies existing for foreman service are the following:

Foreman in care of graves and general cemetery work, Worcester cemetery department, salary $30 a week; inspector with knowledge of granite, New Bedford walk construction, salary $6.25 a day; foreman of quarry, Worcester sewer department, salary $5.50 a day; Foreman Revere forestry department, salary $30 a week; foreman at city farm, Lawrence department of health and charities, salary $35 a week.

Examinations are scheduled Dec. 3 for stationary engineers and firemen and marine engineers. Examinations for fire service in all cities and towns outside of the Boston metropolitan district will be held Dec. 18. Applicants for these service positions are required to be not less than 22 nor over 35 years of age.

Nov. 29 there will be an examination for a female clinic physician appointment, with a salary of $2540. This position will require a woman physician of a great deal of experience in conducting health meetings, clinics for children of all ages and their mothers, and one who can make surveys of conditions in the state as regards child hygiene; to conduct conferences with various workers in the field of child hygiene and to lecture on hygienic subjects to professional and lay audiences.

An examination for janitors will be held in all cities and such towns of the state as are classified under civil service, on November 25. The subjects of examination in their respective weights will be as follows: Experience 5, special questions on the duties of the position 6. Applicants are required to obtain a mark of at least 50 percent in practical questions. Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

The campaign to help the unemployed on the part of the state authorities was never so extensive as just now. Never before have so many civil service announcements been spread around in such broadcast fashion. Telephone poles all over Lowell bear the announcements tacked on the sides close to curbside. Dozens of the big posters can be seen out in the textile school neighborhood and Chelmsford street way. Belvidere also has its quota, and Centralville posts were displaying them today. They are attracting attention and are being widely read by many looking for steady and remunerative work.

DEHNEY'S SALE DRAWS CROWDS

Hundreds of people visited the store of Dehney Company, 285 Middlesex street, yesterday and today, in response to the advertisement appearing in Wednesday's Sun relative to a great sale to be held at this popular bargain store for the next 15 days. Mr. Dehney has been forced to discontinue several of his fine lines of merchandise and consequently this sale offers the public some extraordinary bargains in wearables for men, women and children. Mr. Dehney has not considered costs, he has simply marked the goods at prices that are hard to duplicate, thus giving the people of Lowell some of the best values they have had in years. The sale continues tomorrow and next week, as advertised in The Sun.

No ad in The Sun classified section is ever purposely misclassified.

British to Challenge American Yachtsmen

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—British yachtsmen have decided to challenge American for another yachting contest for the British-American cup to be contested in American waters by boats of the six metre class. It was said here today that America had agreed that the race be held under the international rules. The challengers have suggested September as the most suitable month.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Hard and Red, Festered and Itched Badly. Cuticura Heals.

"My trouble began with a roughening of the skin and itching scalp. Later hard, red pimples broke out on my face and completely covered it. Some of the pimples festered and itched badly at times. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after a few days my face felt better. I continued using them and in three weeks was completely healed, after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Leslie Gray, 10 Chestnut St., Plymouth, Mass., Feb. 28, 1921.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum promote and maintain skin purity, skin comfort and skin health. The Soap to cleanse and purify, the Ointment to soothe and heal, the Talcum to powder and perfume.

Juveniles Arraigned

with threatening. Both cases were continued to December 2, the court fixing bail in the former case at $100, while Mitchell was allowed to go on the same surety furnished when arrested.

It was stated that the woman is in serious condition at a local hospital and it will be a few weeks before she will be able to appear in court.

According to the story told the police, Mrs. Kuminski ordered the youths off her property in Drecht where they are said to have been skunk-hunting. The boys resented the command and when the woman chased them with a stick one of them discharged his gun, wounding her severely in the abdomen, chest and arm.

There were 15 juvenile cases before the court today. The youths were committed to the Lyman school, but sentence was suspended, being placed in charge of the probation officer for a year: Norman Dalgle and George Lehto, delinquency; Joseph Cherus, Anthony Costa and John Rafferty, larceny; Joseph S. Carrigan and Wilfred J. Giguere, breaking and entering. Charges of neglect against four others were continued to Dec. 2 and a young girl was committed to the industrial school at Lancaster for unbecoming conduct.

ner M. Macartney, Beacon street. Mr. Macartney, of the firm of H. J. Macartney company, Merrimack street, was at home with his family, entertaining several friends. When the telephone cable caught fire on Beacon street almost opposite the Macartney residence, the telephone bell began ringing loudly.

Mr. Macartney moved to the telephone to take down the receiver. As he did so, a shower of small flames and sparks greeted him. He dropped the receiver quickly, then grabbed it again and tore it from the burning connections and threw it into the fireplace. The telephone was practically wrecked by the fire that resulted from the crossed wires and burning cable outside the house. Friends of Mr. Macartney say his experience was a dangerous one indeed and they are congratulating him today on his lucky escape from serious injury.

The flames at Eleventh street lasted nearly 15 minutes, burning as if fed by gasoline. Simultaneously with the burning of the big cables on Beacon street and down on Sixth avenue, the entire phone service of Christian Hill and nearby precincts went totally out of business and phone users were still without service this afternoon.

Telephone officials, in a statement issued this noon, said that one of the main high voltage wires of the street car line system fouled the telephone cable running through the Centralville territory. They said it would "take some time" to find all of the burned-out connections, and feared that it would be many hours before repairs were completed.

Linemen at work today said the chances were that some sort of telephone service would soon be given to those hit by last night's trouble, perhaps this evening. Most of the line men ordered out to make repairs have been working all night and all this morning without sleep.

The cable systems underground are complicated, and the men cannot work fast in the holes under the pavements. At Sixth street this afternoon men were untwisting a mass of cable lines and trying to make connections, after removing wires that had burned out.

The job is said by linemen to be about the toughest thing they have had to perform for a long time.

of Stewart C. Gulline, which will appear on the ballot in only three wards, having been corrected in the other six, the ballot seems perfect.

Regarding the size of the ballot and the printing of the names of candidates for councilor at large in two columns, they say that George Pearson, who has been the ballot box authority at city hall for years, experimented with the boxes for the purpose of ascertaining the greatest possible length allowable in designing the ballot. Mr. Pearson learned that a ballot of greater length than 15 inches would not register. This made the division of names in this instance necessary. In splitting the names, great care was taken to treat every candidate fairly, and the two columns are of practically the same length, with a space allowed at the bottom of the second column of names for writing in six names, if the voter so desires.

In printing the name of Mr. Gulline incorrectly the blame does not rest entirely on the printer. The typographical error was present in the proof submitted to the election commission but was not discovered by them and the proof was O. K'd. When the mistake was discovered three lots of ballots had been printed, but the correction was made in the remaining six wards. The same applies to the case of Richard Brubrook Walsh. Three wards had been provided for when he called at the commission's office, where it was found that he was actually registered under the name Richard B. Walsh. He was allowed to change the registration, and in the remaining six wards his full name will appear on the ballot.

Another angle of the situation was touched upon today, when the election commission asserted that the ballot as printed would make it possible for the precinct officers to use the Currier system in counting the votes, thus setting quicker returns.

Several Rallies Held

Several large rallies were held last night by mayoralty candidates. An enthusiastic rally was held in the Colonial theatre in the interest of the candidacy of Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, with several hundred partisans present. Mr. O'Sullivan was unable to speak on account of hoarseness but several of his supporters addressed the crowd in his behalf. The Honey Boy Four were heard in several concert numbers. After the candidate's speakers had concluded their remarks the platform was thrown open to other candidates.

Mayor Thompson held a well attended rally at the Lyons street school. He spoke in defense of his administration and asked for the continued support of the electorate. Many other candidates also spoke at this rally.

A number of outdoor rallies were held by the other candidates, and large crowds turned out to hear them despite the threatening weather.

Wednesday Night Rally

At the close of the business meeting of Club Citizens-Americans Wednesday night, an open rally was held for all the candidates for mayor and six of them addressed the gathering. This was perhaps the first time since the opening of the campaign that so many of the mayoralty candidates gathered at the same meeting. The rally was presided over by the club president, Narcisse Foucher. Several candidates for councilor-at-large and for school committee also addressed the gathering.

ARMS CONFERENCE PROGRESS

As the arms conference progresses, the fact appears that the United States is to make a greater sacrifice than any of the other powers in cutting down the number of capital ships. It is true that the representatives of England and Japan have formally accepted the principle of the proposition laid down by Secretary Hughes; but at the same time they make certain reservations. England does not want the 10 year holiday in naval affairs, as Mr. Balfour, her representative, suggested that one capital ship would be turned out each year in order to hold the shipyards intact and keep the experts employed at least in a small way.

Another proposition made by Mr. Balfour would eliminate all the large submarines, such as were used by Germany in the late war. England, of course, has reason to dread the submarine inasmuch as her ships are on every sea and everywhere open to attack by the treacherous subs. Despite the fact that the United States is turning out several very large submarines, it is not at all improbable that an agreement will be made to scrap all such submarines in addition to the capital ships.

China has laid down her tea points upon which a solution of the Far Eastern question would naturally turn. She insists upon territorial integrity, the open door, an arrangement for the maintenance of peace in the Far East and the Pacific, the restoration of the territory now held by Japan and the guarantee of neutrality in any future war in which she is not a party. These in addition to an arrangement for the peaceful settlement of international disputes, constitute the main features of the Chinese demands. They are all just and reasonable, but yet it is expected that Japan will offer serious objections on the question of restoring Shantung and on some of the other points put forward by China.

The conference is making rapid progress on its arranged program and apparently open diplomacy as illustrated by Secretary Hughes in scoring a great triumph.

The press of England and Japan has expressed great satisfaction at the progress made and has given approval of the American scheme—with modifications.

The modifications in this particular case may prove sufficient to change the aspect of the entire affair. It will be remembered that the allied powers accepted President Wilson's fourteen points with great eagerness; but in the windup, they were unwilling to be governed even by the least important of the fourteen points. So it may be in the present case, although we expect the American delegation to be more circumspect than was our delegation to the peace congress.

There has been no plan put forth for limiting the strength of land forces; but it has been shown that France will insist upon maintaining a large army against the possibility of an attack by Germany. This is further emphasized by the statement that England and the United States will not enter into any agreement to come to the defense of France in case of an attack by Germany. The American army has already been reduced to the size of the force maintained by fourth rate powers of Europe.

STOP THE FATALITIES

Two killed in automobile accidents in one day is a bad record in a city like Lowell, in which so much attention has been given to Safety First.

Have there been any new rules or regulations laid down to prevent accidents? Many suggestions have been offered, but it appears that counsel of this kind is wholly neglected unless enforced by the police.

Something must be done to put a stop to the accidents which are due to two distinct causes: First, fast driving within the city limits; second, carelessness in the use of the streets by individuals, especially old people and children.

If it had been announced some days ago that two lives would be sacrificed to the twin evils of Carelessness and Recklessness, there would be a loud protest from every part of the community and the people would arise in their might to prevent it; but two lives were sacrificed without warning, the people read of the occurrence in the newspapers, said it couldn't be helped, and went about their business as usual. Put in a few days, it may perhaps be a month, another life may be sacrificed and in the course of the year, probably a dozen will be snuffed out from the same cause and the community will make the same comments.

It is assumed that in this age in which we live, such fatalities are inevitable. But they are not. They are due to the fact that auto drivers disregard the laws that require ordinary care and to the other fact, that parents allow young children to run at large without proper training in the principles of Safety First.

Even people old enough to have at least the sense of self-preservation very often seem to be forgetful of danger while crossing public streets in front of autos. What's the remedy? It is all very simple and very plain, but like other remedies, it will be of no use unless enforced.

First, stop overspeeding in all thickly settled streets.

Second, make certain streets on which there is heavy automobile traffic, and make it a punishable offense for children to cross them at any point except a regular street crossing, which for this purpose should be clearly marked. If these two rules were enforced by the police, the fatal and other less serious accidents to the person due to being struck by a passing auto would be reduced by one-half. Unless this plan be adopted, the fatalities will continue and perhaps become more numerous.

It is time for the proper authorities to act in order to prevent further loss of life.

GOING TO WASTE

If you want something to take the joy out of life, start a coal fire in your furnace, then climb up on the roof and sit on the chimney. You'll observe the heat going to waste.

Whenever you burn coal, you lose more than four-fifths of the heat stored in it by nature.

And that is only part of the waste. Take 2000 pounds of coal, lying in the mines. Some is lost in mining. Eighty-two pounds are burned up by the railroad locomotive that hauls the coal to market. Ashes, escaping gases and smoke increase the loss.

The result, says the Geological Survey, is that only 76 of the original 2000 pounds are actually converted into mechanical energy in the boiler room.

Out of 2000 pounds of coal, 1224 pounds are wasted!

A chemist can take coal and break it up into coke, artificial gas, ammonia, tar, carbolic acid, benzoline, synthetic sugar, high explosive, dyes, and a long list of other by-products.

All those are wasted when coal is shoveled in a furnace.

Waste like that is one of the chief causes of high cost of living. Recognizing this, a British scientist predicts that in another century or two it will be a penal offense to burn coal in the pure state for heating purposes.

If you could live 100 years from now, you would find the most humble home heated by electricity. Coal in that day will be burned at the mines scientifically, producing electricity that will be sent forth over high-tension wires. No freight hauls! No smoke! No bother! No waste!

Coal is only one of many instances of gigantic waste that will be eliminated by our descendants.

Future man will dam every stream and turn it into water power. He will harness the ocean tides. He will capture and use the enormous energy of the sun's heat, most of which now is wasted. From the air and ground he will take perpetual electric current of stupendous power.

In future cities, there will be no waste. Even the garbage, instead of being destroyed, will be reduced to chemicals.

Engineers will accomplish all this—experts in chemistry, physics, electricity and mechanics.

Those are the coming fields. Young men, wondering what to take up for their life's work, should investigate the possibilities and profits of the engineering professions.—N.E.A.

SALACIOUS SHOWS

Magistrate McAdoo of New York city gave out a decision the other day in reference to an indecent play that is likely to have a good effect with theatrical managers throughout the country. Some of them, it appears, conceived the idea that they would run sensational shows with real live actors and actresses that would draw the people away from the movies. Here is what Magistrate McAdoo said of one of these plays presented in New York:

"This play is deliberately, painstakingly, and for the purpose of gain, coarsely indecent, flagrant and suggestively immoral, impure in motive, word and action, loaded with profanity, repellantly vulgar and in every respect offensively illegal."

It was reported that at every performance of the play in question there was a crowded house. It is well that this attempt to draw the crowd by appeals to purulent tastes has been properly stigmatized by a high authority. Fortunately the only dramatic performances in this city, conducted chiefly in a single theatre, are of a high standard, morally and otherwise.

A BRAVE ACT

That mail clerk who disarmed a dangerous bandit while attempting to rob a mail car, deserves the very highest reward and decoration the department can offer. In a great many cases in which bandits got away with heavy loot from mail cars, the robbery might have been prevented if the clerks had shown anything like the pluck and daring displayed by this clerk. Herman Imberoff, on the train passing through Arizona. It happened that the bandit was an escaped convict and a most dangerous character; but the prompt action of the clerk, who was unarmed, defeated his purpose and made him captive.

SOP TO FARMERS

The railroads of the country have agreed to grant an immediate reduction of ten per cent. in carload freight rates on farm products for a period of six months. This will help to relieve the farmers who have been the chief sufferers from the high freight rates. They are in a bad way on account of the low price of their products as compared with that of manufactured articles. If the railroads will only make this general, they will do more business and increase their revenues.

Women lobbyists are having such wonderful success in getting congress to do queer things that it might well be proposed to have all male lobbyists go out of business.

Now that we are at peace with Germany, why not patch up our squabble with Mexico? President Obregon seems to be making less trouble than any of his predecessors.

SEEN AND HEARD

The lowly pruno is always the one best bet for the Thanksgiving dinner side dish. Ask pa—ho knows?

Harding's turkey is coming from old Mississipp. Now for the cranberries, you Cape Codders!

Picking the municipal winners is harder than naming the ponies in a steeplechase handicap for four-year-olds.

And some men keep diaries because they might have to go to court sometime and explain where they were on a certain day. Some foresight!

If you want to make a postoffice clerk feel blue, ask him what he thinks of the holiday greeting envelopes about two inches square that some folks like to send through the mails.

Like Commandments

The pile of flinty stones still to be broken was a very large one, thought the stonebreaker as he gazed at it disconsolately between his bites at a large sandwich of bread and cheese.

A minister came along and gave him a cheerful "Good morning," remarking afterward that he had a deal of work to get through yet. "Aye," said the eater, "then stones are like the 10 commandments." "In what way?" inquired the clergyman. "You can go on breaking 'em," came the reply, "but you can't never get rid of 'em."

That Was Different

Scene: A Minneapolis police court. James Montgomery, negro, is being arraigned. He's charged with theft. Archie Carey, well-known criminal lawyer, rushes in. Carey: Your honor, I've just been called to defend this man. I've had no chance to confer with him. I enter a plea of not guilty and request continuing. Prosecutor: For your benefit, Mr. Carey, the defendant is charged with stealing a diamond, belonging to one Archie Carey. Carey: Um-m-m! Guess I'd better withdraw from the case. By the way, Mr. Prosecutor, did you recover my car?

Distance Lends Enchantment

They are telling in Greenwich Village a story about Mrs. Henry Jones Whitney, whose exhibition of sculpture has had a wonderful success in Paris and London. Mrs. Whitney was sketching one day in the country when a young farmer came and stood staring over her shoulder while she worked. "Though this sort of thing always annoys her, she worked on in patient silence, until, the farmer, who had been looking at her for some time, broke in and said: 'Well, you know, the man began to criticize. 'It ain't bad,' he said, and then he screwed up his eyes and added: 'It seems to look better further off.' Mrs. Whitney laughed. 'Well,' she said, 'so would you.'"

Berton Braley's Novel

Probably there isn't a reader of The Sun who doesn't read and reread and clip out and treasure the poems of Berton Braley, which appear in this paper.

Not is this habit confined only to newspaper readers, for Braley is also about the most popular and successful poet in the magazine world. His poems are so much to hand, so simply musical that it is right to folks' hearts, and yet any critic will tell you that this simplicity is the result of fine technique and brilliant craftsmanship. And now Berton Braley has jumped into a new game—for him—and written a bulky, swift-moving action novel, "The Sheriff of Silver Bow." It doesn't solve any problems of the universe, it isn't philosophical or meditative, or dramatic, it's just a tale of sheer action—with a nice clean little young newspaper man as its hero, a heroine of winsome charm and a choice assortment of villains. It's the first western story ever written, that hasn't got a cowboy or a cattle rustler or an old-fashioned badman in it, for it's located in Butte, Montana—a mining town—and nearly all its action is in the vast subterranean galleries that lie under that great camp. Braley knows Butte, for he lived there four years, and he says that while none of the adventures of the sheriff of Silver Bow or of the young hero of the story ever happened in Butte, they could have happened—and might happen even now. In other words, the Sheriff of Silver Bow is a breathless, brilliant, rapid-fire narrative of treasuries, stratagems, spooks, fights, robberies and other excitements, with a pleasant love story to relieve the tension. It is published by the Bobbs-Merrill company. Though this is Berton Braley's first novel, it is by no means his first book. Five volumes of his verse have been published by the George H. Doran company of New York. The "Songs of the Work-a-day World," "A Banjo at Armageddon," "In Camp and Trench," "Things as They Are," "Buddy Ballads."

Dinnering on the Line

O, pink and gray.
And scarlet gay.
And snowy white a-shine,
And brown and blue,
And crimson, too.
They dined upon the line!
They danced upon the line!
And they set our hearts a-dancing,
These merry little garments there,
Of shapes and shades entrancing!

From roof so high
It darts the sky.
From backyard pent and bare,
From "puller" and other
From clothes reel fine.
They send the wind a dare!
They send the wind a dare!
These sunny little garments there,
That dance in merry measure!

The folk so small
Who wear them all
Are folk who skip and hop,
And so you see,
These garments were,
Just don't know how to stop,
They don't know how to stop,
And O, are they not beautiful—
These little garments dancing there,
To set a stern face smiling!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Doesn't it seem a little better now when you read the newspapers that contain exclusively so charitable institutions, to no longer see reference to "homes for incurables," "mad-houses," "poor farms" and other hard names for institutions that house the unfortunate? Instead of sentimentalizing about the word "hospital," which is preferable to "madhouse," "poor farm" or "industrial school," instead of reform school, "department of public welfare," in preference to state board of charity. Of course the harsher terms of prison and jail will continue to be used, but sometimes one does not have so much sympathy for those who are unlucky enough to become incarcerated in these resorts.

Alfred Durrill, who used to handle passengers on the Billerica street car line, but who now holds down a good position in Concord, N. H., far from the city rattle, snow blockades and timebaiting tells me that the so-called "boxing game" in New Hampshire is swinging along in great fashion. Although the young novices in the game are not giving very good performances, a lot of the young ring-scrappers are coming to bat with the same first titles, according to Alfred. For instance, at the series of bouts in Jacobus Wednesday night they use the army there for real ring battles, mind you—there were battles royal between such names as Young Dupee, Young Jazz, Young Cross, Young Jones, Young Connors, Young Decelles and Young Cowett. Alfred believes the boxing wires are crossed in New Hampshire and since he is working the repeat on ring names, he is heartily sick of that word "Young," and he has it right when he says it is being overworked.

The track cleaners and switch offers all over Lowell had their hands full Thursday morning. Some of the cars were on duty Wednesday night, too, I am told. Water seemed to be everywhere, and if there is anything a switchman hates it is to have his "irons" covered by two or three inches of dirty water. Up on Merrimack street near John, there is a small iron plate that the pavement between the rails that serves to see one track man exceedingly all day Thursday. It was a regular water hole in the morning, and this man had to use a pail and haul out under the plate for ten minutes every time he happened along. It was a case of bailing all day if one wanted to, but he kept the water out of the "neckle" "neckle" by hand work. I am told these little underground "boxes" are supposed to be water-tight, but few of them are.

The "neckle without the padding" is said to be the latest thing in men's wear. I wonder if this will prove to be only a mistake? I can't imagine a four-in-hand tie without the cotton wadding that was supposed to be tucked in nicely with plects, only to have the stitches come out about the third day after setting the tie around your collar and then cause trouble.

They are trying to make those candidates' campaign signs larger and larger every day. Autos of the run-about variety were first used, then came banners attached to the running boards and sides. Now big five-ton trucks are seen hurrying about the city with black and white banners waving and flapping, some of them torn from their corner moorings and hitting careless pedestrians in the eyes as the advertising vans slide by. One banner I saw Thursday afternoon on a large truck on Moody street out beyond the Textile school, bore letters boasting one Parker and another candidate. The letters measured exactly eighteen inches in height. This man cannot complain that he isn't getting his name before the public anyhow.

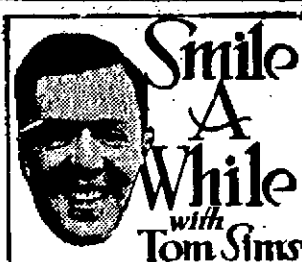

I met John S. Jackson, a Lowell railroad man, who has a Thorndike street, who has many friends on his card indexes, at the 25th anniversary celebration of industry council, Royal Arcanum, Wednesday evening, and received an agreeable surprise. I had no idea that Mr. Jackson, who is one of the busiest "rail clerks" on the old B. & M., had any time to follow a lodge room happens to be anniversary celebrations. He knows a lot of Arcanumites everywhere, and whenever he takes a trip through the eastern states—not forgetting old New England—he finds many friends who belong to the same order and who always make him feel right at home wherever he goes.

That entrancing story of our childhood days, "The Thanksgiving Turkey and How It Came" may be popular this season. I have heard a great deal of talk that turkeys, although cheaper than usual, are going to be so expensive this fall, that they will be out of the reach of the common people. Of recent years the stuffed pig, roast chicken and turkey have been good substitutes. The children of the exception of the stuffed pig, parents will not have much trouble in getting by with substitutes.

James A. Sullivan of Boston, a district deputy of the Knights of Columbus in Suffolk county and widely known in K. of C. circles throughout New England, was a visitor to Lowell Thursday. Mr. Sullivan, who is a lawyer, appeared as counsel in a case involving a Boston man in the local district court. The deputy was immediately recognized by local K. of C. members.

Political picture galleries seem to be all the rage these days. One can pass but few windows in the main thoroughfares that are not filled with photos of aspirants for office in the coming campaign. Long after the night is over some of these posters will be in evidence, as is always the case. It is a question whether these picture cards gain any votes as few citizens select public officials by their looks alone.

FARTHER LIGHTS HOLD MEETING

With the president, Miss Emma Brown, presiding, the monthly meeting of the Farther Lights was held at the home of Miss Ethel Gordon, 81 Loring street, Wednesday afternoon. A letter from Miss Lena Benjamin, M. D. of Nollene, Ind., to whom a medical shower was sent last Christmas, was read by the secretary, Mrs. Ruth Phinney. Mrs. Phinney also read a letter from Miss Ethel L. Ryan of the Sunlight mission among the Hopis Indians of Tora, Ariz., and a list of articles sent by the society to enable these Indians to have a happy Christmas. Thirty-six dollars was sent by the society to Miss Edith Hollis in India for the support of an orphan for one year. Miss Laura Gumb, the treasurer, reported that she had $110 on hand. Fifty-five dollars was voted to be sent to the foreign missions to continue the work of the society and $55 was also voted to be given for home missionary work in Arizona.

There appear as of yore with "changeable" or "know or know" frequently used. There are numerous pages of farming hints that make good reading. All in all, the 130th year of this old "Almanack" with its familiar yellow paper covers, is welcome to the fireside reading table.

The Man About Town hears that a well known brakeman in the Old Colony division passenger service, has been buying apples up in Maine and bringing them Lowell way for storage. With a Chelmsford friend, I learn, he made a trip to North Waterford, Me. recently, and between the two of 'em, they managed to buy about 300 barrels of fine Maine fruit that has been shipped to a storage in Chelmsford, where the lot will remain until late in the winter. By the time the fall crops are cleaned up and the marketable fruit disposed of to dealers or speculators, the apples thus purchased will be worth a lot more money. It is said, they expect to clean up a good piece of change on this Maine "buy." The price of fine hand-picked Maine apples is now $5 a barrel, I hear.

RELIEVING THE HOUSING SITUATION

URGES TREATY TO PREVENT WARS

Gary Would Negotiate in Conjunction With Move to Limit Navies

Belittles Suggestion That Arms Limitation Would Hit Steel Makers,

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Negotiation of a treaty to prevent future wars in conjunction with an agreement to limit navies, was urged today by Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the U. S. Steel corporation, in an address before the American Iron & Steel Institute, of which he is president.

He belittled the suggestion that arms limitation would reduce the manufacture of steel, saying that thought was unworthy of even passing notice. Business was improving, he said, but there must be further adjustments.

"With an agreement for the limitation of capital ships," he said, "it would not seem to be practical to stop with less than a final treaty which will prevent future wars. In addition to what is contemplated by the limitation of armament, there should, with other things, be an understanding that if any international differences arise, no resort to military force should be permitted until after there has been a conference and full discussion by all nations now participating in the deliberations at Washington.

He asserted that the international arrangement to be considered must cover every kind of armament heretofore or hereafter discovered.

Failure of the conference, he said, was unthinkable. An adverse outcome would be intolerable and those responsible for it would be repudiated and everlastingly condemned.

He briefly dismissed the suggestion that less steel would be manufactured as a result of armament limitation.

"In the first place," he said, "the amount of decrease if any, which is doubtful would be small and even though they might be large, no sane and right spirited person would consider pecuniary interest as of any importance when discussing national or international welfare.

Mr. Gary said it seemed to be generally conceded that business conditions throughout the country for the last six months had been steadily, if slowly, growing better. The volume of business in the steel industry had more than doubled in the last 90 days, he said, though profits had been little or nothing due to high costs and low prices. Of the country's business outlook, he declared: "The delay is complete restoration of a sound and satisfactory economic development and activity in this country is largely due to high costs—high costs of living, high costs of production and transportation and high costs of owning and earning money or its equivalent."

Manufacture of steel from iron ore by the "direct process" which would involve the use of atomized fuel or powdered coal, was described before the institute by A. E. Bourcoud, a New York engineer, who has been conducting exhaustive tests for some time.

It was pointed out by the speaker that the "direct process" would open up possibilities for the development of a steel industry in regions where blast furnace operations are almost impossible because of the cost of supplying coal to plants.

AN EXCELLENT ENTERTAINMENT

Oldest Fourth Degree Lowell Knight and Several Charter Members Present

The much heralded "stag party" of Bishop Delany Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, was held in K. of C. rooms last night and members' expectations of an evening of first-class entertainment were fully realized.

At 6:30 o'clock the first event on the evening's program, an old fashioned beefsteak pie supper, was announced and all present, to the number of 150 or more, showed their appreciation by doing ample justice to the spread. Thomas J. O'Donnell, past faithful navigator, proved a splendid toastmaster. During the supper Mr. O'Donnell led the assembly in singing "John Brown's Body," with the entire

gathering taking up the choruses. "A Long, Long Trail," "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," "My Wild Irish Rose" and other popular numbers were also sung with a gusto.

Rev. Francis Mullin, William Gallagher, P.N., and Andrew Molloy were among the principal speakers of the evening.

Sir Knight Andrew Molloy, P.N., the oldest living Fourth Degree knight in Lowell—although he allows he is still a young man—spoke appreciatively of the brilliant setting before him and said it was a proud night for him. He was thankful to the members for the honors bestowed on him and hoped everyone would join in the festivities. Several of the charter members of the council sat at the head table, among them Edward Cawley, Dr. Hugh Walker and Hugh C. McKelvey, and the gathering embraced many professional and business men prominent in the community. The exercises closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and cheers for the committee and for the officers. Great credit is due the committee for many novel features.

During the evening the following program of entertainment was carried out:

Song, Thomas J. Tobin; song, Commissioner James E. Donnelly; sketch, "Mental Telegraphy," Edward Slattery and Eugene Mullen; song and dance, John F. McArdle; song, John Keefe; piano selections, George Flynn, Martin Clough, Thomas Dowd and Thomas Burns; selections on the French horn, John Moran; recitations, William F. Thornton, John H. McNabb and Thomas J. Drans; songs, Daniel Powers, Patrick Nevins and Charles H. Burns.

The committee in charge of the "stag" and "get-together" was as follows: Sir Knights Thomas J. O'Donnell, John O'Connor, Thomas Delaney, Edward F. Saunders and Thomas J. Fitzgerald.

OFFICER DOESN'T WANT THE HORSE

Who owns the horse abandoned in a lot near 359 Riverside street last Sunday? That's what Officer Lemay of the local police would like to know. The officer found the animal last Sunday night and, unable to find its owner, took it to his barn near the above address. He has tried every means to find who owns the horse, but so far his efforts have proved unsuccessful. Now Officer Lemay says he is unwilling to house and support the horse any longer and would like to find its rightful owner.

FOCH'S TOUR TOO MUCH FOR WILDCAT

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The baby wildcat, presented to Marshal Foch during his western tour and dubbed by his New York keepers "The Little Marshal," because of his fire and his drooping military mustache, eventually is to become a naturalized Parisian, with a residence in the famous Jardin des Plantes.

The most fated cat in the world, as Curator Raymond L. Dilmars of the New York Zoological park describes him, has not been dropped by his hero master, as it was reported when Marshal Foch sent him to the zoo here on his return from the west. He is merely being kept in retirement for fear too much reflected glory would go to his head.

"The cheers, the bustle and the excitement that accompany Marshal Foch everywhere were spoiling the kitten's disposition, and the petting and indulgent feeding he was getting from admirers on the Marshal's special train were endangering his health," Curator Dilmars said. "So Marshal Foch asked us to take care of him until he sails for France in December."

"The Marshal is extremely interested in the little fellow, and desires to have him exhibited to the French people in the Jardin des Plantes. In the meantime he is being exhibited here and is attracting a great deal of attention."

"The Little Marshal" is a cub of the In a derby hat. When he grows up, he bob-cat species, about three months will be about half as large again as old, and small enough to go to sleep an ordinary house cat.

THE SLOUCHY MAN NEEDS A LIFT

Has Clogged Blood and Should Take Gude's Pepto-Mangan

The man who walks with a slouch usually has a heavy, dull expression on his face. The eyelids droop in a lazy, languid way and he goes around feeling dead tired most of the time. Had blood, all clogged up with poisons from the system, makes a man feel that way.

That man with bad blood has let himself get in a rundown condition. He has overdone somehow, either physically by straining, trying to do too much, or mentally, by worrying, doing without sufficient sleep. He needs new blood. Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken in regular doses every day is just the right blood builder. It drives off all the poisons. It makes blood, rich and red. When the blood gets back to normal, the color improves and the eyes brighten. It braces a man up.

Druggists sell it in liquid or convenient tablet form. The full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on each package.—A.V.

Build Firm Flesh, Strengthen the Nerves and Increase Energy

Easy and Economical—Results Quick

Of what use are fine features with an ugly, mottled skin, flabby flesh, sunken cheeks, pouches under the eyes, or a careworn, sickly looking face?

If you want to quickly clear your skin and complexion, put some firm, healthy flesh on your bones, increase your nerve force and power and look and feel 100 per cent. better, simply try taking two of Martin's tiny yeast VITAMON Tablets with each meal and watch the results. Martin's VITAMON Tablets contain highly concentrated yeast-vitamins, as well as the two other still more important vitamins (Fat Soluble A and Water Soluble C) and are now being used by thousands. They positively will not upset the stomach or cause gas; but, on the contrary, are a great aid to digestion, to overcome constipation and as a general conditioner of the whole system. Pimples, boils and skin eruptions seem to vanish like magic under their purifying influence. The complexion becomes fresh and clear, the cheeks glow with ruddy health, the flesh becomes firm instead of flabby, the eyes bright instead of dull. Martin's VITAMON Tablets are positively guaranteed to give you new health, energy and ambition and improve your appearance, whether you are young or old, or the trial costs you nothing. Make the test yourself and see. Be sure to remember the name—Martin's VITAMON—the original and genuine yeast-vitamin tablet. There is nothing else like it, and so do not accept imitations or substitutes. You can get Martin's VITAMON Tablets at all good druggists, such as: Dows Store, F. H. Butler & Co., P. N. Brunelle, Greens Drug Store.

Foch Again Guest of New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Marshal Foch was again the guest of New York today, and until Sunday night, when he will depart on a tour of the west and southwest, a vigorous program will keep him on the go almost incessantly. Three universities will confer on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, the first being New York university today; Columbia tomorrow, and Fordham on Sunday.

U. S. Ambassador Herrick Honored

NANCY, Nov. 18.—Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, received the honorary title of Doctor of Laws from the University of Nancy, yesterday. Former President Poincare and other notables attended the ceremony.

ating a better atmosphere for, continuance of the peace negotiations in some form, although the possibility of the resignation of Premier Lloyd George or, indeed, the entire coalition government, is not ignored. The morning newspapers, however, do not regard this contingency as either imminent or inevitable.
The Ulstermen, while decisively rejecting the government's proposals, indicated willingness to engage in formal conversations.
The Daily Chronicle which of all the London papers is probably the closest to the industry, says editorially that it is needless to be unduly alarmed at the Ulster reply.

PARISH REUNION
GREAT SUCCESS

Mock Trial Scores Big Hit as New Feature at St. Margaret's Reunion

Parish Talent Gives Excellent Performance—Associate Hall Crowded

The ninth annual reunion of St. Margaret's parish, held last evening in Associate hall, proved one of the most successful in the history of the progressive parish. The attendance was of record size and the entertainment program one of the best of the season. A mock trial, replaced the concert of other years, and the innovation made a decided hit. The comedy was directed by Miss Anna Leo Maguire, and she and each and every member of the cast, 22 in number, deserve great praise for the expert presentation of the piece. The characters performed with marked ability and the entire act proceeded with the facility of a professional performance.

After the entertainment which concluded with the jury ordering a verdict of reconciliation, "Mr. and Mrs. Peck" led an aviation march around the hall. This was followed by general dancing.

The cast of characters was as follows:
Hon. Josephine Sifter, judge of court.
Jennie T. Frawley
Miss Fannie Notes, clerk of court.
Mrs. Jane Horrow, counsel for plaintiff.
Elizabeth M. Harrigan
Mr. Hiram Stinger, counsel for defendant.
James Coughlin
Mrs. Henry Peck, plaintiff.
Kathryn H. Flahavan
Henry Peck, defendant.
William T. Carr
Mrs. Paul Pry, witness for plaintiff.
Helen Cox
Miss Howe Lovely, witness for plaintiff.
Mary Rankie
Paul Pry, witness for defendant.
Harry McDermott
Jacob Gobsby, witness for defendant.
Charles B. Kirby

The jury:
Mrs. Shuffie, of the Bridge club.
William M. Sullivan
Mrs. Diamond, of the 500 club.
Margaret Ryan
Miss Olgerson, a Swede.
Rose McCarthy
Mrs. Stumps, a politician.
Irene Le Clair
Miss Gummer of the moving pictures.
Louise F. Mahoney
Miss Parcells, of the department store.
Esther M. Cooney
Miss Kalsomine, colored.
Mary T. Dillon
Miss Reader, literary.
Helen F. Whelton
Mrs. Freelinghelson, German.
Evelyn M. Cox
Miss Sour, of a certain age.
Madeline Driscoll
Mrs. Delaney, one of the 409.
Irene O'Hair

Mrs. O'Bean, Irish.
Elizabeth H. Flahavan
Dr. Staugher was assisted by James F. Hennessey as assistant general manager. Mrs. Daniel J. Foye was chairman of the ice cream committee and Mrs. Dennis J. Cooney was chairman of the ladies' reception committee. George M. Harrigan was chairman of the gentlemen's reception committee. Daniel J. Shanahan was floor director, with Joseph J. Slattery as chief aid.

DYED HER BLOUSESKIRT AND A COAT

Every package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint her worn, shabby dresses, skirts, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, draperies, hangings, everything, even if she has never dyed before. Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is sure because Diamond Dyes are guaranteed not to spot, fade, streak, or run. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.—Adv.

IF BACKACHE OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat, Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.
Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

LEMON IN YOUR TEA?

A great many people prefer to drink tea with a slice of lemon in place of cream. Probably very few are aware of the origin of the custom.

In the fourth or fifth centuries, tea was a favorite beverage in China. The leaves were steamed, crushed in a mortar, made into a cake, and boiled together with rice, ginger, salt, orange peel, spices, milk and sometimes with lemon!

Whether you prefer your tea with or without either lemon or cream, you want the best tea obtainable. Say "LIPTON'S Yellow Label" to your grocer—and you'll get it.

LIPTON'S Yellow Label is not alone Lipton's Best, it is the finest tea the world produces—and costs no more than ordinary grades.

Ask your grocer for Lipton's Yellow Label Tea. If he does not sell it, send us his name and address and we will mail you a FREE sample and give you the name of a grocer who can supply you. Thomas J. Lipton, Inc., Hoboken, N. J.

Unemployed Caused Bombay Disturbance

BOMBAY, Nov. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The disturbance in the native quarter of the city, which broke out yesterday while a procession was escorting the Prince of Wales through the European section was caused by a mob of unemployed mill hands who wrecked and burned a number of tramcars at several points, it was learned today. The mob hurled stones and other missiles at European passersby. After several police had been killed and wounded in the scuffles which ensued the police fired upon the mob, inflicting a number of casualties. The tramway service was suspended, and the mob was still carrying on sporadic demonstrations today.

OF A GOOD HAT*DEPENDS ON WHERE YOU GO TO BUY IT

Some stores pay more for their merchandise than others pay for the same kinds. Some are burdened with larger overhead expenses. Some want big profits, while others are satisfied with small ones. All these things are kept down to a minimum at the Broadway.

The Broadway Wholesale Millinery Co. Stores are the leading and largest millinery organization in New England devoted exclusively to millinery selling, enabling us to buy for less money than others and sell for less as well.

Our percentage of overhead expense is the smallest known—and our margin of profit the narrowest ever in the millinery business. That's how you buy your hat here at nearer the actual manufacturing cost than any other store can offer.

You doubtless see plenty of prices lower than ours, but not on the same grade of hats.

We have combated the high price of millinery with every weapon at our command, but we will not lower our standard of quality. So if you want a hat of known high quality, millinery distinctive and correct, good in quality, good in style, good in value, good all through, here's where YOU CAN get it at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE.

For some reason the national board of review has omitted "Little Lord Fauntleroy" from Mary's list. That was of especial interest to children. On Mary's list are "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "Daddy Long Legs" and "Dollyanna."

Wm. D. Taylor and Maurice Tourneur, directors, are each represented by three pictures. Taylor's are "Tom Sawyer," "Huckleberry Finn" and "Ann of Green Gables." Tourneur's are "The Blue Bird," "The Last of the Mohicans" and "Treasure Island."

Shakespeare and Mark Twain head the lists of authors with five stories each.

The merit of the plays on the list of the board of review cannot be questioned. However, it would have been interesting to have sent a list prepared by children for their own entertainment. Charlie Chaplin, Doug Fairbanks, Tom Mix and Bill Hart probably would have been well represented.

scenes were being shot for "Penrod." The cameraman continued to grind, but the young Irish star would have resigned if that portion of the film were to be shown.

Another instance, "Sunshine Sammie," Hal Roach's youthful negro comedian, was supposed to hit another youngster with a "prop" flower pot. He hit him with a sure-enough flower pot. The result was more tragic than comic.

Pen and Ink Comics
Probably more novelties are evolved

In the pen and ink comics of the screen than any other branch of the movies. The latest is in a new series of "Travelogues" drawn by Ily Mayer on a recent trip abroad. Mayer's characters are so drawn that they synchronize with photographed characters which follow on the screen. These photographed characters are in motion pictures Mayer made of picturesque sections of Europe.

JAPAN WILL PRESENT VIEWS

Arms Session Adjourned to Permit Japanese to Prepare Statement

To Submit Country's Views on China's Proposal for Far East Settlement

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—Committee sessions of the conference delegates stood at adjournment today to give opportunity for preparation by Japan's delegation of a general presentation of that country's views on China's proposal of principles for settlement of far eastern questions at a committee meeting of all the delegations tomorrow.

Following decision of all the delegation heads meeting as a committee on procedure yesterday that a general exchange of views on China's program be had before consideration of specific points as they fall under the divisions of the original agenda. The Japanese delegation asked for the lapse of a day before holding a meeting of the delegations for that purpose.

Baron Kato has announced Japan's acceptance of China's proposals as the "basis of discussions" in committee, saying he had no objection to their acceptance in principle for that purpose.

Meanwhile committees of the British delegations took up their work today for formulating in detail their position on both the American armament proposal and the Chinese far eastern program. Although preparation of the British viewpoint on the armament question, it is stated, will require two or three days, yet for completion, the committee of naval officers of the five powers is carrying forward its consideration of the American proposal and is reported already to have made some progress.

It is regarded as certain, however, that no early report from this body can be looked for in view of the task it faces in accommodating the strong British desire for a cut in the maximum submarine tonnage proposed and the equally firm American view that this maximum should be retained.

While this at present is the outstanding point of disagreement on the armament question, the committee also must take up modifications to be proposed by Japan permitting her to maintain a "general tonnage slightly greater" than the proposed 60 percent ratio. Announcement that Japan would ask this was made by Baron Kato late yesterday in a statement in which he said his country also would seek the right to maintain in "a type of vessels of strictly defensive character" a tonnage approximating that of the other two powers.

China Seeks Tariff Autonomy
PEKIN, Nov. 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—China's desire to manage her own affairs without interference from other countries, was voiced in interviews granted today to Lord Northcliffe, British publicist, by President Lsu Shih-Chang and Premier Chiu Yun-Peng. Both emphasized their nation's need of money and both likewise asserted that China was solvent and able to win her way through the tariff question.

Premier Chiu declared that China was looking for the Washington conference to give her tariff autonomy.

The president, who received Lord Northcliffe at his palace, said: "China's present troubles should be regarded by foreigners not only as peculiar to China, but as the natural step in the evolution of the government established when the monarchy was overthrown after having been endured for centuries."

The president said China was in financial difficulties due to the fact that foreign buyers since the war had not made purchases in China, and that since that time, foreign capital had not been invested in China.

"Some foreign newspapers," he continued, "have pointed out that the differences between the north and south are not different between the people of those sections, but between persons desiring to serve their own ends and this view is correct. The people of China are sound. Only five provinces are aligned against the north, and they are torn by sharp dissensions. The central government is ready for peace, has striven for it, and will take any opportunity to secure it."

Following his audience with the president, Lord Northcliffe interviewed the premier, who said: China is to get tariff autonomy. At present we cannot increase the tariff rates without consulting the 13 treaty powers. We cannot freely change our tariff as every other nation in the world does. Nominally our tariff is 5 per cent. but actually we get but 3.7 per cent. Give us the right to fix our tariff like other nations and we will be able to help ourselves more.

"If we are left alone it will be better for all concerned. We need money to disband our troops, whose pay is many months in arrears. China is absolutely solvent, despite the present confusion of finance."

GREAT TRAGEDY AVERTED

Rain Puts Out Fuse of Bomb Placed Before Lawrence Armory

LAWRENCE, Nov. 18.—More than 1000 persons escaped death or serious injury last night and the state armory on Amesbury street was saved from being wrecked by the almost miraculous act of the rain extinguishing the fuse of a bomb, charged with peroxide acids, which had been placed on the steps and lighted while a mass meeting of all the Masonic lodges in the city was being held there.

Police and fire department officials last night expressed astonished indignation at the act of apparently purposeless vandalism on the part of the person who planted the bomb.

While the meeting was at its height, at about 10:15, one of those who was in attendance at the meeting left the hall and was proceeding down the steps of the big building, when he accidentally kicked a metal object on the top step. He stooped over and to his great surprise discovered a bomb with an extinguished fuse lying on the step.

He picked it up and took it to the street, where he met Patrolman Timothy Sullivan, whom he told of his find and to whom he gave the bomb. The policeman, handling the thing gingerly, took it to police headquarters. There it was cursorily examined by Inspector Fred Lapham, who summoned Fire Chief Morris for advice as to what to do with it.

Chief Morris said that the bomb resembled a hand grenade and was charged with enough peroxide acid to cause widespread havoc. If the rain hadn't extinguished the fuse, a terrible tragedy would have ensued. The bomb was about four inches long, three inches in diameter on one end and about two inches in the other.

As the word of their narrow escape passed through the persons who were meeting in the armory, great indignation was expressed and statements of what might happen to the miscreant who planted the bomb if he were found were none too gentle. The bomb will be turned over to State Chemist Wedger today for analysis. In the meantime the armory will be heavily guarded by the police to prevent a possible recurrence of the happening.

Inspects Contents of Bomb

LAWRENCE, Nov. 18.—The contents of the "bomb" which was found last night on the steps leading to the state armory, will be determined today by State Chemist Walter E. Wedger. Fire Chief Morris left here at 9:30 this morning to take it to the state house.

The police have no clue as to who may have placed it on the armory steps.

COACH MAKES FEW CHANGES IN LINEUP

Coach Hugo Bezdek of Penn State is strong for using his original lineup. Bezdek works on the theory that it is not necessary to be continually making changes for the slightest reason.

In the game with Georgia Tech at the Polo grounds in New York, nine of the eleven players who started in the Penn lineup finished. In the final period of the game with Georgia, Bezdek removed Fullback Knable to make room for Captain Seall, who had been out of the lineup for some time. McCollum was the only player actually forced to retire because of injury.

In the games with Georgia Tech, North Carolina, Harvard and Lehigh, Bezdek made only seven substitutions. This in four games, the Penn State coach has made less substitutions than most coaches make in a single game.

Last Soldier to Die in War

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17.—This city is putting forward a claim that the last soldier to die in action before the armistice became effective, was a New Haven man, Thomas J. Walpole, Jr., killed on the morning of Armistice day, in an outpost engagement. He was a member of the Ninth regiment of regulars. The French government is to erect a monument to the last man killed. The American Legion is canvassing the country to see if there is a contesting claim.

FRANCE'S ATTITUDE ON BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT TO NAME U. S. ENVOYS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(By the Associated Press)—The French attitude in a general way toward the Far Eastern proposals of China was set forth after two hours of conference Premier Briand and other members of the delegation today as follows:

First—France desires earnestly to aid China in realizing her aspirations, territorial, political and commercial.

Second—France would give up Kouang Tchou, which she leased from China in 1895, provided Great Britain gave up Wei Hoi Wei and provided Japan gave up Shantung, leased by the Germans at the same time, and the Port Arthur peninsula.

Third—France would not be unwilling to surrender her extra territorial privileges if other powers were willing to do the same. France gave up these privileges in Japan in 1906 and was in negotiation with Turkey to give them up there in 1914, when the war broke out. However, the French feel that extra territoriality should be maintained until it is clear that the Chinese republic can give adequate security and justice to foreigners.

Fourth—The French colony of Indo-China did not belong to China but to Annam. Consequently, Indo-China, the great French colony with 25,000,000 inhabitants, does not come in the question according to the French point of view. It, however, some question should be raised as to the rectification of the 900-mile Chinese frontier, the French government would be willing to discuss the boundary.

Fifth—France approaches the discussions of Far Eastern questions in sympathy with Japan's need for expansion and for raw material. The French delegation desires under all circumstances to take a conciliatory and pacific role.

Sixth—France is for open dealings of the powers with China and against any secret negotiations.

The subject of spheres of influence beyond Indo-China does not seem to be a serious one because the policy of spheres of influence was replaced more than 10 years ago by the policy of the consortium of powers. Nevertheless France, having due regard to her private interests in Yunnan and agreement with Great Britain and Rouman, did, made early in the first decade of this century, would give up

WIRE DESPATCHES

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—Clyde Colt of New York, was arrested here today on a charge of fraudulent use of the mails in connection with the promotion of the North Shore Fisheries corporation of Boothbay, Me. He waived examination and was held for the federal grand jury in 1920 bonds.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Savings in next year's naval appropriation bill, should the American naval reduction proposals be adopted were estimated roughly today by congressional leaders and committee experts at from $200,000,000 to $250,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Declaring that the senate's decision in Henry Ford's contest for the Michigan senatorial seat of Truman H. Newberry, "vitaly affected the dignity and honor of the other 35 senators," Senator Pomerene of Ohio, today opened the second day of senate consideration of the question.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Varying views as to the actual degree of armament limitation that would be brought about by Secretary of State Hughes' program for a naval holiday and the scrapping of battleships were developed by naval experts at the opening session of the convention of the society of naval architects and engineers here today.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A new world's record for long distance radio communication was made on Nov. 5, according to the Radio Corporation of America, which announced today that President Harding's message addressed to the nations of the world was picked up in New Zealand, 10,000 miles away. The message was sent from the new radio central at Rocky Point, L. I.

MAY SEND TEAM TO ENGLAND

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—The University of Pennsylvania athletic authorities made known today that a definite invitation had been received from England to send a relay team to London next spring for the first English intercollegiate and interscholastic relay meet patterned after the Pennsylvania relay carnival. The tentative date of the meet is April 8.

this rather intangible privilege provided Great Britain did the same.

Daring Kidnapping and Robbery

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—John Hebel, a bank messenger for the great Northern Trust Co., was kidnapped today by five men near the postoffice, in the heart of the Loop and taken to Lincoln Park, where a sack of mail addressed to the trust company was taken from him. Bank officials were unable to state the amount of the loot. The robbers threw a blanket over the head of the bank messenger, taking advantage of a heavy fog that hung over the city.

Lloyd George Rushes Back to London

BOURNEMOUTH, England, Nov. 17.—Prime Minister Lloyd George, who came to this resort for a brief rest, decided to return to London immediately after receiving by telephone today, the reply of the Ulster representatives to the government's latest communication on the Irish negotiations.

Plans for Complete Resumption of Diplomatic Relations With Germany

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Preparations for a complete resumption of diplomatic relations with Germany are being made by the state department. Announcement was made today at the department that a complete list of consuls for the important centers where American envoys were stationed before the war was being prepared and appointments would be made soon. It also was said a full staff for the embassy at Berlin is being prepared.

In explaining the nomination of Ellis Loring Dresel to be charge d'affaires, it was said that that action was to regularize Mr. Dresel's taking over of America's interests at Berlin. Mr. Dresel has had no diplomatic status.

It was announced today at the state department that the United States had officially thanked Spain for the excellent manner in which America's interests in Germany were conducted during the war period.

SCHOOLS TO STUDY ARMS CONFERENCE

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—Governor Cox's recommendation that the deliberations of the armament conference be made the subject of study in the public schools, was followed today by an order from Payson Smith, state commissioner of education to have discussion and study made of the conference in high schools and upper elementary grades. Preservation of current reports of the conference for the school libraries, also was suggested.

COURT ADJOURNS FINE CONCERT PROGRAM

Entertainment by Nathan Hale Council in St. Patrick's School Hall

An innovation in the form of an excellent concert program was introduced by Nathan Hale council, A.A.
R.I.R., at the close of a brief business meeting in St. Patrick's school hall last night. Considering the fact that this program was arranged in a very short time and this is the council's first attempt in this line the results obtained were truly remarkable and all present enjoyed themselves thoroughly. The hope was expressed that future meetings of the organization would present similar attractions.

The entertainment opened with a piano selection by Thomas M. Mc-Guire, which was warmly applauded.
Miss Bessie O'Brien followed, singing "That Tumble Down Black in Athlone" in a very acceptable manner.
A song and dance specialty by William Hinckley and Alexander Drouin was next in order. Mr. Hinckley proved to be a pleasing singer, and Mr. Drou-in gave an exhibition of dance steps of many varieties, including clog, fancy step, eccentric and acrobatic dancing. This team seems good enough for the professional ranks. Messrs.
O'Garra and Callahan, with the Irish pipes and violin accompaniment, played a selection of Irish jigs and reels which was greatly appreciated. A reading entitled "Priests of Ireland" by Miss Grace Hannahan was delivered with a spirit in keeping with the sentiment of the poem. James Daley, a well known entertainer, sang and played the Scotch pipes.

The feature of the entertainment was the singing and dancing of Mrs.
Conway's pupils. Little May Conway, "the child wonder," sang several numbers inimitable fashion and danced an Irish jig. Margaret Murphy and Josephine Coyle danced an Irish jig in a finished style that won the audience's admiration. Mary Hannagan also was featured in an Irish jig and demonstrated ability of a high order. Three of the pupils danced the Highland fling, accompanied on the Scotch pipes by James Daley. Mrs.
Conway proved her versatility as an entertainer by singing several songs in a pleasing voice and dancing a buck and wing with easy grace and skill.
The specialty ended with an Irish reel by four of the pupils with Mr. Daley accompanying on the pipes. Miss Frances Whalen furnished piano accompaniment for the specialty.

The entertainment closed with another song by Miss Bessie O'Brien.
The pianist of the evening was Mr.
Thomas M. McGuire. At the close of the entertainment those who participated were given a rising vote of thanks.

At a short business meeting preceding the concert President Peter J.

McKenna was in the chair. A committee was named to represent the council at the reception to Harry Boland, official envoy of the Irish republic, in Boston Sunday. Delegates were elected to the meeting of the 5th district council, A.A.R.I.R., in Hibernian hall on Sunday, Nov. 27, at 2:30 p. m.
An auditing committee was also appointed. Remarks on the good and welfare of the council were made by the president and other members.

DEATHS

O'HERLIHY—Mrs. Frances M. O'Herlihy, widow of Cornelius O'Herlihy of Lawrence, died yesterday at St. John's hospital. She was one of the oldest residents of Lawrence, having lived there for the past 72 years, and until her death was the oldest living former school teacher in that city. She was the daughter of Daniel and Mary (Quirk) McCarthy of Lawrence. She was a member of St. Mary's church for more than 50 years and was one of the early members of the parish, but of more recent years was an attendant of St. Lawrence's church. She was a member of the Holy Family sodality of St. Mary's church. She leaves two sons, William C. of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Joseph of Malden; one daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Mollay of Lowell; four grandchildren and four great grandchildren, and one brother, Michael Mc-Carthy of Lawrence. She was 84 years old.

DUBOIS—Henri Dubois, aged 53 years, a resident of this city for the past 42 years, died this morning at his home, 8 Waterford street. He leaves his wife, Emma; two daughters, Misses Marie B. and Anna M.
Dubois; five sons, Joseph H., Wilfrid J., Arthur B. and Philippe, all of this city, and Ernest C. of Woonsocket, R.
I.; two brothers, Auguste J. Dubois of Montreal and Louis M. Dubois of this city; a sister, Mrs. Alphonsine Downing of Haverhill, and several grandchildren. He was a member of l'Union Garin Nationale Independante.

LEAVER—Mr. Thomas Leaver, a well known resident of this city for many years, passed away Thursday evening at his home, 8 West street.
He leaves his wife, Mary A. Leaver; three sons, Harry of New York, Joseph Newburyport and Arthur Leaver of Pittsfield, Mass.; two brothers, Harry and Joseph Leaver, in England; and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Southworth and Mrs. Margaret Kendall, also in England. Mr. Leaver was an attendant of St. Anne's church.

WIERMAN—The many friends of Ira E. and Mazie E. Wierman will be grieved to hear of the death of their only son, Kenneth E. Wierman, which occurred at the home of his parents, 32 Hibernia street, this morning, at the age of 9 years, 5 months and 8 days. The cause of death was diphtheria.

FUNERALS

AGUIRA—The funeral of John R.
Aguirre took place yesterday afternoon from his home, 164 Middlesex street.
Services were held at St. Anthony's church, the prayers being read by Rev.
John S. Perry. The bearers were Joseph Perry, Antonio Ferreira, Joseph Ferreira and Frank Gonzalez. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery.
The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

LAFORETTE—The funeral of Mrs.
Eugene Laforet took place this morning from her home, 156 Crawford street. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock by Rev. L. A. Nolan, O.M.I., assisted by Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O.M.I., as deacon and Rev. J. L. Brassard, O.M.I., as sub-deacon. The choir under the direction of Telephore Malo rendered the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Mr. Malo.
Burial will be held at his home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends are respectfully invited. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker William J. Saunders in charge.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Four Arraigned and Pined for Illegally Selling Cold Storage Eggs

In the district court today, before Judge Knight, four men were arraigned for illegally selling cold storage eggs. They were Angelo Tounig-nant, Harry J. Lappin, Alexander Beaudry and Hopolata Ruslewich, all of this city. Tounignant was fined $15, the police stating it was his second offense, while the other three drew fines of $10. Officer Arnold C. Per-ham, attached to the state department of pure food, was the complainant.

William Languette was sent to the house of correction for three months on a non-support charge. A complaint of drunkenness was filed.
On condition that Patrick J. Cronin show the probation officer to send part of $200 he told the court he had in his possession to the defendant's wife and four children, the court imposed a three months' suspended sentence to the house of correction. The judge told the accused, in view of the approaching holiday season, he should send some money to his family. "If you let the probation officer do that, I'll give you a suspended sentence;
otherwise I might send you away," the court told him. Cronin agreed to let the probation officer handle his finances.

George Elias, convicted some time ago for violating the liquor laws, paid a $100 fine today.

Erastus Yoram pleaded guilty to making an illegal liquor sale. The court ordered the clerk to add him guilty but to continue the case to Dec.
17 for sentence.

Ing borne from the church the choir sang "The Profound." Miss Lena B.
Camire presided at the organ. The bearers were Wilfrid Itebert, Healt
St. George, Paul Tapierre, Cyrille Chailfoux, Frank Lambert, Frank Lafayette. There were numerous floral and spiritual offerings. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemtery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. J. J. Carlier, O.M.I.
Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

SHACKA—The funeral of Mathew Shacka took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his home, 84
Elm street. The bearers were John B. Joseph, Joseph J. Lihuan, Society, John Samoukas, Anthony Udman, Peter Krawczunas, Joseph Saminas, Peter Matkiewicz and Martin Zukowskas. Burial took place in the family lot in Westlawn cemetery.
The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph Sadowski.

DISCUSSING THE FESTIVE BIRD

Dealers declare Turkeys Are Not Being Held in Cold Storage

Birds, They Say, Are Always Scarce at This Time of the Year

Although Lowell families are assured of plenty of turkey for their Thanksgiving dinners, if they prefer to have "turk," it was learned today, that Lowell and Boston marketmen do not agree with Secretary of Labor Davis when he asserts that turkeys and eggs are being held in cold storage to boost prices and that "a systematic attempt is being made to raise the prices of these commodities in spite of the reduction in other lines of commodities.

Local marketmen who handle thousands of pounds of turkeys every year during the holidays, told The Sun that very few turkeys are in the big storage and that they never arrived in quantities until after Thanksgiving.

Farmers in country districts who raise a good many birds, back up the marketmen's statements.

Here is the situation in a nutshell as explained to The Sun by a Lowell marketman who knows the facts:
"Turkeys do not fatten until the cold weather, and consequently are not ready for the axe until well along in December. I am speaking about the great majority of the birds that are needed for the dinner tables at the close of the year. Of course there are earlier supplies, but not in quantities enough to go around even at Thanksgiving time. Any statement that the cold storage people have millions of pounds of turkeys in the freezers, is absolutely untrue. If it were so, we would be getting all the birds we wanted and could sell them for lower prices than is the rule now. But the stocks are always low at this time, for the killing season is not on yet. And don't let anyone tell you that the storage houses have many in stock. I can take you to plants right here in Massachusetts that have a turkey in the boxes, and none anywhere else to speak of so far as quantity is concerned."

Some dealers thought Christmas prices for good turkeys would range from 60 to 75 cents a pound this year.

VOTE FOR John J. Hogan

COUNCILOR-AT-LARGE

Born in Lowell, educated in public schools, graduate of Lowell High School.

Proprietor of Lowell's largest Battery Service Station.

Son of the late Police Officer David H. Hogan.

Signed JOHN J. HOGAN,
Adv. 397 Walker St.

WALTER E. GUYETTE, Auctioneer

Office 53 Central St., Lowell, Mass., Tel. 2415.

THE COTTAGE AND PROPERTY AND ABOUT 10,375 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NO. 607 PRINCETON STREET, CORNER OF CORNELL STREET, IS HEREBY PLEDGED TO THE HIGHEST BONA FIDE BIDDERS AT UNRESTRICTED PUBLIC SALE BY

NEXT SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1921, AT 3 O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON

The house is of the cottage type, has seven good rooms and bathroom, gas plumbing, hot and cold water, steam heat, cemented cellar, electric lights, front and side piazzas, and is in excellent condition inside and out.

On the first floor are reception hall, parlor, dining room, living room, kitchen, pantry and bathroom. On the second floor are three attractive, bright and airy chambers. The house is supplied with city water, gas and electricity, and has sewer connections. There are French doors between the parlor and dining-room, and the general design of the house is exceedingly pleasing. The cellar is light, is high-posted and has cement floor.

The lot has a total area of 10,375 square feet, and a frontage on Princeton street of 100 feet and a frontage on Cornell street of 105 feet, making a combined frontage on the two streets of 205 feet, and the fact of its location in a desirable neighborhood affords it much added value. The lot is well laid out to lawns, has granolithic walks, has grapevines with trellis and a variety of fruit trees.

The location is in the very centre of a rapidly developing home locality, is directly on the State Boulevard, and within three minutes' actual and comfortable walking distance of the Middlesex street and North Chelmsford line of electric, and also within easy walking distance of the new Round House of the Boston & Maine Railroad, and the Gillespie Manufacturing Plant, and numerous other industries.

The sale will take place upon the premises on the above mentioned date and hour regardless of any condition of the weather, and the fact that the property is hereby ordered sold at open and public competition to whomsoever will bid the most, affords the many many home seekers a splendid opportunity to secure a most attractive and excellent conditioned cottage home, of the full size cottage type, with an extra large lot area, in a splendid neighborhood, where about everyone owns his own home, and where property is rarely if ever offered for sale.

TERMS—$200 must be paid to the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms made known at sale.

OFFICE LOWELL, MASSACHUSETTS

WITHIN THE REACH OF MANY

Set forth in catalogue form by detailed statement in word and by civil engineer's plan and by half-tone pictures a very desirable and very well established and very complete box shop plant in full and successful operation upon its own reliable water power privilege with profitable orders in hand and located in Wilton, in the state of New Hampshire. The plant is possessed of its own spur track on an important line of the Boston & Maine railroad connecting Boston and Montreal with the intervening country. Its organization is complete; every employee at the plant, with a single exception, has been there three years; the plant is possessed of its own motor truck, or its own horse-drawn trucks, and with all the first-class labor at hand its requirements demand. The sale is caused by the death in July last of Mr. Fifield who operated the plant until the day of his death—and since then operated under instruction in his will by the executor thereof. The E. O. Fifield Box Shop, as set forth in the catalogue, is to be sold as a going concern upon its own premises in one lot in single unit without restriction and free from encumbrance, to the highest bona fide bidder who complies with the Terms and Conditions of Sale, on Tuesday, the 22nd day of November, 1921, commencing very promptly at one o'clock in the early afternoon—the one hundred and twenty-five thousand feet of lumber, however, must be sold as Lot Two. The catalogue is free to all who apply by mail or otherwise at the office of the Auctioneers, where all inquiries must be made. This sale certainly offers an uncommon opportunity.

F. W. SAWYER, Executor.

TODAY

They are not with me—I am not with them. My candidacy caused consternation in City Hall. New Blood in the Mayor's chair means new heads in the various departments. Subordinates and employees under the new character are protected by civil service and cannot be removed except for cause. Any candidate who tells you otherwise is UNTRUTHFUL.

—Where all cars except in Fire and Police Department shall check in not later than 5 P. M. each day—Where no cars shall be allowed out on Sunday. Every machine to be painted the same color, and each conspicuously lettered.

—Any employee or head of a department violating this rule to be suspended—WHY NOT?

The most aggravating spectacle in Lowell today is the abuse of City owned automobiles. I'LL STOP IT.

Lowell receives yearly great sums of money from the state on account of a tax levied on the income derived from Stocks, Bonds, Securities and Salaries of her citizens. The yearly estimate made by the tax commissioner is classed as a revenue and deducted from the amount raised by direct taxation of the physical property of our citizens. The surplus over this estimate is later distributed to Lowell. In 1920 this surplus amount exceeded $50,000. It goes into the general treasury and no account is ever made of it.

I stand pledged to apply this money for sidewalk betterments, whereby the owner of any property may have a sidewalk betterment by the payment of one-half the expense, the city to pay one-half from out this fund.
